Marin Moves To Collect Back Taxes

Will Go To Court Over Personal Property Levy

Marin County will go to court to collect all delinquent unsecured personal property taxes, some $26,000 worth, in a move believed to be unprecedented in county history.

In past years, the collection of unsecured personal property was in the hands of Assessor George W. Hall. But last March, the job was turned over to Tax Collector M. F. Donohue.

Donohue learned that delinquencies for 1958-59 amounted to about $26,000. "Under the law, the tax collector is required to file suit if necessary to collect the taxes after all other measures to collect have been exhausted," said Donohue.

Naming names and the amounts delinquent, Donohue went before the county board of supervisors today and won the right to go into court to get the taxes paid. "I intend to file suits in small claims court," he announced.

Donohue's delinquency list shows about 120 different properties in the names of companies or individuals. The largest single delinquency listed is for Associated Dredging of Sausalito, which owes $5,977.17 in personal property taxes for the 1958-59 fiscal year. An 8 per cent penalty is added to the amount.

OTHER BIG ONES

The other big tax delinquencies include:

Joe Mack, c/o Joes' Village Patio, $470.47; Sausalito Shipbuilding Corp., $675.35; Elmer and Louis Southwith, who had a lumber mill in Lagunitas, $640.12.

Others on the delinquency list include bars, real estate offices, industrial firms, television shops, furniture and clothing shops, cleaners, drive-in restaurants, construction firms, service stations, and many others. Attorneys are among individuals listed.

GAVE AMPLE TIME

Donohue said he notified each of the delinquents and gave ample time to pay before making the list public.

For the small individual property owners, personal property taxes would come to as little as $3 to $5. One boat owner has a bill for $3.67. Another paid his taxes but not the penalty, which amounts to $5.20.

"Some people don't have the money to pay, but many of them just ignore the payments," Donohue declared. "I don't relish this job but it's something that has to be done.

3 Survive Tests For Sausalito Police Chief

Three of the 38 candidates for Sausalito police chief survived the second round of examinations yesterday and will be certified as eligible for appointment, City Manager Donald A. Duerr announced today.

Of the 38 who indicated they were interested in becoming Sausalito's new police chief, 27 were found to be eligible to take the examination and 22 showed up for the written portion of the exam last week. Duerr refused to disclose how many were eliminated in the written test.

IDENTITIES SECRET

The three who emerged as eligible for consideration for the job vacated by Louis P. Mountanos, are "from a 100-mile radius of Sausalito," Duerr said. Their identities were not disclosed.

The board conducting the oral examination yesterday was composed of Police Chief M. C. McDonnell of San Mateo, Police Chief R. J. McIntyre of Salinas and Herbert Homan, personnel director for the City of Hayward.

Duerr said selection of the new chief would probably be made shortly after next Tuesday's council meeting.

USUAL PROCEDURE

"Under the terms of the council-manager ordinance," Duerr said, "the city manager would normally make the appointment. But since this is the first such appointment under the current system, I have elected to consult with the council before making it."

Duerr had announced previously that the three candidates making the highest combined scores in the written and oral tests would be eligible for selection. It was coincidence, he said, that only three passed both tests.

Duerr announced that 17 candidates have applied for the position of police officer to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Peter Hughart, who is joining the San Mateo Police Department.

Duerr said an oral examination will be conducted Friday with appointment expected Monday.

Battle Lines Being Drawn In Postal Address Dispute

The battle of the Belveron Gardens postmark was shaping up today.

Yesterday, Phil Brooks, San Francisco radio announcer and Belveron Gardens resident, declared "many residents are up in arms" over the Post Office Department's decision to change Belveron Gardens from a Mill Valley postal address to Belvedere-Tiburon. He said, "We are going to reactivate the Belveron Gardens Property Owners Assn. to fight this ridiculous thing."

If this is done, it appeared today, it won't be with unanimous backing of residents.

Mrs. Edward J. Graham of 18 Venus court, saying (like Brooks) that her opinion is widely shared, today called the postal change "the logical and sensible thing to do."

Said Mrs. Graham, "All the long-time residents here have wanted the change for a long time." (Brooks has been a Belveron Gardens resident only since last June.)

As to reactivating the property owners association, Mrs. Graham declared.

"I don't think anyone has the right to say ahead of time what the property owners group plans to do. As a matter of fact, plans were already in the making for reactivating for the purpose of beautifying the entrances to our section."

Brooks professed to see a plot to increase property values—and taxes—in substitution of Belvedere-Tiburon for Mill Valley addresses. Mrs. Graham called that "ridiculous."

Marin Bank Robber Receives 20 Years

Robert Francis Gladu, 51, Marin County Hospital and Farm janitor who robbed two banks to get a "nice" Christmas present for a woman friend, was sentenced today to serve 20 years in federal prison.

Sentence was pronounced by Judge Sherrill Halbert in U.S. District Court in Sacramento. Gladu pleaded guilty to robberies of the Fairfax branch of the Bank of America last Aug. 6 and the Calistoga branch of the same bank on Dec. 8, for a total of $1,660. He was sentenced to consecutive terms of 12 and eight years in prison for the two offenses.

Gladu said he pulled both robberies by simulating a gun although he was not actually armed.

The janitor, who lived at the county farm, escaped after the Fairfax robbery, in which he got $910. He held a windbreaker draped over his arm as he handed Mrs. Josephine Segale of San Anselmo, a teller, a yellow savings withdrawal slip on which he had written a demand to put $700 in $20 bills, $400 and 10s and a further amount in 5s in a small canvas zipper bag which he shoved at her.

He drove away while Police Chief Andrew J. Peri was within a block of the bank, unaware a holdup was taking place.

In Calistoga, however, an intrepid bank manager ran

Steps Taken For New Lucas Valley Facilities

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today ordered preparation of plans and specifications for additional juvenile hall, custodial home and nursing home facilities proposed for construction in Lucas Valley under a lease-purchase program.

A $1,900,000 bond issue for construction of the same facilities was defeated by Marin voters at the Nov. 4 general election.

The method now proposed for accomplishing the building program involves lease of county property in Lucas Valley to a non-profit or profit corporation in return for construction of buildings on the land.

The structures then would be leased back to the county, with title reverting to the county at the end of the lease term.

County Administrator Donald A. Jensen, County Counsel Leland H. Jordan and Auditor-Controller Leon A. de Lisle recommended this procedure today in a four-page report to the supervisors.

Over-all cost to the county of such a program has not been estimated as yet, but Jensen told newsmen he believes it will be substantially below the $1,900,000 proposed for a bond issue. The arrangement would be similar to that used for construction of the San Francisco Giants stadium in San Francisco.

Agreeing with the three county officials that Marin County has "a legal and moral responsibility to proceed immediately to provide adequate nursing home, custodial home and juvenile hall facilities," the supervisors took these actions today:

1. Directed architects Eugene E. Crawford and Rolland B. Hammond of San Rafael to complete plans and specifications within six months for "austere yet humane structures" which can be built economically.

2. Directed the county counsel to arrange for the services of an independent appraiser to determine the value of the land to be leased. Jordan also was instructed to prepare a resolution calling for construction bids, to be adopted after the plans are approved, and to keep the board advised on each step to be taken under a lease-purchase program.

3. Authorized revision of the county's long-range capital improvements plan by deletion of the proposed Lucas Valley facilities from a list of projects to be financed by bond issue.

The first and third actions were taken by unanimous vote, but on the second it was 4-1, Supervisor William D. Fusselman dissenting. Fusselman gave no reason for his "no" vote, saying merely that he wants to "prepare a statement to be submitted to the board within the next six months."

2 Fishermen Saved At Sea By Flashlight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two fishermen, whose boat capsized outside the Golden Gate, today credited a flashlight with saving their lives.

John Baldetta, 27, and his brother, Pasquale, 23, both of Collinsville, said their 36-foot boat sprang a leak shortly before dark last night and finally capsized.

The men put on life jackets, and Pasquale grabbed a flashlight from the sinking boat. For almost two hours, they flashed signals to passing ships.

Finally, the freighter Calmar spotted their light, but was unable to rescue the men. The vessel notified the Coast Guard, which picked up the brothers at about 8 p.m. two miles west of San Francisco.

Cuban Tribunal Dooms Second Army Officer

COMBINED AP & UPI

HAVANA — The defendant in Havana's second showcase trial was convicted before dawn today and sentenced to death before a firing squad.

Three of Fidel Castro's officers deliberated for 39 minutes and found former Cuban army Capt. Pedro Morejon Valdes guilty of assassination, homicide and robbery.

Morejon heard his fate after a trial of more than 10 hours, staged in marked contrast to last week's opening spectacle in Havana's 17,000-seat Sports Palace.

This time the scene was army headquarters outside Havana. The courtroom held only 200 persons. There were no floodlights, television cameras or radio microphones. The crowd filling the room occasionally applauded when the prosecution scored a point, but there was none of the Roman circus atmosphere which accompanied the conviction last week of the first Havana defendant, ex-Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco.

A high spot in the trial was the sudden appearance of Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, head of the revolutionary forces in the Havana area. Cienfuegos—one of Castro's closest associates—dramatically proclaimed that if Morejon were not executed, "I will shoot myself." He described the defendant as "the most bestial killer in the world."

Like Sosa, Morejon was expected to appeal the sentence to the Superior Military Tribunal.

It was not known when the third show trial, of ex-Lt. Col.

Khrushchev Brags Of Missile Output

Calls For Ban On Rockets

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev boasted today the Soviet Union has launched into production of international ballistic missiles. Then he called for a ban on building and testing rockets as well as nuclear weapons.

He told the 21st congress of the Soviet Communist Party that the Soviet Union holds the advantage in rocket engineering.

URGES TEST BAN

"We again say to the United States, Britain and France, let us ban for al ltime the testing, production and use of nuclear and rocket weapons; let us destroy all ctockpiles of these lethal weapons; let us use this supreme discovery of human genius exclusively for peaceful purposes. Our government is ready to sign an appropriate agreement at this time," he said.

He said the ICBMs were in serial production in the Soviet Union, but did not elaborate on what he meant by this. But he spoke of Soviet rocket prowess.

VEILED THREAT

"If the Soviet Union can launch a rocket hundreds of thousands of kilometers into outer space, it can launch powerful rockets with pinpoint accuracy to any part of the globe," he said.

Opening the party congress in the Kremlin, the party chieftain and premier sadi the Communist countries now "stand at the head of all progress."

More than 1,500 delegates from throughout the Soviet Union and Communist parties in 70 other countries applauded vigorously.

Khrushchev said a key task in the Soviet Union's new seven-year economic plan is to bring an end to the cold war and a lessening of international tension.

CALLS ON PEOPLE

But he also called on his people once more to:

1. Catch up with and surpass the leading capitalist countries in per capita output.

2. "Ensure the Soviet Union's triumph in the peaceful economic competition with the capitalist countries."

3. "Strengthen further the

Load Of Hay Hits Car; Girl Injured

Four-year-old Maria Elena Gonzales of Nicasio was critically injured yesterday afternon when 40 bales of hay fell from a passing truck directly on top of the station wagon in which she was riding home from dancing school.

Maria was still in critical condition today with a fractured skull. She was in surgery five hours yesterday at Marin General Hospital.

Also in serious condition today was Mrs. Heloise Marie Tomasini, 35, a Nicasio housewife, who was driving her daughter, Lisa, 5; Maria and Janis La Franchini, 5, also of Nicasio, from dancing school at Point Reyes Station.

WOMAN'S INJURIES

Mrs. Tomasini suffered a cerebral concussion, a fractured nose, a scalp laceration, fractured right hand and possible skull fracture.

Her daughter, Lisa, escaped with bruises and a possible mild concussion.

The third little girl, Janis, suffered bruises of her face and right hand. All three were in Ross General Hospital today.

The accident happened at 2:30 p.m. yesterday on the Petaluma-Point Reyes Station road approximately two miles east of Shoreline highway.

LOAD SHIFTS

A trailer truck loaded with 80 bales of hay, each weighing about 200 pounds and bound with five-strand wire, approached Mrs. Tomasini's station wagon on a curve. The load shifted. Bales of hay toppled onto the station wagon, crushing it, reported California Highway Patrol Officer Duncan Snell.

Officer Snell found half the load of hay strewn around the road, some of it on the demolished Tomasini station wagon.

Driver of the truck, 19-year-old Edward Milton Campigli of Point Reyes Station, said he saw Mrs. Tomasini begin to stop. He looked in his rear view mirror and saw hay falling from his truck, hitting the top of the station wagon and bouncing off.

Campigli was cited for having an unsafe load. He said he had been a truck driver for about two years but yesterday's was the first big hay load he had hauled.

INMATE GIVES PURSE TO HELP STRICKEN BOY

NATCHEZ, Miss. (UPI)—An unidentified prisoner at the Mississippi State Penitentiary has contributed to a fund to save the sight of a 7-year-old boy.

The convict sent police a hand-tooled leather purse, with instructions to sell it for $20. The money would be used to help pay medical expenses for Hugh Thornhill, who is suffering from glaucoma. The boy was flown from here to San Francisco for treatment designed to save his one remaining eye. Eye specialist William Ferguson of Belvedere has undertaken treatment of the boy.

Germ War Proof Pledged In Powell Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The defense told a U. S. District Court jury in the Powell-Schuman sedition trial today, "We expect to prove that the United States did use germ warfare in North Korea and China" during the Korean War.

Attorney Charles R. Garry said, "it is ridiculous to say that what Powell did affected anything we were doing in Korea."

John W. Powell, 39; his wife Sylvia, 38, both of San Francisco; and Julian Schuman, 38, of New York City, are charged with wartime sedition as a result of articles published in the now-defunct China Monthly Review. He published it in Shanghai during the Korean fighting.

Garry said "the right of freedom of the press and expression is going to be involved in this case" and also "whether we were at war."

Church In Novato Hit By Vandals

Vandals damaged the Assembly of God Church at 1370 South Novato boulevard in Novato yesterday afternoon.

Pastor William O. Vickery told sheriff's deputies he had worked at the church until about 2:30 p.m. Men working on the furnace left about 3 p.m. A short time after that, Mrs. Inez Korstad of 1161 Court road, Novato, called to report that the church was unlocked.

The pastor found the ribbon pulled out of a typewriter, and a bottle of stencil cement poured on the typewriter, desk telephone and floor. Files had been pulled out and contents spilled on the floor.

In the nursery section, filth had been smeared on the floor, tables and walls.

Ex-Prison Editor Sentenced To Jail

Jack R. Usher, former editor of the San Quentin News, prison newspaper at San Quentin, is back in Marin County Jail for one year because he cashed bad checks at Chapman's Shoes in San Rafael last July.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court sentenced Usher, 43, yesterday to a year in jail. Usher admitted passing bad checks for $11 and for $50 at the shoe store.

He was paroled from San Quentin last May after serving time for forgery.

Leaflet Urges Sausalitans To Fight Commercial Use Of City Sandspit

A movement to prevent commercial development of the city-owned Sausalito sandspit opposite the city hall has been launched with distribution of a printed broadside protesting "exploitation."

The unsigned sheet demands, "Shall the city-owned Sausalito sandspit, heart of the Sausalito waterfront, be kept for future use by the residents of Sausalito or be given over to commercial exploitation?"

It urges residents to attend the Sausalito Planning Commission meetings tomorrow and Thursday at 8 p.m. when the city's general plan proposed by planner Sydney H. Williams is to be discussed; also to attend the Feb. 3 city council meeting.

Apparent sparkplug of the drive is Robert C. La Fontaine, chairman of the Sausalito Recreation Commission. Other Sausalitans who have been identified with the protest movement include Mr. and Mrs. Wyman Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. William P. G. Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. David K. Minniear, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Chamberlain and Mrs. Helen Kerr.

The city-owned sandspit is under long-term lease to Madden and Lewis, who recently subleased a portion of it to State Sen. J. Eugene McAteer, operator of Tarantino's restaurant in San Francisco, and William E. McDonnell, insurance executive. The two announced they plan an elaborate waterfront restaurant and cocktail lounge with possible later expansion to include gift shops, boat docking facilities and other enlargements.

Brown Cites Support For His Union Program

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown said today just about everybody—except some labor leaders—appears to favor his proposed union democracy program.

Exceptions include AFL-CIO president George Meaney.

Brown told his news conference that state AFL-CIO officials informed him of Meaney's position even before his union regulation legislation was introduced.

Meaney wrote all state labor organizations in the country some time ago to oppose state legislation on the grounds it would duplicate an anticipated federal program.

Brown's bills strike out against secret union meetings, provide for recall of officers for misconduct, require financing accountings and set forth other state regulations.

He said letters from the general public and expressions from legislators themselves were almost universally favorable to his proposals. He said that he has received no unfavorable reaction from any labor people himself.

Turning to politics, the Democratic governor said he was more optimistic than the new Democratic state chairman on whether Republicans will seek to sabotage his program.

Brown referred to assertions by Assemblyman William A. Munnell (D-Montebello) that Republicans were amassing what he termed a slush fund to smash Brown's program in the Legislature.

Bill Seeks To End Gas Price Wars

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill designed to curb gasoline price wars by regulation of service stations' advertising was introduced today by Assemblyman Thomas J. MacBride (D-Sacramento).

The measure would require that all gasoline pumps show the octane rating of the gasoline in the pump. It would prohibit using number in advertising which might mislead the consumer into thinking it is an octane rating.

Ike To Give Congress Labor Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Republican congressional leaders said today that President Eisenhower tomorrow will submit to Congress an over-all labor legislation program calling for some amendments to the Taft-Hartley law and curbs on racketeering in unions.

They also said after their weekly White House conference that the President concurred in their feeling that the time had come to "blow the whistle" on Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson's prediction that Eisenhower planned frequent use of the veto in this session of Congress.

The leaders said the President has no intention of threatening in advance to use his constitutional veto powers. They said he would pass on legislation only after comprehensive study once a measure is passed and before him.

Eisenhower and his Capitol Hill lieutenants also decided that his special message on agriculture would go to Congress Thursday if both houses are in session that day.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson sat in on the leadership meeting along with Budget Director Maurice F. Stans.

Olema Link In Freeway Plan Favored By REA Directors

Marin directors of the Redwood Empire Assn. voted last night to support Sen. John F. McCarthy's efforts to add an Olema connecting link the state's long-range freeway plan for Marin.

The link would connect the proposed San Rafael-Nicasio-Novato freeway loop to State Route 1, the Shoreline Highway, at Olema. The directors acted on a suggestion by Secretary Manager Richard L. Shirley of San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Last night's meeting was held at the chamber offices in San Rafael. Only a dozen of the county's 75 REA directors attended. Frank P. Myer of Point Reyes Station, REA vice president for Marin, presided.

On a motion by John V. Bacigalupi, the directors also voted to ask REA for information relating to its aims and work program for the current year.

Myer announced that he and Thomas F. Cox, new REA assistant general manager, would be available for speaking engagements before civic and service clubs throughout the county "to encourage public support for the Redwood Empire Assn."

A 10-year-old Ross youngster caught the biggest fish of his life about 5 p.m. yesterday with his bare hands.

Danny (Dangerous) Hallinan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Hallinan, said he was playing near the creek alongside their large estate when he heard splashing.

"I saw a big fish, its head and tail out of the water, I ran back into the house and put on my swim trunks and boots and got a pan from the oven," said Danny. He said he got to the floundering fish all right, but it kept slithering away.

Finally, he called for help to his father, and the two of them hauled the fish out of the creek. It was a 33-inch salmon, not exactly "pan size."

Danny said the fish was so far on shore and in shallow waters that it would have died anyway if left in the creek.

The youngster hauled the salmon into his room and dumped it into his water-filled bathtub. The fish swam around in lively fashion. But before Danny got up this morning, the fish had died.

TRAPPED DOG FREED, THANKS TO FIRE CHIEF

Fire departments get all kinds of calls.

Yesterday, Alto Fire Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. got a hurry-up call from Mrs. H. E. Hobbs at 201 Blackfield drive, Bel Aire, that her dog was stuck and please hurry over.

When Heynen got there, he found the family pet had somehow stuck his head through a hole in the garage wall. The trouble was that the hole was big enough for the dog to get his head in, but not out.

While Mrs. Hobb held the frightened pet, Heynen sawed away enough wall to free the animal.

CHP Urges Crossing Line For Children

The California Highway Patrol recommends that a double line be painted on San Pedro road to protect children crossing the street to and from San Pedro School.

This recommended remedy will be presented to the San Rafael Board of Education tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The school has also asked for studies on push button signals for students to use at the dangerous San Pedro School crossing, but no action has been taken yet on this proposal.

In other matters, the school board will hear progress reports on the new Gallinas and Santa Venetia Schools, and the new high school south of Terra Linda.

Board members will meet in executive session for the annual review of probationary teachers to see if they should be re-hired.

Sojourners Elect Colonel Sibbitt

Lt. Col. J. Paul Sibbitt of 81 Cambridge Heights, Novato, has been elected president of the Hamilton Air Force Base chapter of National Sojourners.

Colonel Sibbitt was installed in ceremonies at the base officers club last week. Other officers installed include Maj. George C. Belles, vice president; Col. (ret.) G. H. Steel, second vice president; Lt. William H. McNamara, secretary-treasurer, and Col. L. F. Zimmerman, chaplain.

Formosa Opens Schools

'Valentine Girl' Has Mended Heart

LA PORTE, Ind. (AP)—A golden-haired little girl with a patched-up heart will celebrate the "bestest" day of her life next Tuesday at the White House.

That's the day Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower will crown six-year-old Debbie Quinn as America's Valentine Girl for 1959.

The American Heart Assn. chose Debbie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Quinn of La Porte, as a symbol of hope for the 1959 heart fund campaign.

Debbie was born with four heart defects. She had a quarter-size hole between the ventricles of her heart; her pulmonary artery was too narrow; her great artery was displaced, and the right side of her heart was enlarged.

But Dr. C. Walton Lillehei of the University of Minnesota Heart Hospital repaired Debbie's heart in a seven and one-half hour operation that would have been impossible 10 years ago. The heart-lung pump, which did the work of her heart and lungs during surgery, is a post-World War II development.

Today Debbie romps and plays baseball with her brother, attends school regularly and is starting to show an interest in art.

Lutheran Group Makes Plans For Building Fund Drive

The members of Faith Lutheran Church of San Rafael have agreed to conduct their 1959 building fund drive under direction of Robert Busse, finance chairman of the building committee.

The congregation in its annual meeting also elected four members of the church vestry. They are Paul Condit of Sleepy Hollow, Robert Busse of San Anselmo, Glenn Simmons of Novato and Carl Otterberg of Greenbrae.

A report by Bliss W. Bellinger, pastor, said the three-year-old congregation now has a total confirmed membership of 94 persons. The church meets in Union Labor Hall, San Rafael. A five-acre building site in Los Ranchitos was purchased last year by the congregation.

Wins Floor Covering

Gloria S. Angelo of 205 Orange Blossom lane, San Rafael, is richer today by one vinyl floor covering for her appraisal of the benefits of supermarket shopping. The prize was one of 871 awarded in a nationwide contest sponsored by the Family Circle Magazine to bring recognition to the supermarket as a typical American institution.

Other Faiths Study Pope's Call For Unity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pope John's call for an ecumenical council is aimed primarily at achieving a reunion of the Roman Catholic and Eastern Orthodox Churches which parted ways in the "great schism" of 1054.

That is the one firm conclusion reached by church leaders of all major denominations after 48 hours' intensive study and consultation on the pope's surprise move.

WAIT CLARIFICATION

Major Protestant bodies are awaiting clarification from the Vatican to find out (1) whether they will be invited to participate in the council, and (2) whether the invitation will be on a basis that they would regard as acceptable.

In the past, the Vatican has insisted that the Christian family can be reunited only by non-Roman churches "returning to the fold" and accepting the authority of the pope. Neither the Eastern Orthodox nor any Protestant church has been willing to negotiate on these terms.

STUDY STATEMENT

Ever since Pope John announced Sunday his intention of summoning a universal council to consider church unity, leaders of other churches have been studying his statement closely. They have been looking for some hint whether the pope may try to break the ancient stalemate by offering new terms for unity.

So far, they have found no such hint in the statement itself. But a strong feeling persists in high ecclesiastical circles that Pope John is too astute a diplomat, and too well informed about the realities of the situation, to seek a unity council without having some good reason to believe it might bear fruit.

Police Chief Hopefuls Take Oral Exams

Candidates for the job of Sausalito police chief took an oral examination yesterday for the vacancy created when former police chief Louis P. Mountanos became Marin County sheriff.

A written examination was taken a week ago by 22 prospects who came from many points on the Pacific Coast, including some members who are now members of the Sausalito police force.

Of the 38 who originally applied, according to City Manager Donald A. Duerr, 27 were found to be eligible and 22 took the examination conducted by Kroeger and Associates of San Francisco.

Yesterday's oral examination was conducted by two outside police chiefs and a San Francisco personnel director, Duerr said.

He added that final selection will be made from the three candidates recording the highest combined scores. Appointment is expected by next Monday.

Baird To Discuss Batista's Cuba

Cuba under the rule of ousted President Fulgencio Batista will be described tomorrow evening by Dr. Jesse Hays Baird, president emeritus of San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Dr. Baird returned last March from a six-month stay in Mantanzas, Cuba.

His talk will follow a 6:30 p.m. potluck dinner at the Fairfax Community Church.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Stamp Thieves Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — Trading stamp burglars struck again early today.

They got 750,000 green stamps, worth $2,500 in premiums, from a store on the North Side. Only the stamps were taken.

Over the weekend burglars took a million stamps, worth $3,000 in merchandise, and 20 cases of liquor from a store on the South Side.

Fliers Still Up In Air

BLYTHE (UPI) — Two fliers, who have been up in the air without landing longer than anyone else, today droned into the 54th day of their record-setting endurance flight.

The pilots, Bob Timm and Bill Cook, hoped to stay aloft another week. They set a world endurance record last Friday in a light plane which has been airborne since leaving Las Vegas Dec. 4.

Alfalfa Killer Freed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Alfie charged me with a jackknife. I was forced to shoot."

So testified Moses S. Stiltz, 38, yesterday, and a coroner's jury held him blameless in the slaying of one-time "Our Gang" comedy star Carl (Alfalfa) Switzer.

Jack Piott, 37, testified he and Switzer, 32, had been drinking when they got in a fight with Stiltz last Wednesday night. Switzer claimed Stiltz owed him $50. Stiltz denied it.

In clearing Stiltz, the jury ruled Switzer's death was justifiable homicide and that Stiltz acted in self defense.

Texas Laud Negro

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A state representative who protested when the University of Texas cast Barbara Louise Smith in a student opera today offered the Negro singer his congratulations.

Several East Texas representatives objected last year to Miss Smith playing the lead role opposite a white male in the opera "Dido and Aeneas." She was dropped from the cast. She left yesterday for New York to further her studies in music and drama.

"I want to congratulate her on graduation," Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs said. "I'm glad to hear she's got a scholarship. I wish her all the success in the world. She is a great artist."

Reward Withdrawn

NEW YORK (AP)—The $25,000 reward offered for information leading to the conviction of the slayer or slayers of Serge Rubinstein was withdrawn today —the fourth anniversary of his death.

Attorneys for the estate of the playboy and international financier announced in newspaper advertisements the estate had withdrawn the reward offered Sept. 20, 1955.

Rubinstein, 46, was choked to death in his bedroom in his Fifth avenue mansion. The police department still lists the case as "open."

Stanley N. Zwaik, lawyer representing the estate, said the reward offer drew nothing but crackpot tips.

Newsman Flees

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A North Korean reporter for the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda defected to South Korea today during a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission at Panmunjom. He said he feared the Communists would execute him as a reactionary.

Lee Dong Joon, 30, expressed concern for his wife and 2-month-old daughter, still in the Communist North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

Ike Greets MacArthur

NEW YORK (AP)—A message from President Eisenhower was a highlight of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's 79th birthday celebration.

The President sent best wishes for continued success, health and happiness and signed the message, "old friend and assistant, Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Eisenhower served as an aide to MacArthur in the United States and in the Philippines before World War II.

The President's message was read at a stag party in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel last night. Ninety-six persons attended.

To Head New College

LONDON (AP)—A leading British nuclear scientist, Sir John Cockcroft, will head the new Cambridge college named for Sir Winston Churchill.

Churchill College is scheduled to open in 1961 as a center for advanced scientific training and research.

Kishi Spurns Neutrality

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi today firmly rejected neutrality as a foreign policy for Japan but urged renewed trade with Communist China.

In a policy address before the new session of Parliament he endorsed Japan's close defense and diplomatic ties with America. The premier warned that neutrality would lead Japan into the Communist camp.

Haymes' Son Stabbed

NEW YORK (UPI)—A charge of juvenile delinquency against Alan Clarke, 15, was dropped yesterday at the request of singer Dick Haymes, whose son was stabbed in the arm by young Clarke in a scuffle.

Dick Haymes Jr., 16, testified in children's court that the stabbing was accidental. The Clarke boy had voluntarily turned himself over to police.

Young Haymes required five stitches in his arm to close the knife wound. Police said the two youths had argued over a girl.

Egan Still Critically Ill

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Gov. William A. Egan of Alaska remained on the critical list at Virginia Mason Hospital here today.

Egan, 44, has shown slight improvement since an emergency two-hour operation a week ago for the removal of an intestinal block.

Ty's Jewels Stolen

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Furs and jewelry, valued at $15,000, were stolen from the home of the late Actor Tyrone Power yesterday shortly before his widow came home from a hospital with her newborn son, police said.

Officers said the burglars were professionals who worked with such efficiency that the crime was not immediately noticed by the maid. They took a mink coat, mink stole, Mrs. Power's jewelry box, Power's jewelry box and papers belonging to the actor.

Federal Aid To Schools Will Mean Domination, Says Farm Bureau Head

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Federal aid to education must inevitably lead to its domination of public schools, a spokesman for 1½ million farmers and ranchers warned today.

Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said "financial support always implies control . . . we would have to fear the influence of a federal agency on teachers and administrators."

Shuman, in a speech prepared for the annual convention of the National School Boards Assn., warned that "It is obvious—or should be—that if the federal government makes a substantial contribution to any endeavor it will insist on its full measure of control."

His words may not have fallen on deaf ears, but there was considerable evidence that at least some of his listeners were skeptical.

For the fourth straight year, the delegate assembly of the NSBA yesterday voted down a resolution which would have put the association on record against the principle of federal aid to education.

Speaking from the same platform as Shuman today, Lawrence Derthick, U. S. commissioner of education, painted a glowing picture of the benefits to education soon to be derived from the five-month-old national defense act for education.

Derthick said the first six million dollars in federal loan funds for needy students would be in the hands of more than 1,200 colleges and universities by yearly February. Congress may soon increase the amount of available funds, he added.

Derthick said also that the federal grants to state agencies for improving testing, counseling and guidance programs would soon be making themselves felt on the local level.

The commissioner warned that federal funds alone wouldn't solve the problems of American education. He said that "no short cut, no neatly packaged product, no panacea, will get the job done."

One thing the delegates seemed agreed upon is that local property taxes are about as high as they can go and other sources of school income must be found.

SOMETHING FOR TEACHER

Money For Ice-Maker? Then There's Money For Schools

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A gift of an ice machine to chill country club martinis inspired a community foundation that finances advanced study for public school teachers.

More than 500 school board members gave two hours of concentrated attention to a National School Boards Assn. section meeting last night to a how-to-do-it explanation of the Columbus, Ind., foundation idea.

The idea was born with Dr. W. L. Wissman, Columbus physician and school board member.

"I heard that a man in our town gave a $1,500 ice-making machine to the country club," Dr. Wissman explains.

"I figured if there were people around with that kind of money to give away why couldn't we get some of it together to support summer study opportunities for our teachers."

The Columbus foundation collected and donated its first private money in 1956. In three years it has awarded grants to 56 Columbus teachers for summer projects including a Spanish teacher's tour to Valencia, Spain.

Private gift support for faculty research work and advanced study is widespread in colleges and universities. The Columbus foundation apparently is a pioneer in doing this job for elementary and high school teachers.

"The effect on teacher morale has been notable," declared Clarence E. Robbins, school superintendent. "And we now find we have an important advantage in recruiting good new teachers."

The foundation has budgeted $12,000 for summer study projects this year.

Up to now the Columbus foundation has been amply financed with a low pressure solicitation among industries, business firms and professional people.

15 Days' Jail In Gas Thefts

Two gasoline thieves, who tried to get rid of "evidence" from their speeding car in Novato Sunday night, must serve 15 days in county jail for petty theft.

Judge Richard M. Sims of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Harold Dean Lawley, 19, of 457 Wilson avenue, Novato, and Carl Eugene McNatt, 21, airman from Hamilton Air Force Base. Both admitted stealing gasoline from parked cars. Lawley also pleaded guilty to reckless driving during the getaway attempt.

Sheriff's Deputies Boyd Burnham and Edward McKamey, who caught the thieves in the act on Cambridge Heights, said the youths sped off, tossing their gasoline can out the window as they fled. After a chase of speeds up to 90 miles per hour, the thieves stopped when Deputy McKamey fired one warning shot in the air.

Lawley, the driver, must pay $50 fine for reckless driving, in addition to his jail term.

Kidnaped N.Y. Baby Found Alive, Well; Abductor Held

Telephone Tip Solves 2nd Case In Month

NEW YORK (AP)—Month-old John Tavarez, the second baby kidnapped here this month, was recovered alive and well early today in the apartment of a Puerto Rican couple. The infant was ill when abducted on Thursday.

Police said Ascension Ortiz, 25, admitted taking the child from its home because she had a miscarriage 10 days ago. She and her husband, Angel, a plastic dyer, have three children ranging from 6 to 9.

WOMAN'S EXCUSE

"It was because I lost my own baby," Mrs. Ortiz told police. "I had to make it up to my husband."

At first she denied stealing the Tavarez baby, and claimed the one in the three-room basement apartment was her own. Her husband was so convinced of her truthfulness at first that he supported her story.

Mrs. Jose Tavarez was taken to the Ortiz apartment and, weeping with joy, identified her baby from a mark on his neck.

IDENTIFIES KIDNAPER

The 31-year-old Mrs. Tavarez also identified Mrs. Ortiz as the "Gladys Garcia" with whom the child had been left while Mrs. Tavarez went apartment hunting. The baby was gone when Mrs. Tavarez returned home.

The two women had struck up an acquaintance at a hospital the day before Mrs. Tavarez took her baby there for treatment of a persistent cold.

Police said Mrs. Ortiz, a chubby woman with auburn-streaked hair, would be charged with kidnaping.

Hundred of police and FBI agents ran down scores of worthless tips in an effort to locate the kidnaped child.

TELEPHONE TIP

Police credited solution of the case to a tip received on a special telephone line for public calls about the case and the aid of the Spanish language newspaper El Diario. Police gave no details of the tip.

The same type of tip on another special phone line had led to the finding earlier in the month of Lisa Rose Chionchio. The baby was located nine days after being stolen from a Brooklyn hospital nursery two and one-half hours after birth.

Chief of detectives James B. Leggett said a check of footprints positively identified the Tavarez infant.

Army's 2nd Moon Shoot Set Feb. 28

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The Army plans to fire its second moon rocket Feb. 28, hoping the 13-pound payload will skim past the moon like Russia's Lunik, it was learned today.

But officials are afraid the public will overlook the scientific importance of the space probe and notice only that its payload is just a fraction of the size of the 3,245-pound Lunik.

After the Air Force failed last year to orbit the moon, the Army tried last month to blast a 13-pound payload past the lunar sphere and on toward the sun. But bad aim and insufficient speed spoiled the shot.

Then came Lunik on Jan. 2.

Developed by the Jet Propulsion Laboratories at Pasadena, the gold-coated payload of the second Army rocket will have the same three-fold mission as its short-lived predecessor.

These are to measure the dense and hazardous radiation surrounding the earth, to test an "optical trigger" which should send back a signal to earth when it "sees" the moon, and to measure cosmic rays.

Psychological Assn. Elects Guerin

Gilbert R. Guerin, school psychologist of Novato Unified School District, has been named president of the Marin Psychological Assn. He succeeds Jack R. Danielson of San Rafael.

Other officers named include Mrs. Ursula Jacobs of Mill Valley, secretary, and Max R. Kaplan of Novato, treasurer.

Sausalito Theater Plans Melodrama

Plans for the third annual Sausalito Little Theater summer melodrama are slated for discussion at a meeting called for Sunday at 2:30 p.m., according to John Brebner, director. "We'll need actors, song and dance talent, technicians of all kinds and every other kind of help," Brebner said.

Veterans of the past two summers and new devotees are expected.

Popular Sport

LONDON (AP)—Classes to help beginners correct faults in archery are to be held at three evening institutes in London.

Huguenot Society To Form Chapter

A Bay Area chapter of the Huguenot Society of California will hold its first meeting Sunday, Feb. 15, at the home of Walter Downing Kephart of 299 Butterfield road, San Anselmo.

The meeting will commemorate the 227th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, whose first American ancestor was Nicolas Martiau, a Huguenot refugee.

Mrs. William Edward Fenwick III of Mill Valley will serve as hostess for the evening. Officers will be elected.

All persons of Huguenot descent whose ancestors left France before the promulgation of the Edict of Toleration on Nov. 17, 1787, are eligible for membership. Kephart said persons planning to attend should call him for reservations.

FAST FLURRY AT CINCINNATI

Frank Martel, Drake's five foot, eight inch guard, flies through the air to block a shot by Cincinnati's Mike Mendenhall (31) in game at Cincinnati last night. Other Drake players are Jim Guydon (15) and Dave Terre (10). No. 12 for Cincinnati is Oscar Robertson, who scored 27 points as Cincinnati won, 73-52. (AP Wirephoto)

'CONTRACT JUMPING'

2 Giants Fined $250 Each, Suspended In Winter Ball

NEW YORK (AP) — In an unprecedented action, Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick has fined outfielders Willie Kirkland and Leon Wagner of the San Francisco Giants $250 each and suspended them from winter ball for one year.

For "jumping their contracts without consent," Frick ruled yesterday that the men cannot play for the Giants until the fines are paid.

Both Kirkland and Wagner played in the Puerto Rican League, Wagner for the Ponce team and Kirkland for Santurce.

Frick said he was told that Kirkland had said he was tired and wanted to leave the club by Jan. 15 but that Wagner had said nothing to anyone before leaving.

The Giants today announced that their two new pitching acquisitions — Jack Sanford and Billy Muffett — have signed their 1959 contracts.

Terms were not announced.

Muffett, a 27-year-old righthander, is counted on for relief duties. He was the key man for the Giants in a swap Oct. 8 that sent the veteran Marv Grissom and rookie righthander Ernie Groglio to the St. Louis Cardinals for Muffett, catcher Hobie Landrith and utility infielder Benny Valenzuela.

The Giants picked up Sanford, 1957 rookie of the year, from Philadelphia in a trade for pitcher Ruben Gomez and catcher Valmy Thomas. Manager Bill Rigney is counting on Sanford as one of his four regular starters.

Newell Says Layoff Keeps Team Fresh

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California coach Pete Newell isn't moaning one bit about his club's long layoff. Instead, he says, he planned it that way.

The Bears haven't seen action since Jan. 17, when they beat Stanford at Berkeley. Their next game comes Saturday at San Jose against Santa Clara.

"We feel that staleness is the greatest problem on a basketball team at this point," Newell told the Northern California Basketball Writers and Sportscasters Assn. yesterday. "If a team is physically in condition in December, it will stay that way.

"During our 10-day layoff, we don't let the kids near the court. We hope that will retard staleness and the team will be relatively fresh for the last part of the season."

Most Pacific Coast Conference teams have a layoff about this time as the athletes take final examinations, but at Cal it is longer than at most of the other schools.

After the non-conference Santa Clara game, defending co-champion California swings back into PCC action against the current loop leaders, UCLA, at Los Angeles on Feb. 6.

Stanford Coach Howie Dallmar, whose Indians are tied with Washington for third place in the PCC, asserted, "If we're an outside contender, this is the first real crucial weekend."

Stanford plays Oregon at Eugene on Friday and Washington at Seattle on Saturday.

Fred LaCour, second highest scorer for the San Francisco Dons last year, has regained his eligibility and flies with his teammates for a game tomorrow at Seattle. They go against Utah in Salt Lake City on Friday.

LaCour, who averaged 12.4 points per game in 27 tilts last year but was ineligible for the Dons' first 14 games this season because of scholastic difficulties, took his midyear exams last week and passed all courses.

Coach Phil Woolpert got the good news about his 6-5 shotmaker only last night. Some coaches had expressed privately their belief that LaCour should not be eligible until the start of the spring semester next week. But Woolpert pointed out that his player was eligible under NCAA and West Coast Athletic Conference rules, that he was scholastically deficient only under USF standards for the past semester.

Most of the clubs in the area, largely inactive last week, see action this weekend. The slate shows, in addition to the PCC games and the USF pair, COP at San Jose State, San Diego State at Fresno State, Humboldt State at San Francisco State and Cal Poly at Los Angeles State, all on Friday night.

The Saturday slate lists San Diego State at San Jose State, Humboldt at San Francisco State, Chico State at Sacramento State, and Cal Poly at Whittier.

RICK FERRELL

Ferrell To Head Detroit Tigers; Temporary Job

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, who lost catcher Rick Ferrell 30 years ago because they tried to keep him hidden in the minor leagues, brought him back yesterday as their general manager.

Ferrell, 53, replaces John J. McHale, at least on a temporary basis. McHale, 37, quit the Tigers Sunday to become vice president and general manager of the Milwaukee Braves.

Ferrell, who holds the all-time American League record for catching 1,806 games, played four seasons in Detroit's minor league system in the late 1920s.

DECLARED FREE AGENT

The late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, then commissioner of baseball, declared Ferrell a free agent because the Tigers did not place his name on the draft list.

Ferrell then sold himself to the old St. Louis Browns for a $25,000 bonus and a $12,500 contract, and started a big league career that no catcher has since matched. He caught more than 100 games for 11 seasons, caught in the first All-Star game in 1934 and in four other mid-season classics.

Ferrell played for St. Louis, Boston and Washington in the American League, and while with the Red Sox joined with his brother, Wes, to form one of the game's finest battery teams. Rick has a lifetime batting average of .281.

FIRED ONCE

The Tigers fired Ferrell once. He came here in 1950 as a coach under manager Red Rolfe and was let out after the 1953 season when Fred Hutchinson was manager.

Since then Ferrell has been a scout, and last season was named director of minor league player personnel. In that capacity, he worked closely with McHale.

U.S. Underdog In Basketball Championships

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The United States held the underdog role in the World Amateur Basketball Championships today after its unimpressive victory over weak Nationalist China and Russia's one-sided triumph over Bulgaria.

The United States had to put on a strong second-half rally to defeat Formosa 85-69 last night while the Soviets easily rode over their Bulgarian satellites, 78-58.

The winners boosted their records in the round-robin competition to 3-0. They meet tomorrow night. The Americans are not scheduled tonight but the Russians take on Chile.

Observers here figure the American Air Force team has its work cut out for it. The Russians, although they are less experienced, have shown more speed and effective outside shooting.

Formosa ran up a 20-13 lead before the Americans began to click. Jerry Vayda of Bayonne, N. J., and Jim Coshow of Seattle helped pull the United States into a 27-27 deadlock. Then Bob Hodges of Kinston, N. C., put the Americans in front to stay with two quick baskets from underneath.

Hodges and Dick Welsh of Cucamonga, led the U. S. squad with 22 points each.

Dodgers Sign Up Pitcher Podres

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pitcher Johnny Podres and outfielder Rip Repulski have signed their 1959 contracts, the Los Angeles Dodgers announced today.

Salaries were not disclosed. The signings brought to 17 the number of Dodgers under contract.

With 13 victories, Podres won more games than any other Dodger pitcher in 1958. He lost 15.

CAMPY RECEIVES AWARD AS MOST COURAGEOUS

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"All of us like to live and I'm one of them. And I hope to continue to live. And to live you have to battle, or be courageous, just as this plaque says."

Roy Campanella, an ambulatory cripple who has fought back to an active life, was talking. The plaque he referred to said he was the most courageous athlete of 1958. It was officially presented to him last night by the Philadelphia Sports Writers Assn.

The honor actually was presented to one of baseball's greatest catchers at his Glen Cove, N.Y., home last Thursday. He decided against risking a drive here for the occasion.

In his absence, a motion picture of the actual presentation was shown. Campanella's remarks were contained in the film.

The 36-year-old Campanella, who starred with the old Brooklyn Dodgers until an auto accident partly paralyzed him a year ago, will return to the Dodgers as a coach this spring.

TOURNAMENT CHAMP

Blind Golfer To Get Award From Writers

By HUGH FULLERTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Out of about 600 people who will attend the Metropolitan Golf Writers dinner tonight, there won't be anyone getting more fun out of the affair or out of golf than Charley Boswell.

Boswell is a big, good-natured ex-football player who usually shoots golf in the 90s and like to play with friends for four bits Nassau. He didn't start to play until 1946, but he has won the one tournament he can play in 10 times in 13 years.

Tonight he will receive the Ben Hogan Award of the Golf Writers' Assn. of America which is given each year to some one who has overcome a handicap to play golf.

Charley, you see, can't see.

Boswell was blinded during World War II when he climbed back into a disabled tank to pull out a young driver. A shell struck as was about to dive into a ditch and fragments penetrated his eyes. He first tried to play golf at the Valley Forge, Pa., Veterans hospital.

"I hit the ball the first time I tried," he recalled with a chuckle today. "I racked it real good. If I hadn't I probably would have thrown the club into the woods and never tried again. Boy, that was the best thing that ever happened to me."

Boswell is dead serious about what the game means to him, but obviously he enjoys every minute of it.

"It's one competitive sport I can play with friends," he explained. "There's no moving object involved. I can get out there and play in a foursome with my friends—and they don't give me thing except a few strokes handicap. The tournaments have taken me all over the country and they enable me to let off a lot of steam."

Boswell first played in the National Blind Championship in 1946. He has missed only one since then.

Blind golfers obviously can't do everything for themselves. They have "coaches" who judge the distances, line up the clubs for shots and tell them how far to stroke putts. But they stick to the regular rules on all but one point. They're allowed to ground their clubs in sand traps.

Along with Boswell, Charles Coe, the National Amateur champion; Tommy Bolt and Dow Finsterwald, the Open and PGA champions, and Harry Bradshaw and Christy O'Connor, Ireland's winners of the Canada Cup world pro competition, will receive awards at tonight's dinner.

Coe, former captain of the U. S. Walker Cup team and two-time winner of the amateur championship, will be given the Gold Tee Award as the man who has done the most for golf in the past year.

Wall, Ellis Lead In El Dorado Tourney

PALM DESERT (UPI)—The touring delegation of pros went back to work today in the final round of the $7,500 El Dorado Pro-Member Golf Tournament as they continued their play-every-day West Coast invasion.

Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa., and Wes Ellis, Adecress, N.J., shared the half-way lead in the two-day tournament as they toured the sporty El Dorado course in two under par with 70 yesterday.

The pros found the El Dorado course with its narrow fairways and fast greens much harder than the Thunderbird course over which they played last weekend.

Of the 24 invited pros participating in the El Dorado tournament, only five were able to crack the par 72. This is the course on which the 1959 Ryder Cup matches will be played.

The narrow fairways are lined with orange, grapefruit and date palm trees into which many a ball landed yesterday.

Ellis, who had not cut much of a swatch on the pro circuit this year, was hopeful he could give himself a birthday present of first money at the end of today's play. He is 27 years old today.

Arnold Palmer, who won the Thunderbird tournament on this desert, found the balmy playing conditions to his liking as he tied for second on the first round with 71 he shared with Jimmy Demaret and Bob Rosburg.

A stroke behind them in third place came Lionel Hebert and Billy Maxwell with par 72 scores.

Mike Souchak, who was far down among the pros with a 75 individual score, headed a team that led the pro-amateur division with a best ball of 56. His amateur partners who gave him 19 strokes help were Dick Snideman, Chicago; Don Pegler, Lincoln, Neb., and Harry Dawson Los Angeles.

Jones Meets Giardello On TV Tomorrow

NEW YORK (UPI) — Middleweight contender Joey Giardello, fighting to remain in the top 10 rankings, meets veteran Ralph (Tiger) Jones for the third time tomorrow night in a TV bout at Louisville, Ky.

Their 10-rounder at the Kentucky Exposition Center will be televised by ABC, 7 p.m., pst.

Giardello of Brooklyn, ranked fifth among 160-pound contenders, outpointed Jones of Yonkers, N. Y., by narrow margins in their two previous bouts in 1954 and '57.

Joey is favored at 12-5 to win again, although he lost his last two bouts to Spider Webb, Nov. 19, and Joey Giambra, June 30.

Lemon To Get Another Try With Indians

LONG BEACH (AP)—Bob Lemon's once-mighty arm will get another try with the Cleveland Indians.

"I've got my mind set on pitching for Cleveland again," he told a reporter yesterday, "and I've been invited to spring training at Tucson."

Lemon, 38, will begin this week with a series of elbow exercises to strengthen the arm that failed him during the 1957 season.

He finished last year with San Diego in the Pacific Coast League after working only 25 ineffective innings with Cleveland early in the season.

The arm that seven times won 20 games or more in the American League produced only a 1-5 record with San Diego as he divided his time between pitching and the outfield.

UCLA Athletic Chief May Quit For New Job

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Athletic director Wilbur Johns, who was graduated from UCLA in 1925 and stayed on for 34 years, said last night he might leave the university for another position.

Johns, basketball coach at UCLA for 23 years and athletic director since 1947, denied reports that he already had submitted his resignation to become the director of the new Los Angeles Memorial Sports Arena.

NATIONAL BASKETBALL

4 Flashes Hit High To Pace Teams To Wins

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Four fellows sure to draw heavy backing in the All-America poll two months from now are Johnny Cox, Oscar Robertson, Bob Boozer and Jerry West—and one glance at last night's college basketball results will explain why.

All four flashes hit for high scores to pace their high-ranked teams to victory.

Cox slammed home 18 points in the first half and a total of 23 in the game to pace Kentucky to a 94-70 revenge victory over Georgia Tech. Cox' opening-half spurt boosted the Wildcats into a 55-43 lead.

Robertson, the national scoring leader, with a 32.5-point average, chalked up a "routine" 27 points as Cincinnati drubbed Drake, 73-52, for its 12th win in 14 games.

The six-eight Boozer tallied 21 points and seized 14 rebounds to pace Kansas State (14-1) to a 78-55 rout of Iowa State.

West looped in 29 points to lead West Virginia to a 77-67 win over George Washington.

The only other team in the "top 10" to play last night was Bradley. The Braves, who rely on a balanced attack rather than a single ballyhooed star, also came through with a victory, 77-63, over Detroit.

Minnesota took over undisputed third place in the Big Ten by beating Illinois, 81-70, while Ohio State downed Iowa, 86-72, in the same league. At Minneapolis, Ron Johnson scored 28 points as Minnesota led almost all the way in advancing its league record to 4-2. The Gophers sank 46 per cent of their shots and outrebounded the Illini, 48-25. At Columbus, Larry Siegfried and Joe Roberts each had 22 for Ohio State although Iowa's Dave Gunther took game honors with 23.

49ers Take On Stilt & Co. Tonight In Richmond Game

The "Big Dipper" will be over the Richmond Auditorium hardwoods tonight when the Harlem Globetrotters fire their magic star, Wilt Chamberlain at the San Francisco 49ers.

Shooting the celebrated Trotters triple dribble into orbit for the cageful of chuckles, will be Meadlowlark Lemon, Herman Taylor and a half dozen other zany cohorts abetting "The Stilt" in producing the merriest show in sports.

Starting the comic ball bouncing at 8 o'clock will be the Texas Cow Girls and the Hawaii 50th Staters.

Chamberlain is, of course, the fabulous seven-foot gazelle who broke just about every record in the book at the University of Kansas the past two years. He's a pro now, earning $65,000 for a six-month season.

Lemon, the Globies' superb funnyman, is the court jester who brings the house down with his peculiar gait and comical gyrations on the court.

Taylor, a dribbler so outstanding that he is given a series of spots in each performance when he demonstrates his ball-bouncing mastery to the roar of the fans, is a sure thing as a show stopper.

But tonight's show is talent packed.

Stars will be dime a dozen. At a glance they'll be gridmen turn cagers, Y. A. Tittle, Hugh McElhenny, Gordy Soltau, Ed Henke, Billy Wilson, Bob St. Clair, Cylde Conner, John Thomas and "Ally-Oop" R. C. Owens.

CAGE ACES

Basketball aces in their own right, the 49ers don't figure as pushovers in any league. Conner and Thomas proved that at College of Pacific, while Owens made it as an All-American with the Buchann, Bakers in the 1957 national AAU tournament in Denver.

Tittle, McElhenny, Wilson and company don't take a backseat to the Trotters in the laugh provoking department either. The team has a versatile collection of stunts that football followers will hardly recognize The entire 49er team will be on hand at 7 o'clock to sign autographs.

The Texas Cow Girls, headed by Joan Rupp, Evelyn Cummings and Shirley Dorow, all six-footers, have defeated some of the best men's clubs in the U.S. Their rivals are rated the strongest team to come out of the Hawaiian Islands. Two variety acts will also be presented.

Stanfel High On Kuharich As New Notre Dame Coach

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Dick Stanfel, who leveled numerous defenses during his seven years as a guard in pro football, said today that any team which could land Joe Kuharich and Buddy Parker on the same coaching staff would be tremendous.

"What a combination!" marvelled the big guy with the Ivy League cheaters and Gas House voice. "Kuharich is a master at teaching hard-nosed football based on good blocking and tackling. With one of his lines to support Parker's tricky stuff in the backfield, you'd really have a ball club."

As matters stand, however, Parker is busy reviving the Pittsburgh Steelers while Kuharich has left the Washington Redskins to replace Terry Brennan at Notre Dame. Stanfel, Joe's apt pupil in college and pro ball, also is forsaking the 'Skins to work with his mentor at South Bend.

Stanfel was in the line with Kuharich's undefeated University of San Francisco team of 1951, then went to Detroit as the Lions' number two draft choice in 1952. For three years he was a prize shock-trooper as he stormed out of his guard spot to lead plays. During that span, Parker's Lions tangled three times with Cleveland for the National League title and won twice.

Broken bones hobbled Stanfel in 1955 while the team collapsed in general and he was dealt to Washington the following summer.

"At first I was ready to retire," Stanfel rumbled. "But I knew that by sticking with Joe he might help me go into coaching."

Dick has no illusions about the coming season.

"It could be a rough one for Kuharich with so many veterans gone," Stanfel said. "But give him three or four years and he'll have Notre Dame right back at the top."

Youth Basketball League Results

The Ponies defeated the Albert Globetrotters, 31-12, and the Warriors defeated Santa Venetia Wildcats, 28-9, in games played in the 12 and under division of the San Rafael Recreation and Parks Department's Youth Basketball League.

In a game in the 16 and under division, the Medallions defeated the Vagabonds, 53-33. The Medallions' attack was led by Bob Clark with 23 points and Gary Ledson with 16 points. Dave Lindanbaum scored 14 points for the Vagabonds.

Elks To Whoop It Up

Should Organized Ball Give Job To Ex-Con? Connolly Votes 'Yes'

CONNOLLY

Modern science has fixed it so that a guy who has transgressed the law can kiss the world goodbye while sitting down, standing up or resting on an elbow. And the transgressor does not have much choice in the matter.

Which brings us up to the story at hand.

A young feller, a ball player, back in 1949 was hailed as a great pitching prospect. He rated at that time alongside of guys like Bob Turley and Don Larsen. But he got the treatment which is accorded a wrong guy and was sent up to the College by the Sea, commonly known as San Quentin. Later he was promoted to Folsom and then later on to Leavenworth.

But today the guy is 32 years of age, served his time, paid the penalty for his crime and wants back in baseball.

The question before the house is should Organized Baseball give him a chance or should it rule him out as an undesirable.

The case, at present, is before High Commissioner of Baseball, Mr. Ford Frick, who has to rule on whether the transgressor of the law is entitled to another chance.

MY OWN personal opinion is that the young man should be extended every privilege of readjusting his life. He was a baby, so to speak, when he got the jolt for murder. He was sentenced to life imprisonment, made good in prison, and is ready to start all over at 32 years of age.

I feel that if this young man can pitch as they say he could, when he was starting out in 1949, maybe he can help some ball club. But principally the point involved here is not whether he can or cannot pitch, but whether he is acceptable to baseball.

A lot of ex-cons were big league timber when John Law caught up with them. And after they served their time, paid off the debt to society, they found themselves out of step with organized baseball.

Men in prison develop muscles uncommon to athletic ability, even though they do play some baseball, all kinds of sport, and often play games with outside teams who visit prisons for the sake of helping rehabilitate men who are confined.

I CAN'T for the life of me see why a ball player with a prison pitching record should be barred. If they just give him a chance, he'll likely prove that he can't keep step with big leaguers and in my opinion it is very doubtful whether he can make it in the minors.

I talked yesterday with a pal who once played in a game at San Quentin against the pitcher who is now applying for reinstatement in organized baseball.

What type of pitcher was he, I inquired.

"He was mean, miserable and had a terrible temper," my friend remarked. "Our gang began to ride him in the closing innings of the contest and called him a clown. He didn't understand it and thought we were calling him 'Con.'

"AND OUR first batter hit the dirt four straight times to keep from getting beaned.

"I happened to follow the batter he attempted to bean and, believe me, I kept one foot free. But he sure was a mean guy, and finally, after walking me on four purposely delivered bean ball pitches, the prison manager yanked him from the game."

Which is indeed interesting. If the guy has that kind of a temper and that sort of a disposition, he won't last one full game in today's jockey riding circuit.

Why a guy like Jimmy Dykes, once considered the toughest ribber in the coaching racket, would have the guy under his spell in no time.

WHICH REMINDS me when Babe Pinelli, the recently retired National League umpire, first went up to the majors he had the reputation of being a hot-headed fellow and one who could handle his fists pretty well. In fact, had Pinelli wanted he could have become a world champion in the lightweight or middleweight division, that's how good he was at fisticuffs.

But Pinelli went up to the majors and stayed for 20 years and never once blew his top.

That is why I say the young man now applying for reinstatement has my endorsement for a chance to make it.

But in 1949 a pitcher with promise can hardly be considered a really great prospect in 1959, especially when he hasn't been in active professional baseball leagues for 10 years.

But let's hope baseball gives him a chance and he makes good.

Rookie May Join Braves' Mound Corps

NEW YORK (AP) — A young southpaw pitcher who only three years ago had to give up baseball because of diabetes may crack through Milwaukee's solid pitching front and earn a place on the Braves' mound staff.

Bob Hartman, 21, last year won 20 games while losing only 10 for Atlanta and was one of the earned run leaders in the Southern Assn. with .292.

Signed too a $4,000 bonus after graduating from Kenosha, Wis. High School in June of 1955, the husky blond 17-year-old gained his pro baptism at Beaumont of the Texas League and won three of eight decisions.

Farmed out to Wichita the next year, Hartman became ill and received the stunning news that he had diabetes. After undergoing treatment all that year and part of the next, Hartman returned to action and finished the '57 season with an unimpressive 4-7 record at Atlanta.

From the start of the 1958 season, however, Hartman was a ball of fire. His main assets are a blinding fast ball and what his manager at Atlanta, Buddy Bates, called "a major league curve."

Fights Last Night

NEW YORK—Stefan Redl, 149½, Passaic, N.J., oupointed Danny Russo, 151, Brooklyn, 10.

A KING-SIZED PROBLEM

When Roger Helser (left) of Indianapolis was 14 years old, he wore size 14 shoes. Now he's 16 and so are his feet. His problem and that of his school coach is "where do we go from here?" Athletic shoes don't come any bigger. Bug Roger's feet . . . well, at the rate things are going, who knows? With Roger is his brother, Terry, who is 14. But Terry only wears size 13 shoes. Roger, a junior, stands 6 feet, 1½ inches tall and weighs 210 pounds. (UPI photo)

Miller Should Go Slow, In Giving Away Eel Water

Marin's new Congressman in Washington, Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera, has proposed handing over water from Eel River, just north of here, to Los Angeles in order to avoid "a dreadful dispute" over the project.

Clem never struck us as being willing to give away something in Northern California to Southern California just to avoid a dispute, so we hope he has been misunderstood.

But he goes on to say he hopes the Eel River project doesn't get into a hassle between state and federal governments which might slow the project.

One way to avoid an intra-state fight would be for the North Coastal counties to go along with the South's request for water, he said.

The congressman has concluded that the "interests of our north coastal area and those of the metropolitan districts in the south may be parallel."

How did he reach that conclusion?

Miller has been "importuned almost daily by representatives of Southern California water interests," he reports.

Let's not get too hasty, Congressman Miller. Your constituents may not be able to afford lobbyists to importune you daily about their interests. But you can be sure your constituents have definite opinions.

Even if, as you say, there is enough water for all our needs, including Marin's, and plenty left over for the South too, what do we get out of it? Just avoiding a fight?

That's not enough. Our water is worth more than that. Surely you can get us a better bargain by not jumping at the first offer.

Flourishing Immigrant To Marin

As we inhale the fragrance of eucalyptus on a damp winter day, we are reminded that these handsome evergreens did not always grace our Marin hills. They were brought to California during the latter part of the last century from their native Australia.

These majestic trees are among the world's tallest and fastest growing. Some have a huge girth and grow to 300 feet in height. A common Marin species, eucalyptus globulus, also known as the Blue Gum, has been known to grow as much as 80 feet in eight years.

There are many varieties of eucalyptus in California. Three of these are considered to have "gone wild" in Marin and are now self propagating. Today silver spires of Eucalptus probe the Marin skies in many localities and spread their exotic fragrance on the rain-wet air.

GIVE TEACHERS YOUR ENCOURAGEMENT

In a six-year study conducted by the Board of Education in Rochester, New York, it was discovered that young people looked for "ability" in their teachers above all else. Twenty-five per cent ranked "friendliness" second while 22% voted for "strictness."

If you wish to encourage teachers with these important qualities, let them know that you have their interests at heart. You can show them that you appreciate that the teacher holds the key to good education by doing the following:

(1) Find ways and means to see that they receive the same reasonable salary that you would expect if you were doing their jobs.

(2) Take steps to ensure for them the attention and respect which their position of responsibility deserves.

If you make a special effort to back up teachers who are wholeheartedly dedicating themselves to teaching, you will be performing an important service that is pleasing to God and beneficial to everyone.

"Good instruction shall give grace. (Proverbs 13:15)

Bless all those, O Loving Savior, who devote the best years of their lives to teaching.

Ike Rejects Plea Of Some In GOP To Curb Labor's Role In Politics

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Eisenhower message on labor legislation to be sent to Congress this week will represent the views of Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

It will reject the views of Postmaster Gen. Arthur E. Summerfield and other Republicans who want to crack down hard on the political activity of organized labor. In a speech last month, Summerfield put it this way:

"America today teeters on the precipice of a labor-bossed Congress . . . this means that Congress will not be guided by the traditional principles of either party.

"I think it is high time that the American people demand that the political activity of organized labor be brought within reasonable bounds, and clearly governed by law."

Mitchell in a press conference last week rejected Summerfield's estimate of labor's influence in Congress. There is considerable evidence, however, of the very great political power now and for some years past enjoyed by the leaders of organized labor, largely in the Democratic Party. The staff of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee prepared before the 1958 elections a thick volume under the title:

"The Labor Bosses — America's Third Party."

The volume's foreword cited what the staff regarded as two especially significant bits of evidence in the form of public statements. The first was made in July, 1952, by the late Vice President Alben W. Barkley during the Democratic National Convention. Barkley said:

"SINCE ARRIVING in Chicago I have learned that certain self-anointed political labor leaders have taken upon themselves to announce their opposition to me as a Democratic nominee for president. They have admitted to me that weeks ago they committed themselves to a program and to candidates other than myself which would give them greater control of the machinery and policies of the Democratic Party."

The second statement was attributed to Louis Hollander, president of the New York State CIO. Hollander predicted in February, 1955, a complete realignment in American politics in the next five to 10 years — and added:

"I BELIEVE that we can force the reactionaries of both old parties to form their own third party. Then labor can sit down and rebuild one of the two remaining parties, supporting the liberals who stay on."

The staff committee's comment on the foregoing was this:

"Thus, the hold of the labor bosses on the Democratic Party has, for all practical purposes, rendered responsible Democratic leadership virtually impotent. And, equally, it is apparent from Mr. Hollander's statement that the ultimate goal of the labor bosses is not merely to take over the Democratic Party, but to eliminate it — along with the Republican Party — as a decisive force in American politics."

Hospital Care In Marin Excellent

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

A popular magazine currently condemns hospitals in general based upon the relative inferior showing of three hospitals among four hundred now operating in California. None of these three hospitals are in Marin County.

This distorted report is presumably taken from a survey initiated by the California Medical Association in 1955 in searching for ways to improve doctor-patient and hospital relations.

We do not believe that everything is perfect in our hospitals. However, with the physical plants now available and within the limitations of increasing operating costs we feel that excellent medical care is available here in this county.

We regret that this magazine article may actually harm a patient's confidence in hospitals by increasing the natural insecurity of any ill person requiring hospitalization.

Tax Revolution Way Past Due

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Congratulations on your editorial regarding the importance of reducing excessive spending at the federal level of government. Let's hope you are correct in your impression that a "tax revolution" is brewing among the electorate. It is way past due.

As the tax burden grows ever more onerous and takes the substance of ever more people, such a revolt is certain to erupt. It is already later than some federal spendthrifts may think!

Brown's Labor Program No Sop But Effort To Curb Labor Abuse

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Regardless of whether Gov. Edmund G. Brown's labor program as submitted to the state Legislature gets any place, it at least represents an effort on the part of the governor to curb some situations that have grown up in employer-employee relationships over the years.

While the crushing defeat of the "right-to-work" legislation on last November's ballot was a clear indication that the voters of California have no use for the extreme action of giving people a choice as to whether or not they want to belong to a labor union in order to make a living, there nevertheless remains much to be done in making the operation of the unions fair and impartial.

GOVERNOR BROWN, who was bitterly opposed to "right-to-work," his opposition being one of the items which contributed most to his election, has not failed to recognize the necessity for some governmental regulation of the labor unions.

He pointed out that the state has established uniform standards of conduct for banks, corporations, utilities and other free enterprise institutions, and that democratic society has determined the common interest requires government regulate the activities of labor unions as well, insofar as their management is concerned.

Thus, the governor proposes to give the Department of Industrial Relations wide powers in controlling union activities and union officials.

HIS LEGISLATION suggests that complete reports on financial transactions between employers and union officials become matters of record, confidential as far as the public is concerned, but available to union members. He would make the giving of gifts or money a misdemeanor.

He also would provide ways and means of settling jurisdictional disputes between unions without work stoppages, and at the same time virtually outlaw the so-called company union. Further, provisions for methods of union voting, to wrest control of the ballot from some of the established labor officials, are included in the legislation.

COMMENTS ON the governor's program indicate it is somewhat idealistic, and therefore, reasonably undesirable, at least to those employers and unions who might be working some of the "under-the-table" deals.

And it is far from practical to those union officials who maintain themselves in office through the procedure of controlling elections, a practice which was exposed during the campaign over the "right-to-work" constitutional amendment.

AS A RESULT, it is expected there will be some opposition to the governor's measures when the legislature starts its consideration of them, which will be in about a month from now.

But at least, the opinion that Governor Brown was sincere in his presentation of the legislation is prevalent. It is said he offered it not as a "sop" to those people who supported the "right-to-work" legislation, but rather as a real effort to secure functioning of California's labor unions as an integral part of the state's economic picture on behalf of all the people.

Mark Twain once became deeply involved in a political campaign, and invaded hostile territory to make a speech on behalf of his candidate-friend. The gallery began aiming decayed vegetables and eggs in Twain's direction. One large cabbage caught him square on the noggin. Twain won the grudging admiration of his audience by scrutinizing the cabbage intently, then drawling, "Ladies and gentlemen, I perceive that one of my adversaries has lost his head."

An emissary to the UN who is nine parts ham and one part statesman, and whose frequent speeches can empty the assembly hall in three minutes flat, fainted dead away after one particularly violent peroration. An anxious assistant ran up to the chairman and whispered, "Smelling salts have failed to revive him."

"Smelling salts!" scoffed the chairman. "Just wave a microphone under his nose!"

Richardson Bay Tidelots Pose Big Question To Supervisors

One of the big questions currently before the Marin Board of Supervisors is whether some 23 acres of Richardson Bay tidelots should be condemned by the county to preserve a seaplane landing basin. The proposal has been advanced by Bob Law, president of Commodore Aviation, who says the firm's seaplane base is threatened with extinction by various Richardson Bay development plans.

A staunch opponent of Law's proposal is Warren Outten of Tiburon, owner of property adjoining the area Commodore wants the county to condemn.

Appearing before the supervisors last week, Outten noted that a considerable stretch of Richardson Bay tidelands has been preserved as a wildlife sanctuary.

The noise of seaplanes landing and taking off would "drive away ducks from this game refuge," Outten told the board.

"You mean," inquired Supervisor Bill Fusselman, "that he (Law) is scaring away all the birds the birdwatchers want to watch?"

"Well," Outten replied, "I figure if we've acquired that area for the birds, let's GIVE it to the birds!"

THE ARMY Corps of Engineers threw a scare into the supervisors recently by announcing that federal funds for the proposed Coyote Creek flood control project in Tamalpais Valley have been declared "available for revocation and transfer" to other worthy projects.

Col. John S. Harnett, district engineer, explained by letter that the projects which may get Coyote Creek money already have met all requirements for local cooperation.

Tam Valley residents have yet to "cooperate" by raising $30,000 themselves. Formation of a special assessment district to pick up the necessary local moolah is a distinct possibility. It'll be the subject of a public hearing before the board next week.

Colonel Harnett attempted to soften the impact of his letter by saying he'd try to get construction funds back into the Coyote Creek project "as soon as the local requirements have been provided."

This assurance appeared to satisfy all the supervisors except Fusselman, who figured the federal money might be gone for good.

"But, Bill," said Supervisor Vera Schultz to her skeptical colleague, "it says right here in the letter that 'every effort will be made to expedite construction of the improvements for Coyote Creek as soon as . . .'"

"Sure, sure," snapped Fusselman, cutting her off. "I want to take off 40 pounds, but I don't know whether I'll ever do it or not!"

AT THE RISK of being branded subversive, we would like to recommend to postal officials adoption of the Soviet Russian method of addressing a letter. It was called to our attention by a Marin stamp collector who knows about such things, and it's so simple we wonder why America hasn't followed suit.

What the Russians do is apply a little reverse "English" by listing the name of the city first, then the street address, then the name of the letter's recipient.

Why not? It could save post office employees a heck of a lot of time.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Ten Washington Newsmen Asked And Tell Opinion Of Dick Nixon

The most controversial figure in Washington, personally and politically, continues to be Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The most controversial questions about him are:

Has he or hasn't he, does he or doesn't he? That is, has he changed significantly, does he have genuine convictions?

And a third question: How capable is he?

As a correspondent who gets about the country a fair amount, my own experience is that this controversy — and curiosity — about Mr. Nixon is not confined to the political hot-house called Washington Nearly every conversation where I've been brings up the subject of what you think about Nixon. Audiences pepper you with more questions about the Vice-President than any other single individual.

NOW "PAGEANT" magazine, instead of attempting its own profile, has sought the judgments of a whole panel of observers on these Nixonian question marks. It asked 10 veteran newspaper men and women for "their own unvarnished opinions, not the official 'lines' of their newspapers."

There is a wide range to the replies and two hedge with large qualifications. Space does not permit a quoting of all the opinions. However, on the assumption that 10 seasoned views are better than one, I have attempted to work out an objective box score of the answers to three of the principal questions bearing on the Nixon personality.

IT COMES OUT like this:

	Yes	No	Yes & No
Has changed	6	2	2
Has convictions	6	2	2
Is very able	9	0	1 (don't know)

Here are some sample observations:

Definite opinion from Raymond Brandt (St. Louis Post-Dispatch): "I think he has (changed), very much for the better."

Sharp dissent from Harold Davis (Atlanta Journal): "Do grown men change very much? If he was a cruel man in 1952, he is a cruel man today, although he conceals it well now."

Woman's opinion from May Craig (Gannett Newspapers): "Yes, of course, he's changed. He's grown because he has made the most of the unique opportunity he has had . . ."

Unusual opinion from Louis Lautier (Negro National Press Assn.): "The best of Nixon is his Quaker background. I believe his attitude toward Negroes, specifically, is not due primarily to his political ambitions, but stems from that background."

I SUSPECT that most of the Washington correspondents who replied that they thought Nixon had changed and had genuine convictions are reporters who earlier held rather critical views of the vice president. What Nixon's supporters have to worry about most is whether public opinion generally has changed its estimate of Nixon as much as the newspapermen.

Right now the Gallup polls show Gov. Nelson Rockefeller narrowly besting Adlai Stevenson and Stevenson running slightly ahead of Nixon. Sen. Kennedy leads Nixon and Rockefeller runs a hairbreadth better.

It seems to me likely that the Republican political leaders will want to nominate Nixon in 1960.

Biting Nails Perfectly All Right; It Relieves Tension

DALLAS (AP)—A dental specialist defends such traits as biting fingernails, chain-smoking, chewing pencils and the like. They don't hurt your teeth, he says, but they do relieve tensions and are better than going home and yelling at the wife and kids.

Dr. Maury Massler of the University of Illinois said in an interview that chewing habits are valuable mechanisms for releasing tensions.

He said thumb-sucking in a baby is a sign of contentment—a young child sucks his thumb as a substitute for a nipple. Most children stop this at the age of 3 or 4, he added.

On reaching the age of frustration, Dr. Massler said, many children switch from thumb-sucking to nail-biting.

The children's dentist said thumb-sucking may cause protruding teeth, if continued beyond age 6, but nail-biting does not hurt the teeth.

"Almost every adult has a chewing habit of some sort," Dr. Massler said. "It was found in World War II that the best pilots were not the calm ones but those who bit their nails or chewed their lips."

Chain-smoking or nibbling on pencils all day is much preferable, he said, to going home bursting with frustration and bellowing at your wife and children.

Dr. Massler said chewing gum isn't such a hot idea. It contains sugar and that's bad for your teeth, he said.

Public To Be Told Facts In Tax Election

Residents of the Tamalpais Union High School District who want to know the facts about the special rate increase election will have another opportunity tomorrow night to get these facts, when a public meeting will be held in Greenbrae School's multi-purpose room.

The meeting, sponsored by the Greenbrae Parent-Teacher Assn., will begin at 8 p.m. Its subject is the election to be held Feb. 17 on a proposal to increase the rate ceiling for Drake, Redwood and Tamalpais High Schools from the present $1.25 to $1.90.

District Supt. Chester Carlisle will be the speaker, and a question and answer session will follow his talk.

Howard I. McGill, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Education, said a factbook on the election, for those unable to attend the meeting, may be obtained by phoning WAbash 4-1800.

Storm Ices Up Eastern U.S., But Flood Threat Alleviates

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A storm belt girdling the nation's midsection glazed highways with freezing rain, snow and sleet from the southern plains to the mid-Atlantic.

However, the precipitation produced no further flood threats to Ohio and Pennsylvania, where swollen rivers continued to drop. Flood refugees were returning to their water-damaged homes and states of emergency were lifted in most stricken communities.

ICE STORM

The treacherous ice storm broke out last night in a band stretching from Kansas and Oklahoma across northern Arkansas and Missouri and into the Ohio Valley and the mid-Atlantic states.

Two to three inches of snow blanketed the Oklahoma Panhandle and freezing rain glazed roads in the northwest, central and south central portions of the state.

A wave of cold air pushed into the northern third of the country under clearing skies.

TEMPERATURES FALL

Temperatures along the leading edge of the cold air mass skidded 10 to 20 degrees from north central Texas northeastward to the Ohio River and southeastern Pennsylvania.

A United Press International count showed 128 deaths blamed on weather-connected traffic accidents, exposure, exhaustion, tornadoes and floods since the outbreak of winter's worst storms a week ago.

There were 19 deaths in both Ohio and Wisconsin, 14 in Michigan, 13 in Illinois, 10 in both Indiana and New York, 8 in Pennsylvania, 5 each in Kentucky, Kansas and Oklahoma, 4 in Iowa, 3 in Missouri, 2 each in Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Mexico, Rhode Island, Texas and Washington and 1 in North Dakota.

A Pennsylvania mine inspector said it would be several days before large scale pumping operations could begin at Pittston, Pa., where 12 miners were trapped underground by Susquehanna River floodwaters.

Hospital Board To Elect Officers

The Marin General Hospital District board will elect officers tonight at 8 o'clock at the hospital.

The board also is expected to accept the recently tendered resignation from the board of its president, John F. O'Connell. Mrs. Marion C. Ibach, secretary, said she doubted the board would take any action tonight in naming a successor.

Other business on the agenda includes reports on the North Marin petition for exclusion from the district and the new county welfare and emergency contract. The administration will ask the board to consider a salary differential for the afternoon shift at the hospital.

The meeting will be held in the doctors' lounge.

Foundation Backs Bay Authority

Endorsement of the principle of the formation of the Golden Gate Authority was announced today by the Marin Development Foundation.

The authority would consolidate operation, financing and promotion of the Bay Area's transportation facilities.

Enabling legislation is scheduled to be presented in Sacramento by Marin's Sen. John F. McCarthy.

The foundation's action was announced by president Walter F. Freitas.

Paradise Guild Sets Benefit For Friday

The Paradise Guild of Sunny Hills is anticipating a gala evening of wine-tasting and art on Friday.

The Village Fair will present an unusual background for the party with artist Pat Cucaro personally showing many of his works at the Marin Art Gallery. Cucaro's paintings have brought him widespread fame with such distinguished art lovers as William Holden, Joseph Cotten, Edward G. Robinson, Alistaire Cook, Patrice Munsel, and Molly Goldberg. Impressionist in school, Cucaro's paintings are vivid and definite in their use of color. He has given one-man exhibits in New York, Boston, Chicago, and other major cities including San Francisco.

"Paris Rooftops," an original Cucaro oil valued at $150 is being donated, the proceeds from which will go to Sunny Hills.

A variety of wines from Beaulieu Vineyards will be served guests as they stroll through the shops in Village Fair. Each shop window will be gayly decorated in the spirit of "An Interlude of Wine and Art."

Tickets may be purchased at the Marin Art Gallery, Lorne and Wilson Liquors in Kentfield or through Mrs. Rolin V. Amick in Corte Madera.

Their homeless canary will be waiting patiently by the telephone, in hopes that a generous soul will lend the Troupers a home for him. If you know of a spare old birdcage, call Gayle Charles at the College.

Hartzell P-TA Curriculm Is Discussed

Too much—or not enough curriculum, was the subject of a panel discussion by parents and educators at the recent meeting of Oliver Hartzell School Parent-Teacher Association.

The moderator, William Hatcher, was introduced by Margaret Klebanoff, legislation chairman. Mr. Hatcher submitted the questions to the panel.

Richard Foster, assistant superintendent of instruction for Marin County Schools, was posed the question of "What has been done to make more use of our schools during summer vacation and what can be done in our district?" Roy Calder, system analyst at Crocker Anglo National Bank, answered the question: "How well has the study of history, geography and civics been integrated into the Social Studies program?" Question of Mrs. Eve Geiger, supervisor of elementary education for San Rafael City Schools, was "What can be done to enrich the curriculum to include foreign languages and other subjects for our children." Mrs. Marion Congdon, third grade teacher at Oliver Hartzell spoke on "How much freedom does the average teacher have as to curriculum and discipline?" A lively question period followed the panel discussion.

During the brief business session, Mrs. Dorothy Glasson, parliamentarian, stated that a nominating committee would be elected by the membership at the February meeting.

Mrs. Robert Adams, president, appointed Mesdames Linn Roberts, Edward Strachan and John Glasson, a committee to select the person most eligible for the honorary life membership in the California Parent-Teacher Association. The life membership is awarded to that individual who has an outstanding record of service to children or child welfare.

Refreshments were served by the third grade room mothers.

Stephanie Koret's '59 Collection To Be Shown At Focus Luncheon

A paradox in the dynamic world of fashion is chic, soft spoken Stephanie Koret, the famed San Francisco designer, whose 1959 summer collection will be shown next Tuesday at Rickey's "Fashion Focus" luncheon which will honor the Junior Museum Service League.

Consistently avoiding the spotlight, Mrs. Koret combines an international fashion career with a quiet, home-centered life with her husband. And she manages to make her busy schedule seem easy!

After studing at the San Francisco School of Fashion Design, she found her professional designing career launched unexpectedly by her marriage to a young sweater salesman, Joe Koret. In shopping for skirts to wear with the sweaters her husband sold, Mrs. Koret found that she couldn't find skirts or jackets to match specific sweaters. So she and her husband solved the problem by starting their own business which has grown from a small loft in downtown San Francisco to the country's largest manufacturer of women's diversified sportswear.

"It is for the 'young' women of every age that I've created ml 1959 summer collection, 'Designs for Young Living,'" Mrs. Koret told Marion Bellamy, coordinator of the fashion series. "Because," continued the renowned designer, "women of every age are 'young' and exciting in viewpoint, appearance and fashion outlook."

And it is for the "young" women of every age that Fashion Focus has planned the special Feb. 3 fashion show luncheon, "Cross Country With Koret." To fill every summer need and mood in Marin, cross country or around the world, the attractive Junior Museum Service League models will parade in Stephanies Koret's dramatic, flattering, easy-to-care-for fashions that are a rainbow of color in bold solid tones and brilliant prints to mix and match as the mood dictates.

DESIGNER Stephanie Koret's 1959 summer collection of coordinated sportswear will be previewed on Feb. 3 at the Rickey's "Fashion Focus" luncheon which will honor the Junior Museum League. Mrs. Koret will be a special guest. (Romaine-Skelton photo).

The travel-minded Feb. 3 guest will see the cool, wrinkle free cotton knits perfect for "Weekender" trips; equally vacation minded will be the swimsuits, playwear and spectator ensembles in shades of Pacific Coral, Ocean Green and Island Gold.

Since no summer wardrobe is complete without fashions for town and after five, the Stephanie Koret collection includes inspired "Townwear" outfits to wear from spring through summer.

And as a special surprise for the "Cross Country With Koret" guests, the models will parade in the newest Stephanie Koret beach fashions which will be making news around the world very soon, but which will be seen in Marin for the first time.

The "Fashion Focus" series is open to the public and reservations are made by calling Rickey's Rancho Rafael. Luncheon is served at 12:30 and the fashion show begins at 1 o'clock.

CUBAN TRIAL TONED DOWN — The circus atmosphere was absent as the second Cuban "war crimes" trial was held, this time in army headquarters outside Havana. But the verdict was the same—former army Capt. Pedro Morejon Valdes (standing in center in this photo) was found guilty and sentenced to death. (AP Wirephoto)

CASTRO'S BROTHER WEDS

Raul Castro, younger brother of Cuban rebel leader Fidel Castro, and his bride, the former Vilma Espin Guillois, were the center of a happy throng after their wedding in Santiago. The bride, a member of the insurgent group during the rebellion that overthrew dictator Fulgencio Batista, donned lace gown for the occasion. Dulles Says Time Ripe For Big Four Session

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today it would be timely to have a Big Four foreign ministers conference sometime this spring on European and German problems, including Berlin.

At the same time, Dulles warned that Russia is trying hard to delude the United States into thinking it wants to end the cold war. Actually, he said, the Soviet is seeking military and political advantages.

As for a Big Four foreign ministers meeting, he told his news conference, there is always a possibility of persuading the Communists into making agreements which do not give undue advantages or disadvantages to either side.

Dulles cited the Korean armistice, the Austrian peace treaty and last year's Soviet-American agreement on cultural exchanges as evidences of worthwhile agreements that have been reached between the East and West.

Dulles said the worth of a Big Four foreign ministers meeting would depend on whether the Russians are willing to discuss German and European problems on a broad basis or make an effort, as they have in the past, to restrict the talks to items on which they alone are interested.

Dulles made it clear, however, that the United States is willing to settle for a generalized agenda without insisting, as he sometimes has in the past, that all items be listed in detail before the meeting.

He also expressed willingness to discuss Poland's Rapacki Plan for demilitarization of Central Europe if the Russians wanted to bring it up in a general talk on European security.

economic and defense might" of the Soviet Union.

Although he said expansion of heavy industry would still have priority, Khrushchev promised the Soviet people a substantial rise in the standard of living as a result of the increase in his country's economic potentialities, further technical progress in all economic spheres, and a "continuous growth of the productivity of Socialist labor."

On the international front, Khrushchev termed nuclear disarmament the "task of tasks" and said the Soviet Union would continue to work for a summit conference.

He offered no new solution for the Berlin crisis, a major source of East-West friction. He said neither East nor West Germany can be eliminated "without touching off a world war."

German unification can be achieved, he said, only through negotiations between the two Germanys. A peace treaty would "insure West Berlin's conversion into a free city," he added. The West has rejected the Soviet free city proposal and wants free elections to unify Germany.

Khrushchev blamed the United States for tension in the Far East. He declared a zone of peace—an atom-free zone—must be created in the Far East and the entire Pacific Ocean area.

Sausalitan Caught In Morals Raid At S.P. Station

A Sausalito salesman is among 24 persons seized by Palo Alto police in a roundup of alleged perverts who made their meeting place the men's room of the Southern Pacific railroad station in Palo Alto.

Robert A. Hanrahan, 32, a television salesman of 249 San Carlos avenue, Sausalito, is one of 14 charged with misdemeanor vagrancy. Ten others were charged with felonious sex perversion. All were released on bail after arraignment in Palo Alto Municipal Court.

The arrests followed a week-long "stake-out" of the railroad station men's room. Officers stayed on duty around the clock in a secret vantage point from which they could watch goings-on in the men's room.

Larkspur Redevelopment Plans Get Mixed Reaction

An outline of plans for redevelopment of the Charles W. Rice property east of the Larkspur business district received mixed response at last night's meeting of the Larkspur Chamber of Commerce at the city hall.

Joseph B. Rice, San Rafael businessman, outlined tentative plans for construction of a supermarket between Cane and Ward streets and the related construction of new store fronts on Magnolia avenue business buildings along Rice lane. The plan would add 114 parking spaces.

Oakley Dexter, chamber of commerce president, said sharp opposition as well as favorable response greeted the presentation. One unsigned letter was read which vigorously attacked the proposal on a long list of grounds.

A special meeting of commerce meeting was scheduled for 8 p.m. next Monday at the city hall, for adjacent merchants and property owners to further discuss the plan. A second meeting, with representatives from the Clearwood Corp. of Berkeley, planner of the redevelopment, was set for Feb. 9.

A proposal to approve the Tamalpais Union High School District tax increase was tabled.

Convair Jet Airliner In First Flight

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Convair's 880 jet transport took off from Lindbergh Field today on its maiden flight.

The sleek white and gold airplane, which its designers said is the world's fastest commercial aircraft, used only one-half of the runway to be airborne.

As soon as the 129-foot 880 was airborne, chief engineering test pilot Don Germeraad put the plane in a gradual turn to take it over the Pacific Ocean and away from populated areas.

Today's flight was scheduled to last approximately two hours.

Convair has received orders from many major airlines for the 615-mile-per-hour 880 transport. The first 880s are expected to go into airline service in the spring of 1960.

Africans Riot Anew Against Congo Whites

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—European cars were stoned and street signs broken in Leopoldville today in another flare of violence by a mob of young Africans.

Police quickly scattered the rioters.

The trouble started when the owner of a shop burned out during independence riots early this month saw a young African apparently trying to take something from the ruins.

The shop owner, a Portuguese, kicked the African who was taken to a dispensary for treatment.

Rumors spread that the African had been killed and hundreds of Africans began stoning European-driven cars, and tearing down street signs.

Police said no one was injured except the man hit by the shop owner.

In the four-day riots early in January, according to official figures, at least 42 Africans died, and scores of Europeans were injured. Unofficial estimates placed the deaths as high as 170.

A Belgian parliamentary committee sent to investigate the Leopoldville riots returned home today.

U. S. Atty. Robert H. Schnake declared yesterday in his opening statement:

"The magazine produced Communist charges of germ warfare which we will show to be untrue by testimony by men whose honor and integrity are beyond question — you will hear the truth about germ warfare."

The government plans to call as witnesses Gens. Matthew Ridgway and Mark Clark, top commanders in Korea, and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, former chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Also on the list of government witnesses are two Mill Valley residents. They are Randall C. Gould, 299 Hillsdale avenue, who was publisher of the Shanghai Evening Post and Mercury until after the Communists took over mainland China, and Raymond A. Quale of 208 Beryl avenue, an accountant.

"You will learn," Schnacke declared, "that this magazine was one of the major weapons of war used by the Chinese Communists to try to control the minds of our boys in prisoner of war camps."

Defense Attorney Doris Brin Walker unsuccessfully moved the charges be dismissed, saying the indictment returned against the defendants on April 25, 1956, made no mention of the magazine being used by the Reds in prisoner of war camps.

She also argued that sedition by definition is a wartime crime and that no war was declared in Korea.

Judge Louis Goodman refused her motions.

'Do-Re-Mi-Fa'—Remember Those Music Periods 'Way Back When?

Were you a monotone in school? Did you sing all the songs on one monotonous note? I did. I remember the misery of those awful music periods. I was disgraced every day. Were you? I hope not.

Did you know we have no monotones in our good schools nowadays? That's a fact. Well-trained kindergarten and first grade teachers know how to help the kids who can't carry tunes. They have games for them to play. And drills which are fun. By the time our youngsters reach second grade they all sing. Maybe their voices aren't beautiful. But they sing. What's more, they enjoy it.

There have been other improvements in elementary school music. Do you remember the "do re me fa so la ti do" syllables? Remember the exercises we did with them? Half the time in our music periods went to those syllables. The theory was they'd make it possible for us to pick up a new piece of music and sing it on sight. But we never did. Did we? Nowadays in many schools those syllables are unknown. In others they've been de-emphasized.

There's been a big change in the songs the children sing. Remember the inane ditties we learned? No point to most of them. Look at any modern school music book. You'll be surprised how nice the songs are now.

Instrumental music has blossomed. School districts buy instruments. They loan them to qualified youngsters. Capable teachers make the rounds, teaching them. The school instrumental lessons are no substitute for private instruction. But they're a beginning.

Sometimes I hear folks say the schools are getting worse. Then I think of what's happened to music, and grin. How wrong the critics are!

Reply. No, you'll gain nothing. Later on he may be interested in another instrument. If so, give him the chance to learn it. But stop the piano lessons now.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. each day the code letters are different.

'Brave New World' Almost Here—Huxley

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—British novelist Aldous Huxley warned yesterday that his "Brave New World" is becoming a reality—500 years ahead of schedule.

In 1932, Huxley published his novel of that name, picturing a world where people are ruled—not by cruelty and force—but by genetic pre-conditioning and drugs to keep them complacent and yet obedient.

The 64-year-old author told a meeting of psychiatrists and pharmacologists that they had brought his brave new world a lot closer with drugs that quiet the mind, speed up its action or produce visions.

"When I set my fable in the 6th Century after Ford," he said, "I badly underestimated the time it would take to reach that state. Unless we stop and think and learn to use facts as a basis for rational action, I fear for my grandchildren—they will grow up in a regimented world."

Huxley said that thanks to new drugs, the dictators of the future will have no need to bully men into obedience and conformity.

"They will get men to love their servitude," he said.

Crash Blocks Waldo Tube; Driver Hurt

Nicholas Konpaniec, 33, of 248 Green street, Mill Valley, suffered an injury to his left eye in a 7:45 a.m. accident today that clogged southbound traffic entering Waldo Tunnel on the approach to the Golden Gate Bridge.

Betty Lou Flyge, 20, of 3 Hawthorne street, Belvedere, unexpectedly changed lanes in front of Konpaniec's southbound car, according to the California Highway Patrol. Konpaniec's car struck that driven by Miss Flyge and careened into the guard rail at the north end of Waldo Tunnel. The two cars skidded 100 feet into the tunnel, blocking all three southbound lanes for more than an hour.

Konpaniec, a draftsman, was taken to Marin General Hospital by a CHP officer.

Bill Would Keep State Court In S.F.

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill to permit the State Supreme Court to keep its headquarters in San Francisco was introduced in the Legislature today by a San Francisco assemblyman.

Milton Marks (R-San Francisco) authored the plan which would eliminate a provision in present law ordering the supreme court to maintain its headquarters in the state capital. The jurists have been ignoring the law for many years.

An earlier resolution by Assemblyman Frank Lanterman (R-La Canada) called on the court to observe existing law and move its seat to the capital city.

Merger Committee

The financial factors in a possible merger of Larkspur and Corte Madera were studied last night by the Corte Madera merger study committee in a meeting at Neil Cummins School.

Phil Arnone, chairman, said his committee has worked its way to page 44 in the 80-page merger report prepared by Public Affairs Research, Inc., and will meet again next Monday to continue study.

More Use Of Pills Urged To Combat Mental Illnesses

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Wider use by physicians of happy pills and pep pills to combat insanity was advocated today by a Columbia University research psychiatrist.

These two types of drugs, the tranquilizers and the energizers, may give mentally unbalanced persons a chance to use their own recuperative powers and can make the doctor's job easier, Dr. Nathan S. Kline told a seminar on the treatment of disease with chemicals. The meeting was sponsored by the University of California Medical School.

"No doctor ever cured a patient of anything," the psychiatrist said. "He only helps the patient to marshal his defenses and recuperative powers. Often when symptoms are relieved the patient gets well by himself."

Ambergris: It's Tough To Find But Worth It

SACRAFENTO (AP) — All it takes to be a good ambergris hunter is a good nose, a sharp eye, plenty of time and a whale of a lot of luck.

Even if a man has all that, the odds are still against him.

But with the stuff selling for up to $50 a pound who could blame anyone for trying?

The state Fish and Game Department says it can be done, and, if someone finds the treasure, he can make himself a little money.

Ambergris is that smelly but vital material that comes from sick sperm whales. It drifts onto seashores all over the world.

Despite its own stench, ambergris is highly prized by the perfume industry because it helps their product stay sweet by somehow preventing the good smells from losing their power.

The whales excrete ambergris in the ocean and it floats to shore.

The material is opaque, waxy-looking and usually appears to have layers. The color varies from black to gray with occasional mottling of yellow.

It's easy, however, to be foxed by something else.

There was one fisherman who found a large hunk of material floating in the water just after seeing some sperm whales swimming by.

It was hot summertime and when he finally got the stuff to his car it was pungent to say the least. Still, with visions of dollar signs floating in his mind, he jammed it in the trunk and set off to sell it.

No sale. Whatever it was, it wasn't ambergris.

But it did have a smell. The car was so fragrant thereafter that he finally had to sell it.

Your Nose Signals You When To Turn Over In Sleep

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's amazing what Ralph Riggs knows about noses.

"The nose of a Negro," says specialist Riggs, "is designed as an air cooler. The Caucasian's nose is an air heater."

Dr. Riggs, of Louisiana State University, got onto the subject while addressing a seminar on nose surgery recently at the College of Medical Evangelists.

"You can pretty generaliy figure," he said, "the wider the nose the warmer the climate."

Another thing about noses. They are part of the mechanism the body uses to make you turn over at night.

"In 70 per cent of the cases," said Dr. Riggs, "I can tell what side a person sleeps on by examining his nose. Really.

"A person is directed by his nose to turn over every hour or so. One side of the nose takes it easy while the other side takes over the task of doing most of the breathing. If you sleep on one side more than the other it will show up in your nose."

A man who really knows noses knows that surgery to change the appearance of the nose can have severe psychological effects.

Dr. Leland House of the college cautioned that such operations "can interfere with one's fixed point of reference."

Take away the nose you've been looking past all these years and what happens? You're lost.

If you have to have a new nose, he said, be sure you undergo psychological treatment before and after.

Both doctors agree that if you breathe through your mouth instead of your nose you're not getting all that's coming to you.

"A mouth breather gets 10 to 17 per cent less oxygen than a nose breather, and that's a fact," said Dr. Riggs.

Why? Nose breathers breathe more deeply. Try it and see.

Also, said Riggs, nose breathers don't snore, at least not as much.

Stay awake some night and check that, too.

Heart Disease Blamed For Most 1958 Deaths

Heart diseases accounted for more than one-half of all natural deaths investigated by the Marin County coroner last year.

Coroner Frank J. Keaton, who just completed his annual report, said his office investigated 138 natural deaths during 1958. Of these, 77 turned out to be heart disease victims. Trailing far behind as the second biggest killer was bronchopneumonia, which took a toll of 15 lives.

Any death which occurs without a doctor in attendance during the previous 48 hours becomes a coroner's case.

Among violent deaths, suicides led the list with 19 deaths, followed closely by motor vehicle deaths and drownings, with 17 victims each.

Of the 19 suicides, gunshots and barbiturates claimed five lives each, carbon monoxide took four lives, three died by hanging and two by arsenic poisoning.

VULNERABLE AGE

By age groups, those between 40 and 50 have the greatest tendency to take their own lives. And men outnumber women two to one in suicide. Under 20 years old, Marin had no suicide. Between 20 and 30, one man killed himself. Between 30 and 40, one man and one woman committed suicide. Between 40 and 50, six men and three women took their own lives. Then the suicides dropped to two men and two women in age 50 to 60, and three men in age 60 to 70.

Seven persons who went down in the bay in their private planes were listed as drowning victims. Others who died in water included three while swimming, two while fishing, one person who accidentally fell into a lake, and one who fell off a boat while fishing, two in swimming pools, one man who was swept into a creek in Fairfax while working.

MEN PAY DEARLY

Men are responsible for most of the fatal auto accidents, and they also pay dearly with their lives, Coroner Keaton reports. Of the 17 who died in car accidents, 15 were male and only two female. In each case where a death resulted, a male was behind the steering wheel.

By age groups, the most dangerous is the period between 20 and 30 years old. Six persons between those ages died in motor vehicle mishaps. There were four deaths in the 30-40 age group, two deaths in the 50-60 group, and one death in the 60-70 group.

Two boys under 20 years old died in traffic accidents.

Power Boats Ruled By Many Laws

SACRAMENTO (AP) — In California, where there are at least a third of a million outboard motors in use, laws for boat traffic are almost as strict and varied as they are for auto traffic.

There are some communities for instance, where you can be hauled into boat traffic court for speeding, recklessness, even for drunk boat driving.

And before that boat hits the water, its owner has to have an eye open for the law. All equipment must meet legal requirements.

A recent survey of boating laws by the state Recreation Commission showed that the boater is governed by a peculiar combination of federal, state and local rules.

Power boats operating on navigable waters are subject to the U.S. Motorboat Act of 1940, supplemented by safety and operating rules drawn up by the Coast Guard.

There is also a federal law requiring identifying numbers for some boats. And there are special rules in areas handled by the National Park Service and the Army Engineers.

The state, too, has regulations. The most important requires that all boats be registered with county assessors.

But most restrictions are local, under county or city control, and it's up to the boater to find out just what rules apply in the area where he's boating.

This lack of uniform boating laws caused the recreation commission to ask whether the state should have a basic set of laws for water traffic.

As a guide, the commission suggested possible use of a model act drafted by the Outboard Boating Club of America.

Until legislation provides a uniform set of laws, the boater will have to look out for himself. Otherwise, he'll end up in a boat traffic court, charged with violation of local, state or federal laws.

Nike Base Commanders Meet With McGaw

Brigade commanders of the Pacific Coast Nike installations and their principal officers met yesterday at Ft. Baker with their commanding general, Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, to discuss the Army's air defense program on the West Coast.

"Our goal must be to be 100 per cent operational at all times and to obtain a kill for every missile fired," said General McGaw.

Appraiser To Wed County Co-Worker

Philip J. Cullen Jr., former San Anselmo city councilman, will wed Ida Hoffman, a coworker of his in the county assessor's office. The wedding will be Saturday at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo.

Cullen, 31, is supervising appraiser for the Marin County Appraisal Commission, soon to be assimilated as part of the assessor's office. Mrs. Hoffman, 32, a divorcee, is employed as a secretary in the assessor's office. They have known each other about two years. Both are residents of San Anselmo.

After a one-week wedding trip to Las Vegas, they will be at home at 1503 San Anselmo avenue, San Anselmo.

DOUBLE CELEBRATION AT POLIO DINNER

Angelo Sabella gave his annual dinner for benefit of the March of Dimes last evening at Sabella's Restaurant in Alto, and was honored himself because the date was his birthday (he was coy about which one). More than 200 guests paid more than $2,500 into the March of Dimes, with food, drinks and service being donated. Charles Einstein, San Francisco sports writer whose son was a polio victim, is at Sabella's left with surprise birthday cake in photo. 200 Belvedere Residents Fete Ex-Police Chief

More than 200 Belvedere residents turned out last night to honor their former police chief, Eugene L. Meyer, with a testimonial dinner and going-away present.

Highlight of the affair at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon was the presentation to Meyer of a new Browning automatic shotgun.

Meyer, who had held the post of Belvedere police chief since 1951, resigned when he was named undersheriff by newly elected Marin Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos.

Master of ceremonies last evening was Melvin Gautier, who said the best tribute to Meyer was "the fact that during his tenure there has not been a single major crime committed in Belvedere."

Among those present to fete Meyer were Sheriff and Mrs. Mountanos and Meyer's successor in Belvedere, Chief William Woodington, and Mrs. Woodington.

Nurse Hurt As Car Flips

Sarah Jean McNichol, 33-year-old Marin County Health Department nurse, escaped without serious injury yesterday morning when her car flipped over on the Waldo Grade of Highway 101.

She was taken to Marin General Hospital by William Roberts, California Highway Patrol officer. Miss McNichol complained of a headache and neck pains.

She was just north of Spencer avenue when she apparently lost control of her small French-made car, hit the guardrail of the fastest northbound lane blew a tire, then spun around and crossed three traffic lanes, said Officer Roberts. Her car came to rest upside down against the east curb rail.

The accident happened shortly after 8 a.m. as Miss McNichol was northbound from her home in San Francisco to her job in San Rafael.

Tamalpais Student Candidate For Engineers Award

Carl Joseph Piluso, 17-year-old senior at Tamalpais High School was selected Saturday as Marin candidate for a $750 college scholarship sponsored by the Bay Area Engineers, according to Dean Potts, head of the high school mathematics department.

Young Piluso was considered with students of other Marin high schools during a screening Saturday morning by a committee of the engineers' group.

He will compete with representatives of other Bay Area zones in San Francisco Feb. 7 preparatory to Engineers Week scheduled to be held in San Francisco late next month.

Young Piluso is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Piluso of 978 Meadowsweet drive, Corte Madera. His father is a technician with the Army at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Talent Show Film For Polio Campaign

The Mill Valley March of Dimes drive will get an additional boost tomorrow night when a special benefit show including live talent will be presented at the Sequoia Theater in Mill Valley, according to Mrs. Lila Heffner, Miil Valley dimes drive chairman.

She said that arrangements have been made with theater manager William Gilmore to present entertainers who have participated in the famed Tamalpais Valley "Rhubarb Revue."

Cast members Bill Hoffman, Kay Barrett, Walt Lowden, Joe Allen and Maurie Batz have combined their talents under the direction of Mrs. Flo Glessner to complete the live talent program, Mrs. Heffner said.

In addition, the film "Interrupted Melody" with Glenn Ford and Eleanor Parker will be shown.

Quiz: Who Sponsors Dinah? 'Gunsmoke?' It's New Survey

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Quick, now! Who sponsors Dinah Shore on television? "Have Gun, Will Travel?" "Gunsmoke?" "Lawrence Welk?" "Jack Benny?"

Trendex, a rating service which makes weekly audience surveys, came up today with a new one—sponsor identification.

The results are surprising—the top rated shows by audience surveys often are the lowest in sponsor identification. This applies mostly to the TV Westerns.

Champion in the sponsor sweep stakes is Miss Shore with a whopping 87.3, meaning that nearly nine out of every ten people who see her show know what she sells. She has had the same sponsor all her eight years on TV.

The carmakers, who seem to stick with one star, came out best. Runners-up to Miss Shore are Lawrence Welk and Pat Boone at 80.8. Ernie Ford racked up a 74.4.

"Gunsmoke," generally champion on all audience surveys, had a 45.6 rating in the Trendex sponsor survey.

HIS CATS LIKE TV, BUT THEIR TASTES DIFFER

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Selecting television programs is a kittenish problem at the home of Harry Mowrey.

Mowrey said he has nine cats. Three of them like TV.

One he said, watches only Westerns and Phil Silvers.

A second watches only "You Asked For It."

The third, said Mowrey, "plays right along with football, basketball and hockey stars — and doesn't even know there are other television performers"

Local Tax Urged On Govt. Utilities

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Publicly-owned utilities would have to pay local taxes just like privately-owned utilities and other businesses if a bill introduced in the Assembly yesterday is approved by the Legislature.

Assemblyman Sheridan N. Hegland (D-La Mesa) offered the plan. He said it would save the taxpayers 40 million dollars a year.

Hegland said his bill was neither "for nor against public power.

"All we want is honest bookkeeping," he said. "There is no more reason for homeowners to pay higher taxes to subsidize a free ride for public power than for them to subsidize the automobile industry."

Youth's Chance Of Avoiding Military Service Gets Better

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mathematically, a young man's chances of avoiding military service are getting better every year.

Nevertheless, if you're healthy and reasonably intelligent, the top-heavy odds are that you'll spend part of your life in uniform.

These conclusions were reached today from statistics gathered during hearings by the House Armed Services Committee on a bill to extend the draft act for four more years.

Currently 70 per cent of the men who reach the top draft age of 26 have been in military service. By mid-1963, this will have dropped to 55 per cent.

SMALLER PERCENTAGE

What it boils down to is this: The number of draft-age men is swelling annually, while the needs of the armed services remain about steady.

This means that the armed forces need a smaller proportion of the nation's total population of young males.

However, this is largely offset by the fact that the Army recently has boosted its mental requirements, resulting in an 11 per cent increase in its rejection rate.

QUALIFIED MEN

So that while 55 per cent of all the men who reach 26 years of age in 1963 will have seen military duty, 78 per cent of those who are "qualified" physically and mentally will have been in uniform. That compares with 90 per cent of the "qualified" 26-year-olds now.

As it stands the draft law is set to expire June 30. There is some agitation against renewing it, but all signs indicate that Congress will give one-sided approval to the Eisenhower administration's request for a four-year extension.

Marin 4-H Council To Make Awards

The Marin County 4-H Club Council will hold its monthly meeting at Marion Street School in Novato at 7 o'clock tonight.

It will be a potluck dinner, at which the council will honor first year 4-H Club leaders by awarding achievement pins In addition, certificates of merit will be awarded for those who completed the sewing school.

The program will include Jim McNern and Loren Youngclaus. Young McNern will show slides of his trip to Chicago. He was the national winner in Boys Leadership while Youngclaus was first alternate in Citizenship and received an educational trip to the National 4-H Club Congress.

Teeners Prefer One Dance For All Ages

More than 120 members of the Mill Valley Teen-Agers Assn., who jammed the Mill Valley City Council chambers Saturday morning, defeated a proposal suggested by the adult committee that the group be divided into two groups with separate dances for each.

The committee had recommended that the group be set up in separate sections of Tamalpais High School students and Edna Maguire pupils.

At the same meeting, the Teen-Agers Assn. elected Mickey Johnston president. Other officers elected included Don Johnston, vice president; Anne Rice, secretary-treasurer; Stephanie Sullivan, membership; Erica Atkisson, dance; Paul Kordik, rules; Bill Rice, activities, and Carol Danford, publicity.

Mrs. John Clyde, adult activities chairman, announced that auto dealer Larry Brink had offered the use of his shop on alternate Saturday mornings where members may repair their cars under expert guidance.

Mrs. Clyde also announced that other activities with sponsors are available. She listed these as rifle and archery, Mr. and Mrs. John Crain; dramatics, Mrs. George Pritzker; dance practice, William Woods; jam sessions and music, Tom Chesnut.

Date for the next teen-age dance was set for Feb. 14 at 8 p.m. at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse.

NEW BRIDGE CROSSES CORTE MADERA CREEK

Carpenter Albert Lair works on pedestrian railing of new Bon Air bridge between Greenbrae and Larkspur. The new $100,000 crossing of Corte Madera Creek is expected to be complete by mid-February and will supplement the old "northern crossing" in the distance. The Larkspur City Council is expected to call for bids for the Magnolia avenue approach at its Feb. 4 meeting. Marin County will construct the approach from Bon Air road.

U. S. HOUSES DECLARED TOO COSTLY

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The average American home buyer wants a three-bedroom house, but he can't afford to pay for it, says a Seattle lumber company executive.

Robert V. Blackstock told the Southwestern Lumberman's Assn. convention the lumber industry and home builders should combine forces to build better houses for less money.

Blackstock said it can be done through such technological advances as off-site construction, pre-assembled window units and applied siding to save labor costs.

We need to unit in research to give the customer more for his money," Blackstock said.

Contempt Charge On Hayden Asked

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lawyers for Sterling Hayden's former wife today sought a criminal contempt citation against the strapping actor, believed sailing to the South Seas with his four children.

Attorneys Chester Smith and Marvin Mitchelson, representing Mrs. Betty Ann De Noon Hayden, had a date in superior court with Judge Emil Gumpert to seek the citation.

FORBIDS TRIP

Judge Gumpert awarded Hayden custody of the couple's four children, Jan. 15, but ruled against a sea-going movie-making trip planned by the actor in his 98-foot schooner Wanderer.

The vessel left Sausalito more than a week ago, ostensibly bound for Santa Barbara, but somewhere off the coast Hayden is reported to have ordered a change of course to Tahiti.

Smith and Mitchelson went to court yesterday to seek a citation. Judge Gumpert told them to go back to their law books and find if there was a legal precedent for holding Hayden in contempt without service of an order.

GRANTS REQUEST

The judge did grant the attorneys' request that a hearing on their motion for a contempt citation be held without waiting the usual five days.

The citation sought to have Hayden and each adult member of the Wanderer's crew of 13 held in "separate contempt" for each day of the voyage.

The attorneys also asked that Hayden's children be made wards of the juvenile court and that the court vacate a prior order giving the actor custody.

Tiburon Firemen Plan Open House Saturday

Tiburon Peninsula residents will have an opportunity to inspect their new $23,569 fire engine and tour the remodeled Tiburon boulevard firehouse Saturday afternoon when the Tiburon Fire Protection District holds open house from 1 to 6 p.m.

A parade of the five fire trucks through the district will begin at 11 a.m., according to Fire Chief Jack Ishmael.

Dedication ceremonies will start at 2 p.m., according to Asst. Fire Chief William R. Mooring, open house chairman.

Judge Richard M. Sims, of Marin Municipal Court, will be master of ceremonies for the program.

During the afternoon, the five fire trucks and the district's resuscitator will be operated by volunteer firemen for the public open house. A second resiscitator planned for the future Trestle Glen-Paradise drive firehouse will be on display also, Mooring said.

Refreshments, donated by Fred G. Zelinsky and chief Ishmael, will be served. There will be coffee and cake for adults and ice cream and cokes for children, Mooring said.

The new class "A" truck pumps 1,000 gallons of water per minute and carries a 500 gallon water tank and a booster pump, Ishmael said.

Rights Guarantees Sought In Mental Illness Hearings

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A measure designed to guarantee persons accused of mental illness at least the same civil rights enjoyed by criminals has been introduced in the Legislature.

Sen. Nelson Dilworth (R-Hemet) said his measure (SCA3), introduced yesterday, would enumerate the rights of a person who is to be committed—especially against his will—to a mental institution.

"As it now stands," Dilworth said, "a person accused of mental illness has a harder time defending himself than a criminal has."

Dilworth cited several sections of the Walfare and Institutions Code and said that they take away a man's rights to a jury trial, the benefit of counsel and the right to have witnesses appear in his behalf.

"Any police or health officer," Dilworth said, "now can arrest you as a person believed mentally ill and he doesn't have to have a warrant under sections 5050.3 and 6002 of the code.

"I'm not saying such abuses have occurred," Dilworth said, "but under the present law this could happen.

"Apparently," Dilworth continued, "in recent years we have been concerned with ways of committing persons to mental institutions without a lot of fuss. However, the code has provisions in it which could be used to deprive nearly anyone of his rights."

Prison Shop Aides To Be Searched

Vocational shop instructors at San Quentin Prison today had a new duty—searching inmates who work in the shops to make certain they do not carry out state-owned tools or home-made weapons.

Factor foremen in the industrial workshops have been inspecting inmates for years, Associate Warden W. D. Achuff said, but until now the vocational instructors have been exempted.

Searching in the vocational shops was done by custodial personnel. Now the custodians are needed elsewhere because of the prison overcrowding, Achuff added.

"Any state employee is subject to duty such as searching." The new ruling by Warden Fred R. Dickson will not apply to academic instructors, who are under contract with the San Rafael School District.

Elks Offer Scholarships

Deadline to apply for Elks Club scholarships is Feb. 26. Applications may be filed with John Clahan at 1825 Fourth street, San Rafael, chairman of the local Elks scholarship committee, or sent to the Elks Club lodge at Fifth and B streets, San Rafael.

The Elks National Foundation scholarships this year total $70,000. Any student in the graduating class of a high school or who is in an undergraduate (except senior) class of a recognized college may apply.

In addition to the national scholarships, the San Rafael Elks Club will make two scholarship awards of $200 to Marin students headed for colleges.

Details on how to apply may be obtained from Clahan or from the San Rafael Elks Club headquarters.

Bill Would Tighten Up Law On Drunk Driving

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — War was declared on the "cocktail set" today in a broad legislative attack on slightly tipsy as well as drunken drivers.

Sen. Donald L. Grunsky (R-Watsonville) said he would introduce in the Senate today a series of bills to tighten up state laws on drunken drivers, including one bill to broaden the legal definition of a drunken driver.

Grunsky said the measure defines a person as legally "under the influence" if his ability to operate a car is lessened to any degree.

"This is a much more strict definition than the present law and will draw considerable, and perhaps justified, opposition from the cocktail set who take a few drinks and drive," Grunsky said.

"The present law permits a driver's ability to operate his automobile to be seriously impaired by alcohol without attaching any penalty to the driver," Grunsky said. This is because he satisfies the present law if he can drive like "an ordinary prudent and cautious person."

The Watsonville Senator's measures for introduction today include another controversial issue — mandatory blood tests to determine drivers' sobriety or lack of it.

Another bill would pin a mandatory jail sentence on felony drunken driving—when drunken driving results in the injury of a person.

Grunsky introduced two bills yesterday to permit partial use of radar speed traps and plain-colored prowl cars by the Highway Patrol.

Chamber President's Message: Great Forward Steps Initiated In Past Year

It is with great pride that I take this opportunity of presenting to the citizens of Marin County the Annual Report of the Chamber of Commerce of the City of San Rafael. The activities of your Chamber in the past year are presented here for your information. The Board of Directors joins me in thanking the great number of persons who came forward during the year and who contributed so materially to the progress that we are reporting to you today.

1958 was a most successful and enlightening year for us all. It may well be that we may look back in years to come and know that some of the most significant changes to take place in San Rafael in many years had their origins in 1958. It was a year in which the downtown San Rafael area was beginning to show tremendous advancements. We noted with pride the erection and dedication of fine new buildings and the announcement of the plans to erect many others.

1958 was a year in which the Chamber would gratefully acknowledge the tremendous assistance of the members of the City Council and the Board of Supervisors of Marin County. The record to which we point with such pride would not have been possible without the friendly and helpful hand that was extended to us by the official family of the County of Marin and the City of San Rafael.

It has always been our aim to increase and enhance the economy of the entire community in which we live. It is our firm belief that the greatest good to San Rafael would come only if the maximum good was also derived for the entire county.

Many things come to mind as I write this report to you — many thing that I feel should be called to your attention because I know that you will appreciate the impact that these actions will have on your well-being. To highlight just a few:

FRED E. ENEMARK
Retiring President

1958 saw the establishment of the Marin Visitors Bureau which seeks to encourage the great tourist business and which can add so many fresh dollars to our economy with a very small investment. The culmination of the activities of this Bureau came with the publication of the first full-color brochure. This magnificent selling piece was made possible by the joint financial support of the County of Marin and the merchants who came forward with their help.

The Civic Affairs Committee had interested itself in the condition of the physical structures in downtown San Rafael, and as a result of their untiring efforts interested the property owners of the commercial area of San Rafael in doing something about it. As a result, we saw the formation of the Forward San Rafael Association, which is composed of property owners and tenant businessmen banded together for the greatest good for San Rafael. The services of your Chamber have been and will continue to be utilized to the fullest possible extent in order that this very important project may continue to flourish.

In closing this preface to our annual report, I am glad to take this opportunity of publicly expressing my heartfelt thanks to each and every member of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, the City Council of San Rafael, and my Board of Directors and committees, who have worked so hard and so earnestly toward a greater San Rafael. I commend to you all the able and efficient work of our Manager, Richard Shirley, and the staff of the Chamber headed by the personable and efficient Mrs. Ruth Kendall.

Cordially,
FRED F. ENEMARK

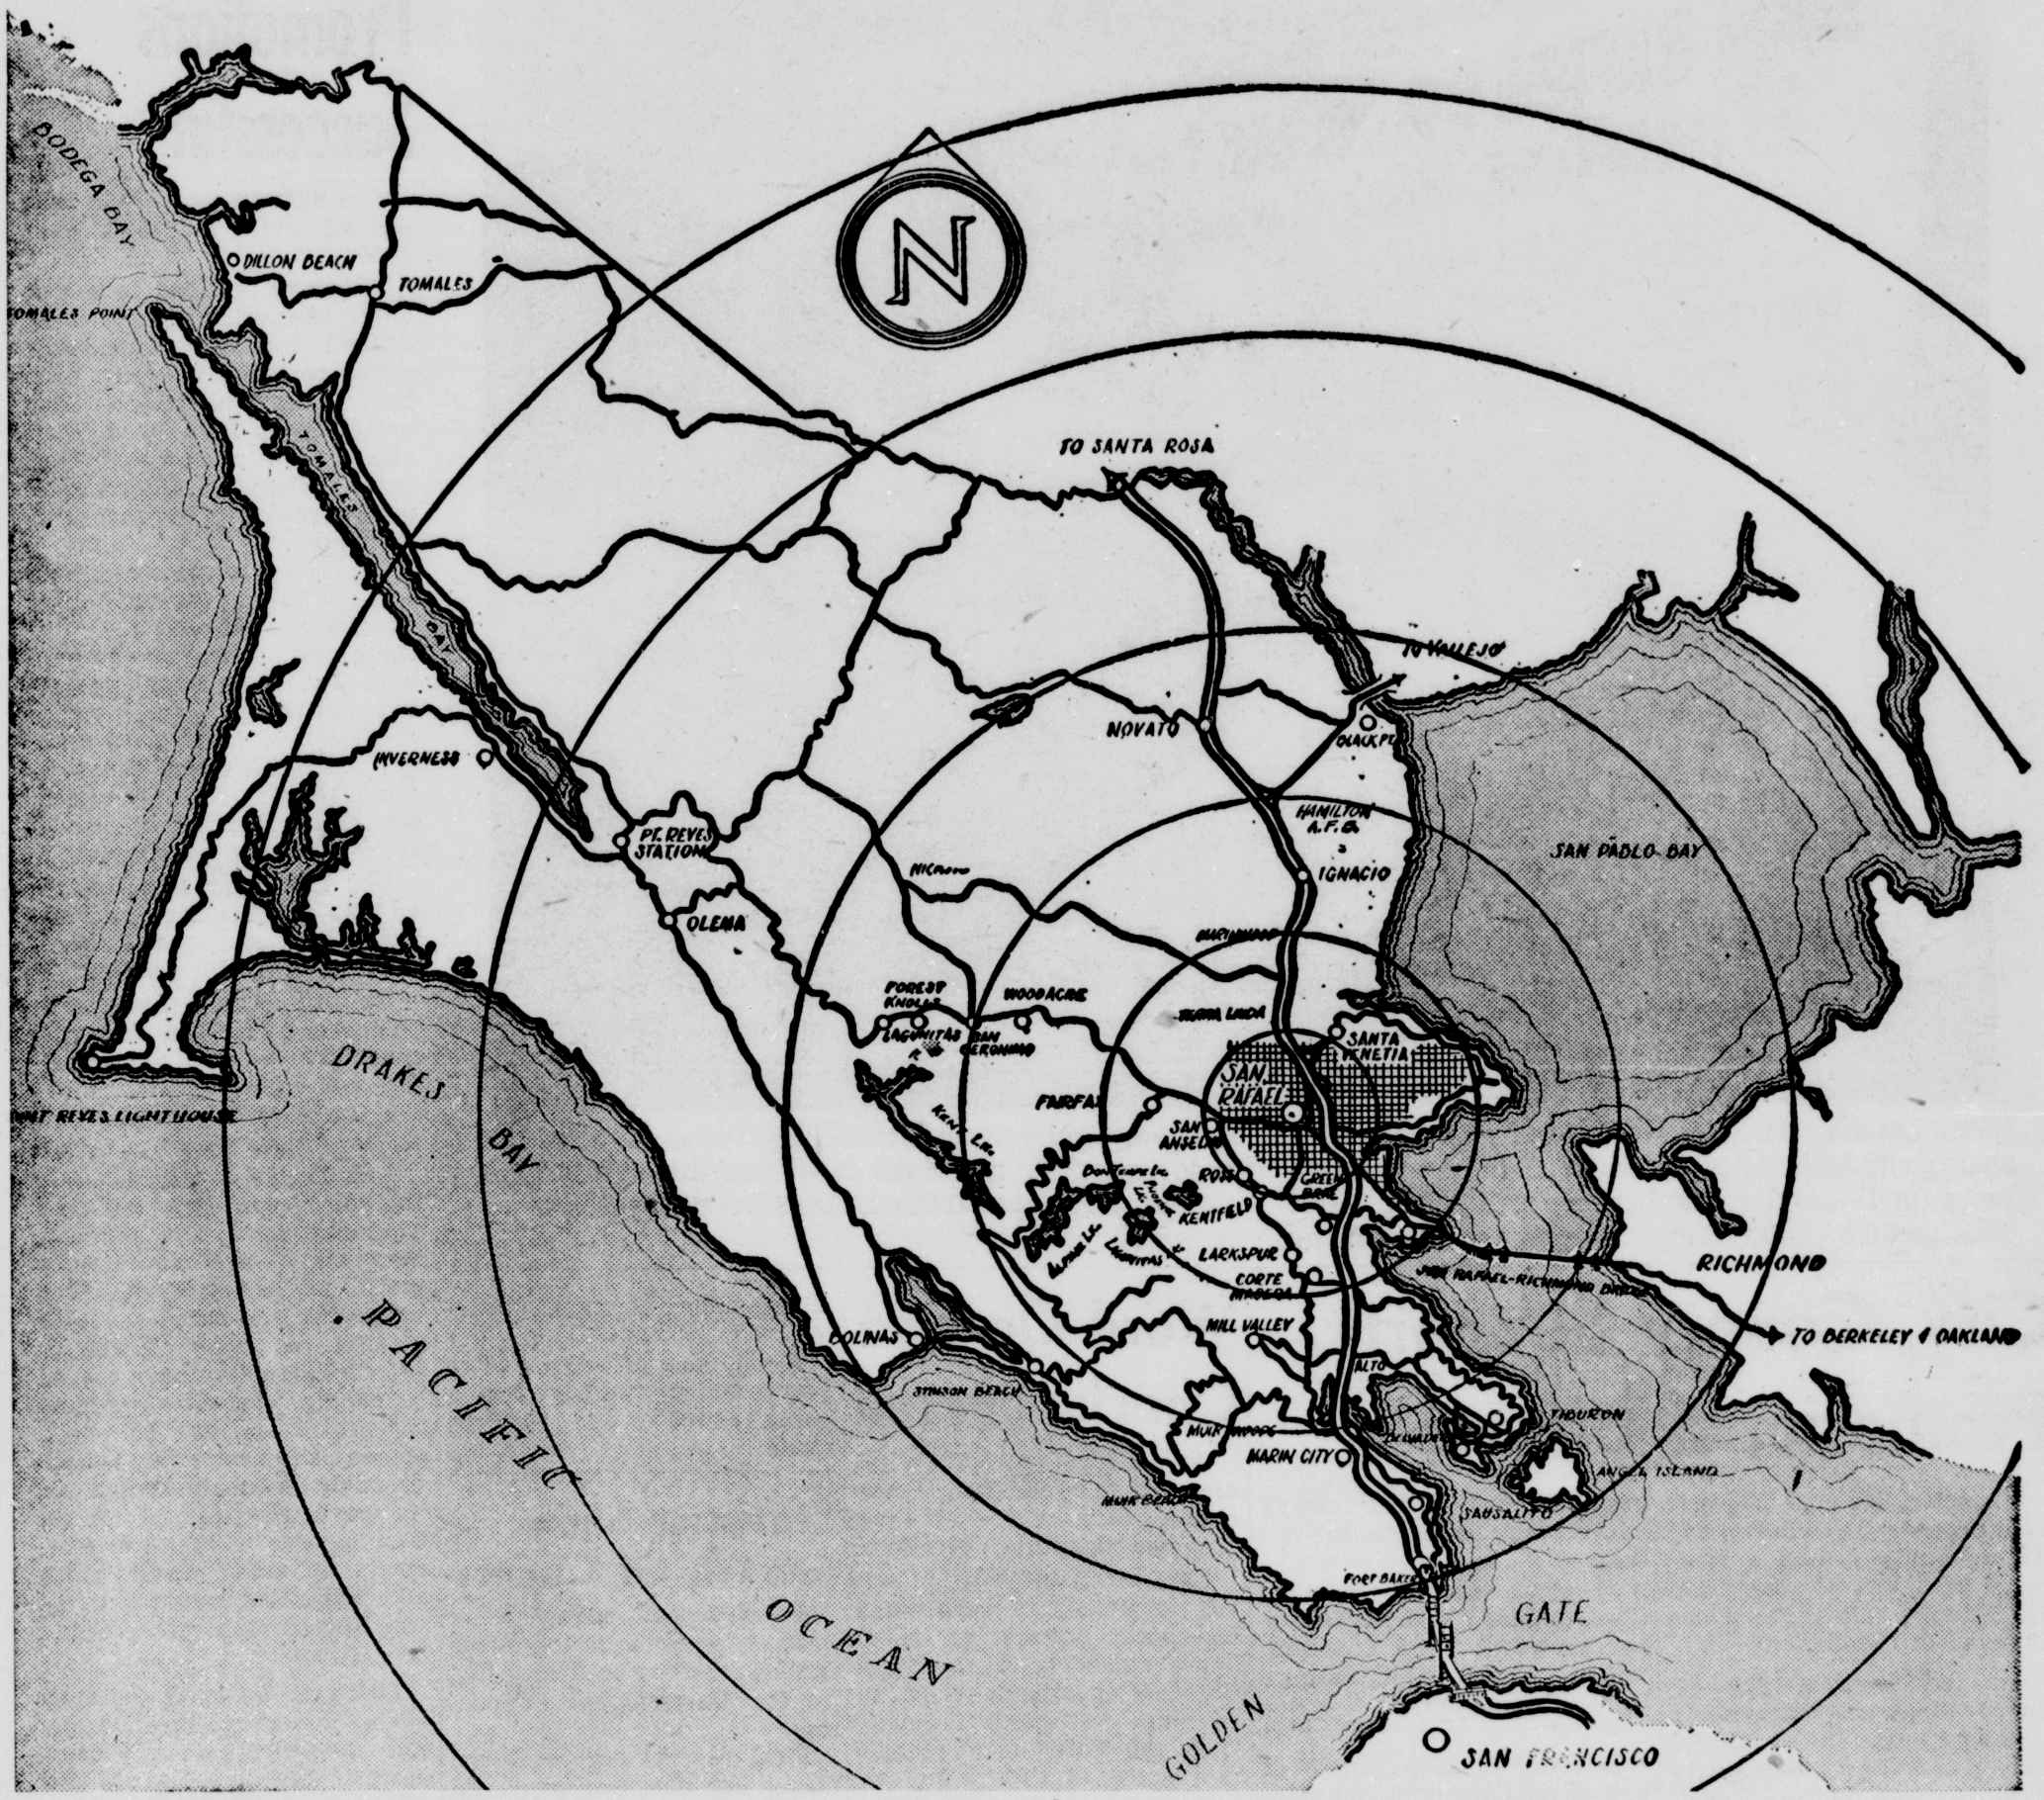
BANK OF SAN RAFAEL

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
IN SAN RAFAEL

A history of banking service to Marin that goes all the way back to 1868, only 18 years after California achieved statehood. Marin's population then was about 6,000—today is it estimated at 139,000. San Rafael had less than 600 permanent residents—today San Rafael boasts more than 18,000 residents.

As Marin has grown, First National has grown; but the friendly, personal service that Marinites have always been accustomed to is still our trademark. Since 1868—THE BANK OF SERVICE

THE BANK THAT KNOWS MARIN



SAN RAFAEL IS HEART OF VAST TRADING AREA

Marin County's Trading Area includes the entire peninsula, with the City of San Rafael as the center of this economic activity. It is known that some business comes from parts of San Francisco, from the East Bay across the new Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and from some communities north of Marin, as far as 45 miles. A considerable amount of trading takes place in other Marin cities. San Rafael is the county seat; it contains large banks, stores and service firms. The county-wide newspaper, the Independent-Journal, is published in San Rafael. Important county roads all lead to the county seat, which is the heart of this rapidly expanding trading area.

AMES FORD SALES

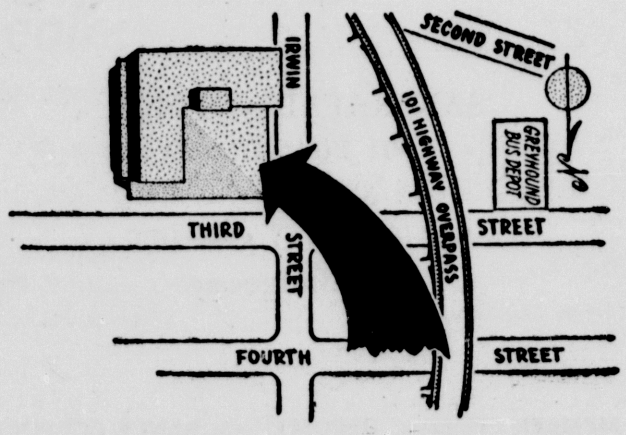
THIRD & IRWIN STREETS, SAN RAFAEL

Deal with the dealer who knows HOW to deal



EVERYBODY TURNS OUT for San Rafael merchants city-wide sales events four times yearly — twice for Dollar Days and twice for Red Tag Days. This picture shows young shoppers attracted by Silver Dollar Surprise Package contest held last summer. A new fifth event was inaugurated last year with a special Christmas advertising effort.

Merchants' Promotions Successful

San Rafael's retailers in 1958 showed gains in sales over 1957.

This was revealed in a spot check of small and large stores at the beginning of 1959. A few stores reported no gains over 1957, while the majority reported gains from one-half of one per cent up to 30 per cent gain for the year. All stores reported gains for the month of December.

According to some retailers, this optimistic year-end report became possible after the city's three new parking lots became a reality. Some merchants attributed the gain—despite the "recession"—to the usual county growth, their own improved merchandising facilities and to the Retail Merchants committee's promotion programs.

The 1958 promotions included Two Red Tag Days and two Dollar Days and special Christmastime advertising effort.

Dollar Days take place in the winter and late summer, running for two days each on Friday and Saturday. These days are intended as special clearances of seasonal merchandise.

Red Tag Days take place in the spring and early fall on a Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Merchants make considerable plans for these days, often making special purchases to be offered at very attractive prices. These days have proved so popular that this community promotion idea has been copied all over the nation. Probably the main reason for its popularity in the Marin trading area is that the merchants adhere to certain rules and police themselves to make sure the bargains are genuine and attractive.

Last year, as usual, the merchants' committee through special assessments of city businesses, erected Fourth St. Christmas decorations. One more figure was added to the Nativity scene on the Court House Square, lighted by a huge theatrical spotlight atop the Cheda Bldg.

For this coming year two one-day special promotions will be added to the retail sales events of the San Rafael retailers.

City, County Support Promotional Efforts

Financial assistance this year from the City of San Rafael and Marin County proved a great aid in the promotional work of the trading area's leading Chamber of Commerce.

San Rafael city fathers included $1,000 for community promotions in their current budget and the County Board of Supervisors $3,500. This is the first time in 38 years the San Rafael chamber has received county funds for general promotions. From the county's fund, $500 was allocated by the chamber's directors to the new Marin Visitors Bureau department.

Earlier in the year the county supervisors made a special grant of $2,500 which was added to an equal amount from various county firms for the production of a new county advertising brochure in full color.

"With this kind of continued financial help," said 1958 chamber president Fred Enemark, "we can accomplish much more for our community."

In order to keep abreast of new developments in and ideas for community progress, Richard Shirley, Chamber manager, annually attends a summer school at Stanford University, the annual convention of the chamber managers of California and an annual meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce.

It is often required that he attend special meetings in behalf of the trading area which are outside the county.

Word On Bad Checks Passed

A number of special services are enjoyed by San Rafael merchants which are a part of their chamber committee operations.

As a quick information service, especially to warn about bad-check passers or about known stolen checks, the chamber staff operates a telephone warning net which normally "gets the word" to merchants in a matter of a few minutes.

Special information from the city's police department is mailed to stores.

Uncontrolled store-to-store or house-to-house solicitation is not permitted. The city has a "Green River Law" and the chamber suggests that solicitors often find it advantageous to register at the chamber. The merchants have agreed to ignore any solicitors calling on them unless, after registering with the chamber, their committee approves such solicitation.

A calendar of retail sales events and special days is prepared annually by the merchants.

Statistics Show Growth Of County

A statistical summary of business progress in the Marin trading area has been compiled by the Development Foundation.

Final reports are yet to be made, but construction is up 86.5 per cent in number of dwelling units and 79.7 per cent in value. Construction of all types is up 34.6 per cent in value to more than $52 million.

Retail sales rose 7.6 per cent in second quarter over 1957.

Dun & Bradstreet reports the number of Marin businesses included in their reference book went up 23 per cent last year, a gain in Bay Area counties exceeded only by San Mateo's 24.2 per cent.

A third non-stop air route from New York to San Francisco was urged this year.

Government Center Plan Proceeding

Public presentation of architect Frank Lloyd Wright's preliminary master plans for the new County Civic Center just north of San Rafael was one of the most colorful accomplishments of our Marin County government this year.

Wright has been authorized to proceed with final plans and specifications for the first two stages of the project, including office buildings and Fairgrounds.

It is anticipated that the first earth should be moved on the site sometime this summer or early fall. A National Guard Armory for the site is expected to begin this year.

The Chamber's Civic Affairs committee urged initial studies for larger and improved facilities with which to conduct our county government.

A scale model of the Civic Center was displayed at the State Fair in 1958, for which an award was received. The county telephone directory will carry a picture of the Wright-designed buildings.

Important steps were taken to provide greater fire protection, especially for the grasslands and watershed areas. Steps have been taken for substations to be constructed on Mt. Tamalpais, in Hicks Valley and at Tomales.

A contract with the San Rafael General Hospital has been approved for care of the county's indigent medical patients.

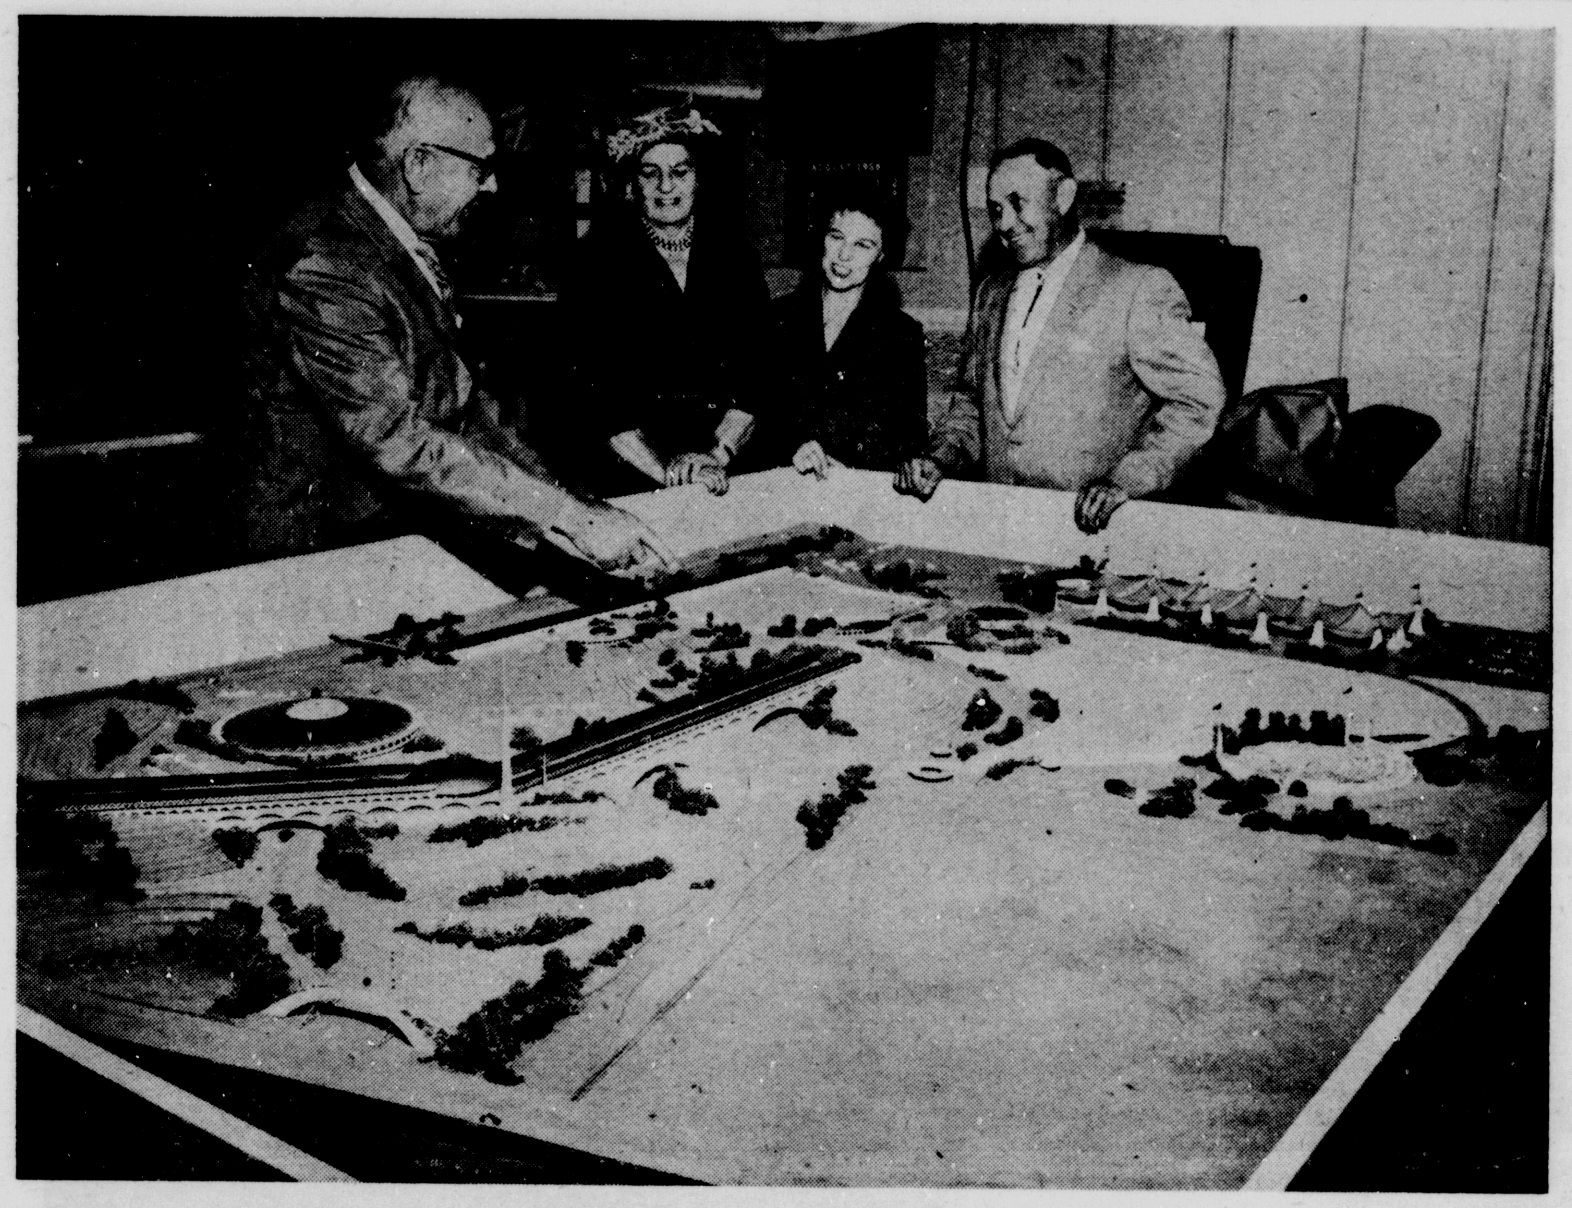
Completion of the county's reappraisal program — the first in over 30 years — took place in 1958, which involved over 60,000 pieces of property.

A $35,000 small boat launching ramp was built at Nick's Cove on Tomales Bay.

The advancement of the redevelopment program of Marin City — a World War II emergency housing project — was certainly an important step ahead in 1958.

A long-range capital improvements program was established last year. Funds for road construction and maintainence were doubled. Many roads were resurfaced. Important flood control work was accomplished.

Of course, there were many other improvements and advancements accomplished through the work of the County Board of Supervisors and their departments.



FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT-designed government center model for Marin attracted much attention when it was displayed at State Fair in Sacramento last summer. Here it is examined by Chairman Walter R. Castro of the Board of Supervisors, Mrs. Norman Livermore, president of Marin Conservation League, and Supervisors Vera Schultz and William Gnoss.

Chamber Aids In Drive For Auditorium

Information pertinent to the needs of a War Memorial Auditorium on the new County Civic Center site north of San Rafael was gathered by the Cultural Affairs committee during the year.

A questionnaire was printed and sent out to many Marin organizations inquiring about their anticipated use and need for such a facility. This information is being turned over to the proper committee named by the County board of supervisors to study the subject.

The new Cultural Affairs committee also created a county-wide Festival Committee which met several times during the year working toward a future festival featuring various Marin art and cultural groups. Toward the end of 1958 it appeared that the anticipated production of such a festival for 1959 would not be possible and that much more work would be involved.

It was hoped that such a festival would bring many visitors to Marin.

Better Business Bureau Service

A Field Service Office of the San Francisco Better Business Bureau is offered as a limited service to Marinites by the Chamber's retail merchants committee. The Chamber holds a membership in the San Francisco BBB, whose research and specialized investigative staff covers that city and San Mateo, Marin and Sonoma counties.

Forms are available at the Chamber office, 801 B St., for those desiring to make investigations or to register complaints

Consumers should realize that the BBB's chief interests are questionable advertising and business practices.

Fair Share Plan Now In Operation

Important foundation work by the Membership committee for creating a better-financed chamber of commerce was completed this year with the full adoption of the Fair Share rate formula by regular members.

The new plan, based on the size of a business or professional operation, was first put into effect in the fall of 1957. Such a formula system is being adopted by leading chambers of commerce throughout the nation.

Late in 1958 the Fetchers Club was re-formed. Membership in this group is open to any member willing to bring in new members. Club members earn points for making calls and signing up new members. For accumulating certain numbers of points merchandise awards are made as a small reward for the time given.

Marin Still Needs Airport

Marin's need for a modern airport was supported by the Civic Affairs committee.

They recommended support for the November bond issue for the construction of this vital air transportation facility. They reasoned that such a facility would be a key asset for inducing light industrial plants to settle in this trading area. Marin's potential as a recreation and tourist center in the Bay Area would require good ingress and egress by air.

The bond issue failed at the polls.

This problem will continue as a project of this committee.

"A Day in Marin" program to impress San Francisco industrial developers that this county has a lot to offer, conducted by the Development Foundation, was participated in by several Chamber leaders.

FAMILIAR SIGHT in San Rafael is the paving crew, shown here at work on Jessup street. Eighteen miles of city streets were re-surfaced during the year just ended.

City Street Work Moves Forward

The City of San Rafael made many public works improvements in 1958.

Eighteen miles of streets have been resurfaced with blacktop. This tops the 1957 figure of .2 of a mile.

Gardually, the day will come when flooding of low areas during the rainy season will be a nightmare of the past. This year $175,000 was spent on drainage corrections.

Three new municipal parking lots were put into operation, totaling 241 spaces; 1959 plans anticipate doubling this number of spaces.

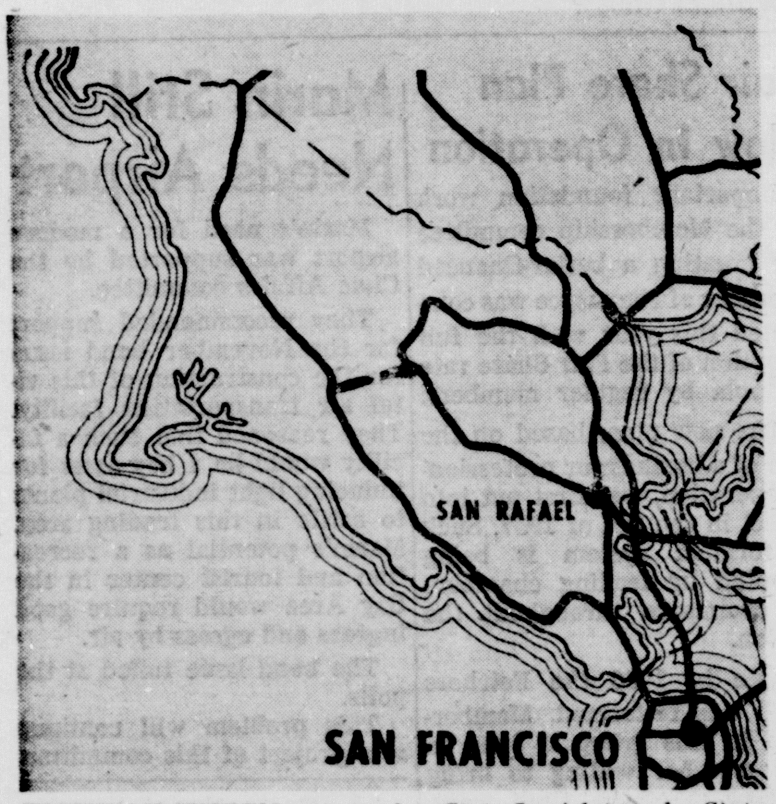
Several streets have had new mercury-vapor lighting installed.

Chamber Urges Roadside Planting

Beautification of San Rafael became a main theme in the deliberations of the Parks and Recreation committee last year.

This included such items as sign ordinances, plantings at the entrances to the city from the Redwood Highway, a good tree ordinance, and plantings in the business district.

Limited plantings are planned at the eastern entrance into San Rafael and in the street islands adjacent to the underpass.



FREEWAY SYSTEM proposed to State Legislature by State Highway officials last fall shows new north-south route paralleling Redwood Highway(101) and so-called San Rafael loop which, with addition of section indicated by broken line, would connect San Rafael by direct freeway with northwestern agricultural and recreational areas of county.

Street, Highway Unit Seeks East-West Route

Topping the program of work of the Streets and Highways committee last year was the effort toward obtaining inclusion of a first-class route into the state system of highways from east to west Marin.

This route would probably join the Redwood Highway (U. S. 101) in San Rafael near the present overpass following the long-proposed First street extension.

Last September the State Department of Public Works, Division of Highways, presented its so-called "20-year freeway expansion plan." For Marin County this plan suggested the following freeway routes:

1. A bridge connecting San Francisco with Tiburon, running north, generally following the shoreline, passing near San Quentin, through east San Rafael and Santa Venetia, probably rejoining the Redwood Highway near the proposed Lucas Valley interchange.

2. The shoreline highway (State Sign Route 1) in Marin.

3. The San Rafael, Nicasio, Novato loop.

The committee, with representatives from the county government, met last fall with the Joint Interim Committee on Highway Problems in a special hearing from various areas concerned with this these proposed new freeways. The Chamber resasoned with the Senate Interim Committee that the Marin "loop" did not seem to fit into any system unless a "missing link" was added. This would be a small extension of this loop roughly from Nicasio to Pt. Reyes Station, joining the shoreline highway, thus creating the needed high standard east-west route in Central Marin.

Letters were sent from the Chamber to Marin's Sacramento representatives asking work for the inclusion of the "missing link" into the proposed system before the 1959 Legislature is asked to approve the proposal of the Department of Public Works.

The needs for a good east-west route in the county are becoming more and more evident. The construction of the Marin Municipal Water District new reservoir near Nicasio will help the area grow residentially, visitor traffic is rapidly increasing as people discover the vacation and recreation assets of Marin, better roads will encourage agriculturists to make more purchases in Marin's various commercial centers. Should the proposed new four-year state college be located near Novato, it will generate more traffic on this route.

Off-Street Lots Opened For Parking

Three new municipal parking lots were opened to the public late in 1958 as a result of years of work by the City of San Rafael, the retailers and the Off-street Parking committee.

These lots are located to best serve the downtown commercial district, which is credited with producing nearly half the county's retail sales tax income. They are located between Third and Fourth streets with entrances from Lootens and Third; on the corner of Third and A; on the corner of Fifth and C streets. The latter was constructed so that a second deck could be installed at a near future date.

Committee meetings are being held for discussing the locations of additional off-street parking spaces.

Additionally, diagonal parking on some of the side streets was changed to parallel curb parking, for the purpose of relieving traffic congestion on narrow roadways. Studies are under way for improved traffic movement, especially during peak hours.

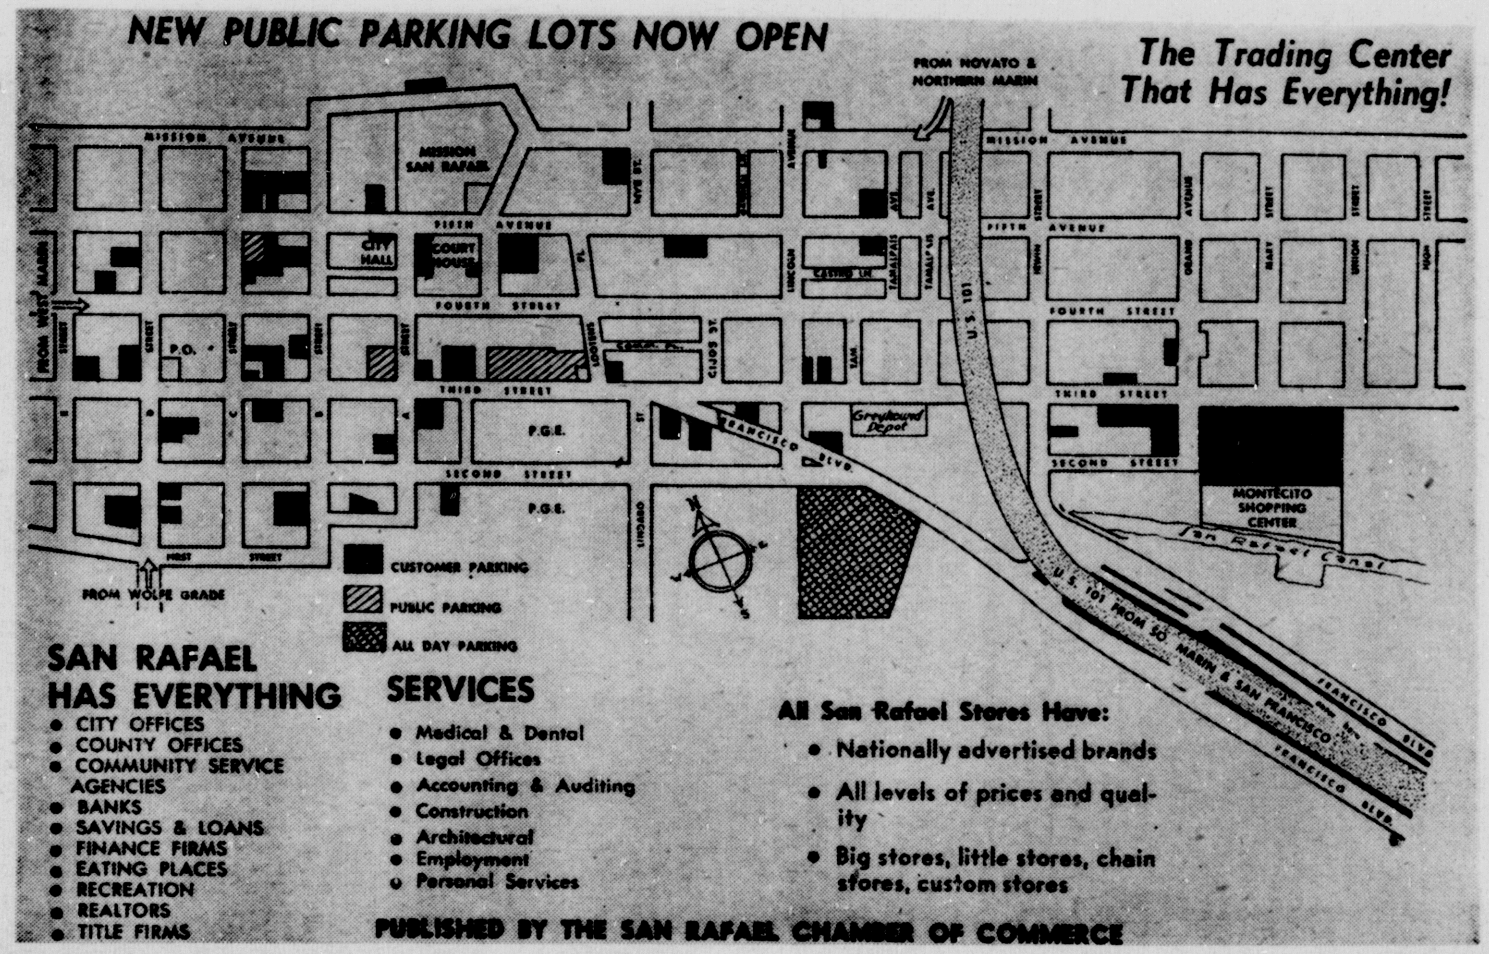
Traffic Movement Intensively Studied

Members of the Streets and Highways committee have been meeting jointly with the Mayor's special committee to study traffic movement in San Rafael.

Meetings are being held every Thursday morning for breakfast at King Cotton restaurant.

The first recommendation for a one-way circle route near the freeway overpass, is intended to clear up this traffic bottleneck, with special curbparking restrictions between 4-6 p.m. A hearing on this subject will be held by the San Rafael City Council.

Discussions are now taking place on where the recommended routes should be for one-way traffic through the city. The important thing is that leading businessmen and city officials are trying to relieve the city of a problem just about equal to off-street parking — traffic congestion.



WHERE TO PARK — The San Rafael Chamber of Commerce distributed hundreds of diagrams like the one above, showing shoppers where off-street parking is available in San Rafael. Altogether, there is parking for more than 3,100 automobiles in the downtown area, the Chamber ascertained

CONVENIENT PARKING in lots like this one at Third and A streets is now available, since off-street sites were acquired and developed by the city.

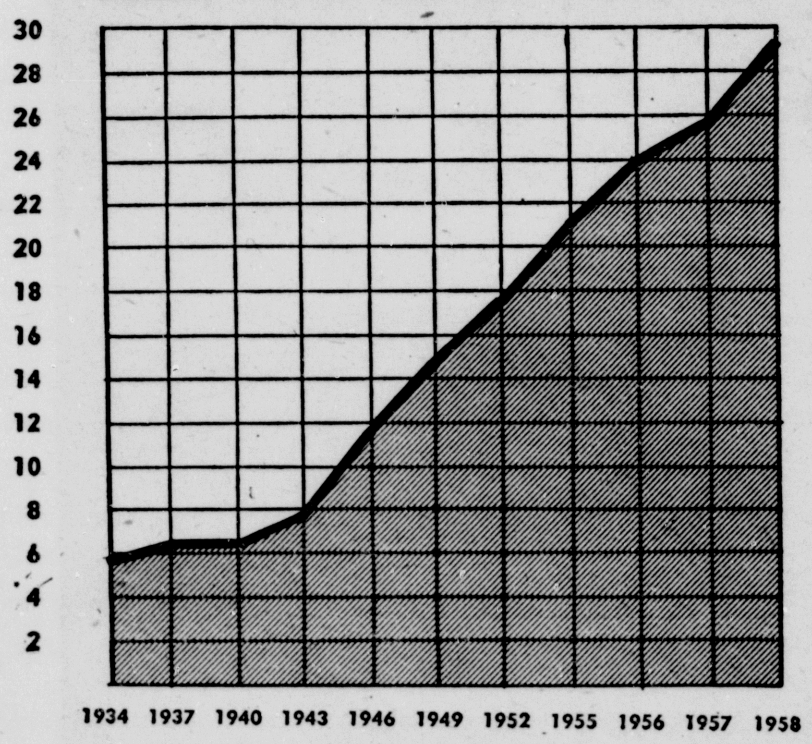
'A DAY IN MARIN' found a large delegation of Bay Area business and industrial leaders visiting points of interest in Marin as guests of the Marin County Development Foundation. The Chamber of Commerce assisted and supported the get-acquainted undertaking, aimed at showing metropolitan community leaders what Marin has to offer.



STUDENTS PROGRESS — The sharp increase in Marin public schools enrollment, as shown in the above graph, is the result not only of rising birth rate, but of a heavy population influx. This graph serves only as a thermometer, because the substantial enrollment in private and parochial schools and adult night classes is not included.

200 Teachers B-E Day Guests Of Chamber

Business-Education Day conducted by the Education committee, was again a most successful project.

Teachers from the San Rafael school district visited various places of business, learning first-hand what makes a business tick under the American competitive enterprise system. An innovation was included this year when some of the teachers attended special sessions where business and civic problems were discussed.

Nearly 200 teachers were guests of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., San Rafael General Hospital, Marin County Government offices, Northwestern Pacific Railroad, The Dumont Corp., Independent-Journal, Marin Municipal Water District, Pacific Coast Title Co., First Western Bank & Trust Co., Girard's, Inc., Trailorboat Engineering Co., Borden's Dairy Delivery Co., Radio Station KTIM, Marin County Savings & Loan Assn., Redwood Travel Advisors, Stenstrom Buick Co., Montgomery Ward & Co., Insulating Refractories Co., McPhail Fuel Co., Household Finance Corp., Dorothy Kell Furniture,, McKenzie's Children's Bootery, F. C. Burns, florist, Ludell's Gift Shop, Purity Stores, First National Bank.

Special guest speakers and instructors included Leland Prussia, financial economist for the Bank of America in San Francisco; Clarence L. Malan, northern division sales manager for Foremost-Golden State Co.; Stuart Bailey, then San Rafael City Planner and Francis Fogarty, manager J. C. Penney Co., in San Rafael.

Incomes Here Above U.S. Averages

Sales Management magazine's 1957 report of the effective buying income for Marin County and three cities is interpreted in three ways as follows:

Average Per Capita Income:
Marin	$2,310
Mill Valley	$2,773
San Anselmo	$2,372
San Rafael	$2,606
Per Consumer Spending Unit:
Marin	$6,774
Mill Valley	$7,993
San Anselmo	$7,363
San Rafael	$6,899
Per Household:
Marin	$7,519
Mill Valley	$8,050
San Anselmo	$7,330
San Rafael	$7,956

These are above the national averages.

B-E 'Graduates' To Visit Industries

Changes will be made in future Business-Education Days.

Discussions with the San Rafael School District officials revealed that many teachers during the past eight B-E Days have visited many of our firms. The Education Committee decided that after a teacher has attended a cross-section of our various business operations, requiring 4-5 years, they will become "graduates." These graduates, through special arrangements by the school district, will then be eligible to visit other schools or larger industries throughout the Bay Area.

To become a graduate means that the teacher will have visited from 4 to 5 categories such as governmental offices, utilities, manufacturers, retailers and special institutions. The latter includes realtors, title companies, financial houses and the like.

For the San Rafael school district this affects about 80 teachers for 1959.

Chamber Unit Spearheads Improvement

Spearheading the establishment of the Forward San Rafael association, an organization composed largely of downtown San Rafael property owners, tops the accomplishments of the Civic Affairs committee during 1958.

The initial purpose of the FSRA is the modernization of the physical plant for conducting business, known in government and planning circles as urban redevelopment. In different terms this means that the property owners and business men are getting together to make the San Rafael trading center much bigger and better than it is and far more convenient and attractive to shoppers.

Moreover, it means that efforts are being made to greatly enlarge the depth of merchandise selection and to develop improved automobile parking and traffic movement.

Present plans for the FSRA call for interviewing and hiring persons to conduct an economic feasibility study. This necessary study could be paid for with government funds, but nearly two years could be consumed to qualify for this money. The downtown property owners feel the time has passed when they could afford to wait this length of time. They are well aware that within that time span the beginning of another population boom is anticipated as a result of marriages of World War II babies.

The economic study would take shape over a period of about seven months. At the end of that time, if it should prove feasible to improve downtown property, the FSRA could ask the City of San Rafael to establish a local Urban Redevelopment Agency, which could assemble various properties into a single entity; or the FSRA could elect to promote the redevelopment by private capital.

MODERN BUILDINGS are arising out of the ashes of the disastrous fire in the 1400-block of Fourth street in July, 1957. The Stern-Scheiner building now houses the Jr. Esquire Shop, a gift shop, Heller's Baby News and the architectural offices of Miller-Severin-Kite.

The Chamber assisted in the census-tracting work by the county this year.

COMMERCIAL — PROFESSIONAL —Out of the ashes of the disastrous 1957 fire this new concrete block building is rising at Fourth and D streets. Morewear Paint will occupy the main floor, along with the Christian Science Reading Room. Offices upstairs will be leased to professional men like accountants and lawyers. General contractor J. B. Williams hopes to have the building ready for use about March. The property is owned by the Odd Fellows Lodge, who have moved to new quarters on Fifth avenue.

FIRST LOOK AT NEW BROCHURE —Anne Holt and Robert Coyner (right) of the Hawaii Visitors Bureau were on hand when the Marin Visitors Bureau unveiled its new color brochure on Marin County. Looking over Miss Holt's shoulder is Bernard Seligman of the Marin bureau.

Marin Visitors Bureau Distributes 25,000 Copies Of Color Brochure

Marin's first full color advertising brochure was produced in 1958 by the Marin Visitors Bureau, a Chamber department.

It highlights the fact that internationally famous Muir Woods National Monument is in this county. It invites visitors and suggests the area as an ideal place to live and to make a living. The folder carries an illustrated road map and a brief description of each community. A total of 50,000 copies were made.

The project was financed by private businesses which are named in the new folder and the County of Marin.

One panel is devoted to the promotion of "gracious living in Marin," illustrating a modern home, patio and pool. Names and locations of leading residential developments are described and also located on the big map.

Written material plays up the Sir Francis Drake story, our exceptionally fine climate, state and county parks, waterways, beautiful scenery, light industry assets, fine schools and the like. Some typical scenes are shown.

Over 25,000 have been distributed. Domestic air lines such as American, United, Western, Pacific and Trans World have given us free national distribution because they feel this high quality brochure will help them sell their tours to the San Francisco Bay Area. Rent-a-car services such as National, Avis and Hertz want them for their vacationing and business customers to encourage them to add extra miles. Pacific Greyhound has sent a number of copies to leading offices between the West Coast and Chicago. Shell Tour Service in Washington, D.C., was recently sent their second supply, as was the California State Automobile Association.

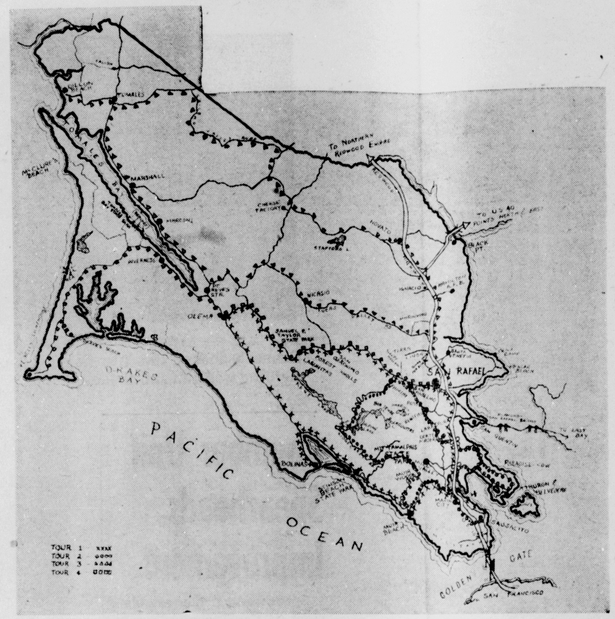
Copies have been sent to leading chambers of commerce in California and western states. Gray Lines Tours is also assisting in the distribution. Standard Oil tour service is using them and so is the California State Chamber of Commerce.

The Southern Pacific Co. and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad use them in their industry-locating work. So does the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. for the same reason.

At last year's State Fair, 4,800 were distributed to visitors. Several thousand are being distributed by many Marin County firms, chambers of commerce and realtors.

The Marin Visitors Bureau, knowing that people plan trips and vacations in advance, expects there will be a noticeable increase in visitor traffic here during our dry season.

It is expected the 50,000 copies may last about two years.



AUTO TOUR FOLDER—In preparation for the anticipated increase in visitors to Marin later this year, the Marin Visitors Bureau has prepared a special printing of Four Auto Tours of the county. They will be distributed to all service stations, motels, restaurants and real estate offices this spring. Forty-thousand copies were printed. These tours are also part of a revised 3,000 copy edition of a history of the county, including a map of the old Spanish land grants. Copies are available at the Marin Visitors Bureau headquarters, 801 B St., San Rafael.

Chamber Unit Seeking Boating Facilities

Two recommendations for small boat facilities, made through studies of the Parks and Recreation committee, are now under consideration by the San Rafael City Council.

One is for limited berths and a launching ramp on the eastern side of the old turning basin in the San Rafael Canal, just across from the Purity store ramp. It was suggested that the city make such use of this part of our waterway and adjoining unused city property to add such needed services and to encourage more pleasure craft traffic.

The second was for the city to make application to the new state Small Craft Harbors commission for a loan to construct larger municipal boating facilities near the mouth of the San Rafael Canal in an area designated in the city's new general plan for a major recreation site.

UNIQUE DEVELOPMENT is this waterfront "boatel" completed on shore of San Rafael Harbor during past year. San Rafael Chamber of Commerce has long campaigned for expanded public recreation facilities all along Marin's shore line.

Chamber Launches All-Out Effort To Attract Tourists

Because the tourist dollar may well become one of the most important sources of earning power for the county, the San Rafael Chamber's establishment of the Marin Visitors Bureau may prove to be one of the most important accomplishments of 1958.

From January, 1957, to June, 1958, work toward the development of visitor business in the county was conducted by the tourist and convention committee of the Chamber. It became apparent this last summer that this potential business was here and that more than a committee set-up was required to carry it on.

So that the presently limited promotional funds would not be unwisely spent, the Bureau was given department status. It is managed by the professional manager of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce. It raises its own funds and has its own bank account. Membership will continuously be sought from all over the Marin Peninsula, and later on from firms outside the trading area that supply the firms serving the visitors, including conventioneers.

The membership rate is just $20 a year, which should supply sufficient funds for initial promotions and other expenditures, provided there is wide support from the businesses which see the visitor-dollar first.

Marin has many natural assets to attract visitors and some man-made ones, too.

Here is a list of our attractions today. (How many Marinites have seen them all?) State Parks: Mt. Tamalpais, Angel Island (recently enlarged in area), Samuel P. Taylor, Stinson Beach and Tomales Bay. County Parks: Miller and Drakes Landing. Scenic hills, valleys, waterways and forests. Muir Woods National Monument. Mission San Rafael Arcangel. The only camembert cheese factory west of the Mississippi. Fine restaurants and motels. Many automotive services for visitors. Marin Art and Garden Fair each summer. Golf courses. Hamilton Air Force Base. Health services. Lakes and hiking trails. Redwoods. Interesting places to shop. Family outings at places such as Muir, Stinson, Bolinas, Drakes, Indian, Heart's Desire or Dillon beaches.

That we are close to the recreation facilities in San Francisco is also an asset.

Taking a long-range point of view toward visitor promotions, those working in the visitors bureau believe that the exploding population of the Bay Area will require a "playground" nearby. They reason that since we have more natural assets than any other Bay Area county, we should capitalize on them; enjoy the financial gains but still retain the park-like character of the county.

PRELIMINARY GENERAL PLAN for future development and growth of Greater San Rafael area was prepared by professional planning consultant in cooperation with city planning staff, planning commissioners, city manager and city council.

San Rafael General Plan To Be Studied

A proposed General Plan for a future San Rafael is an outstanding accomplishment of the year.

The Civic Affairs committee has long urged such work and this coming year, along with other groups and citizens, will study the plan for future adoption by the City as the guide to its growth.

In addition to San Rafael, other Marin cities have developed or are in the process of creating plans for more orderly development of both incorporated and unincorporated areas. These plans are symbolic of the dynamic qualities of the Marin Trading Area and of the forward-looking qualities of its friendly people.

Details of the plan and policy statement are printed herewith:

WHY PLAN?

San Rafael had its beginnings in 1817, when the Mission of San Rafael Arcangel was established. In 1850 Marin became one of California's original counties with San Rafael as the county seat. Following 1937, when the Golden Gate Bridge was opened, and during the post-war population boom, San Rafael has grown and developed to where it is today Every indication points to continued growth. New families are moving into the area and new homes and business structures are being built every day.

As new construction takes place and older uses of land are exchanged for new ones, the San Rafael of tomorrow is being built. At any point in time, then, the new San Rafael exists side by side with the old San Rafael. Street patterns once established are difficult to change. Land once built upon cannot easily be returned to open space or recreational uses. More population will require more facilities and create more traffic. All of these are the reasons for city planning; to anticipate growth, to provide for orderly development, to preserve what is good and sound and to provide the basis for orderly changeover where growth patterns are obsolete and substandard conditions exist. San Rafael's General Plan should be the key to insuring the preservation of a desirable, friendly and convenient living pattern, in spite of the doubling of the City's present population.

San Rafael's General Plan, however, should not be a rigid document. It should be the expressed policy of the city, adopted by the city council with the clear identification of the public interest. It should be subject to restudy, change and revision as new developments take place, and as new requirements are fully understood.

The General Plan is implemented and translated into action as the city council approves or disapproves zoning proposals, as the subdivision ordinance is enforced and as the council adopts the city's budget and spends the city's money for public works.

Basic to the General Plan and the growth of San Rafael is the overall anticipation of land requirements: the blocking out of areas for living, for shopping and business, and for industrial or working purposes. The provision of all other public facilities and streets and highways must be based upon the land use element of the General Plan, for instance, where people live and work and shop determines the location of schools, recreation facilities and the location capacities of streets and highways.

NEW POPULATION

The San Rafael basin still has room for 10,000 more families and 30 to 35,000 more people. Combined with the 19,000 people now living here, a total population of 53,000 people is possible, while maintaining adequate standards for light and air and privacy, recreation and school facilities and other public and quasi-public facilities. Another 40,000 people can live in the Santa Marguerita and Gallinas valleys.

LIMITS TO PLANNING

Present Use of Land

Future development must begin where past development leaves off. The way in which San Rafael has been built to date sets the pattern for new development. Almost all existing residential development is good and should be maintained and protected. The older residential areas now largely zoned for commercial purposes and close to downtown, need restudy. Possibly the process of urban renewal should be applied to these areas to maintain them as good residential areas or to provide the means for orderly change to commercial or apartment uses.

Physical Features

This section of Marin County consists of a series of northwest-southeast valleys or basins separated from one another by steep hills, and running from coastal mountains to the tideland of San Francisco Bay. New development must protect the beauty of the hills, utilize flat areas for more intensive development and recognize that new lands are capable of being developed in tideland areas. At the same time waterfront opportunities should be jealously guarded and their development potential carefully studied to insure that new development provides for open space reservation and expanded water recreation and attendant "water commercial" uses.

The Role of the County

The San Rafael "planning area" includes the San Rafael basin and the Santa Marguerita Valley. Much of this land is presently outside of the city limits in county territory. Continued close cooperation and agreement upon mutual planning and physical development objectives will have to obtain between the City and the County. Only by this means can an harmonious and integrated land development pattern be assured, whether all of these lands ultimately become part of the City of San Rafael or substantial portions of them remain unincorporated.

Residential

The San Rafael basin contains 5,590 acres, of which some 2,331 acres are now used. Of the 3,259 acres which is vacant and developable, it is anticipated that 348 acres will be developed in a manner not related to residential uses. Hence, 2,911 acres are available for residential development and public and quasi-public uses related to residential uses.

These 2,911 acres have been classified as to slope and the development capacity related to the degree of slope in various areas. On a gross basis (i.e. making allowance for streets, schools, recreation areas, churches, etc.) those areas having a slope of under 10% are estimated to hold ...7 families per acre. Where slopes run between 20 per cent and 40 per cent, 1.6 families per acre will result, and where slopes are over 40 per cent, 0.75 families to the acre are estimated.

Developable acres and the potential number of families in each category, then, are as follows: 0%-10% slope: 527 acres, 2267 families; 10%-20% slope: 210 acres, 525 families; 20%-40% slope: 875 acres, 1382 families; and over 40% slope: 1299 acres, 977 families.

Expressed percentagewise, areas for development in the San Rafael basin are as follows (the total off acres equals 100% and the total of all families likewise totals 100%): 0%-10% slope: acres 18%, families 44%; 10%-20% slope: acres 7%, families 10%; 20%-40% slope: acres 30%, families 27%; over 40% slope: acres 45%, families 19%.

A simlar, but less thorough analysis has been made of the Santa Marguerita and Gallinas valleys, largely based upon County Planning Department studies. These analyses indicate room for about 11,000 families and a population of about 40,000 people in the Santa Marguerita-Gallinas areas.

The foregoing studies show generally the scale at which new single family detached housing facilities can be developed. Much of the hillside area, however, is now zoned to a uniform 5,000 square foot minimum lot size which should be adjusted to reflect more realistically slope and desirable densities.

As the San Rafael area continues to grow there will be an increasing need for multi-family residential development. The General Plan indicates general locations for high density development close to the downtown area. To assure the best type of multi-family development, provision of adequate building sites through the use of urban renewal is required and undoubtedly should be a part of the ultimate re-planning of the central San Rafael area.

Other multi-family development can be integrated with new single family housing. The most important thing to emphasize here is that multi-family housing has its own lot size and subdivision requirements. Where multi-family housing is to be provided in areas as yet unsubdivided, land planning should be specifically for multi-family purposes. In older areas, good multi-family housing will not necessarily result from simply re-zoning older residential areas where the basic lot pattern was originally intended for single family purposes.

Commercial

The General Plan discloses that the commercial center of the San Rafael area will continue to be located in downtown San Rafael. Bold steps are clearly warranted if downtown San Rafael is to continue its dominant position in the commercial picture of Marin County. Central San Rafael was designed in 1868, long before the coming of the automobile and long before the development of today's advanced merchandising methods—with their full use of color, space texture, form, landscaping and traffic engineering techniques to create an enjoyable and efficient shopping experience.

There is enough land in the downtown area to serve the needs of a greatly increased population. At the present time some 154 acres are zoned commercially, yet only 40 acres are used commercially.

Half of the city's 1957-58 revenues came from sales tax returns from the downtown area. Eighty per cent of down town San Rafael's commercial trade comes from people who live outside of San Rafael. If the city's fiscal position is to be preserved, and if downtown is to continue to provide the major shopping and business facilities for Marin County, the replanning and redevelopment of central San Rafael is absolutely necessary and must assume the highest priority. The present outdated facilities cannot compete with new shopping centers designed in accordance with the latest merchandising and architectural standards. (See story on Forward San Rafael Assn.)

Industrial

Employment for people living in the greater San Rafael area is now supplied primarily in adjacent locations, mainly in San Francisco. Decentralization of industry, warehousing and general offices has been proceeding in metropolitan areas throughout the country. In the Bay Area this movement is particularly evident. To provide space for such demands, the plan sets aside 75 acres for industry and 78 acres for service-commercial and administrative use in the Santa Marguerita and Gallinas valleys. In addition, 33 acres have been reserved for a waterfront industrial park, and 19 acres for general industrial use along the railroad in the San Rafael basin.

TRAFFIC

Pinched between two rows of hills, San Rafael's major streets were not designed to take care of today's traffic, much less the traffic demands of tomorrow. The main problems are access into the city, circulation downtown, and movement through

LIBRARY ADDITION — This new $150.000 addition to San Rafael Public Library should be up by the end of this year. City fathers hope to call for bids in February and start construction in March. The sketch by architect Gordon A. Phillips shows the new wing on the Mission avenue side of the existing structure. The present entrance on Fifth avenue will be closed, and access switched to E street where there is less traffic. The new wing will provide more space for book stacks, study area for students, librarian's desk and office, work rooms, and storage space for magazines and newspapers. This is the first expansion in 50 years for the library, which was built in 1908 with a $25,000 Carnegie grant.

MORE OFF-STREET PARKING — This is the new city parking lot—with two-hour meters — at Third and Lootens streets. It has mercury-vapor lighting, two entrances, 129 spaces and pedestrian access through some stores. One property owner anticipates installing an arcade from Fourth street to the lot. As the City moves ahead in its teamwork-program with private business to build more retailing income for San Rafael, additional land for new lots is expected for 1959. The Off-Street Parking committee, making plans for 1960, is looking forward to a possible second-decking program for at least two of the municipal lots. In this picture, old Pacific Gas & Electric Co. buildings are shown on the south side of Third street.

Huge Volume Of Mail At C. Of C. Office

About 300 pieces of mail per month were received by the chamber of commerce during 1958 and about 800 pieces were mailed out each month. This means over 10,000 pieces of mail were handled during the year.

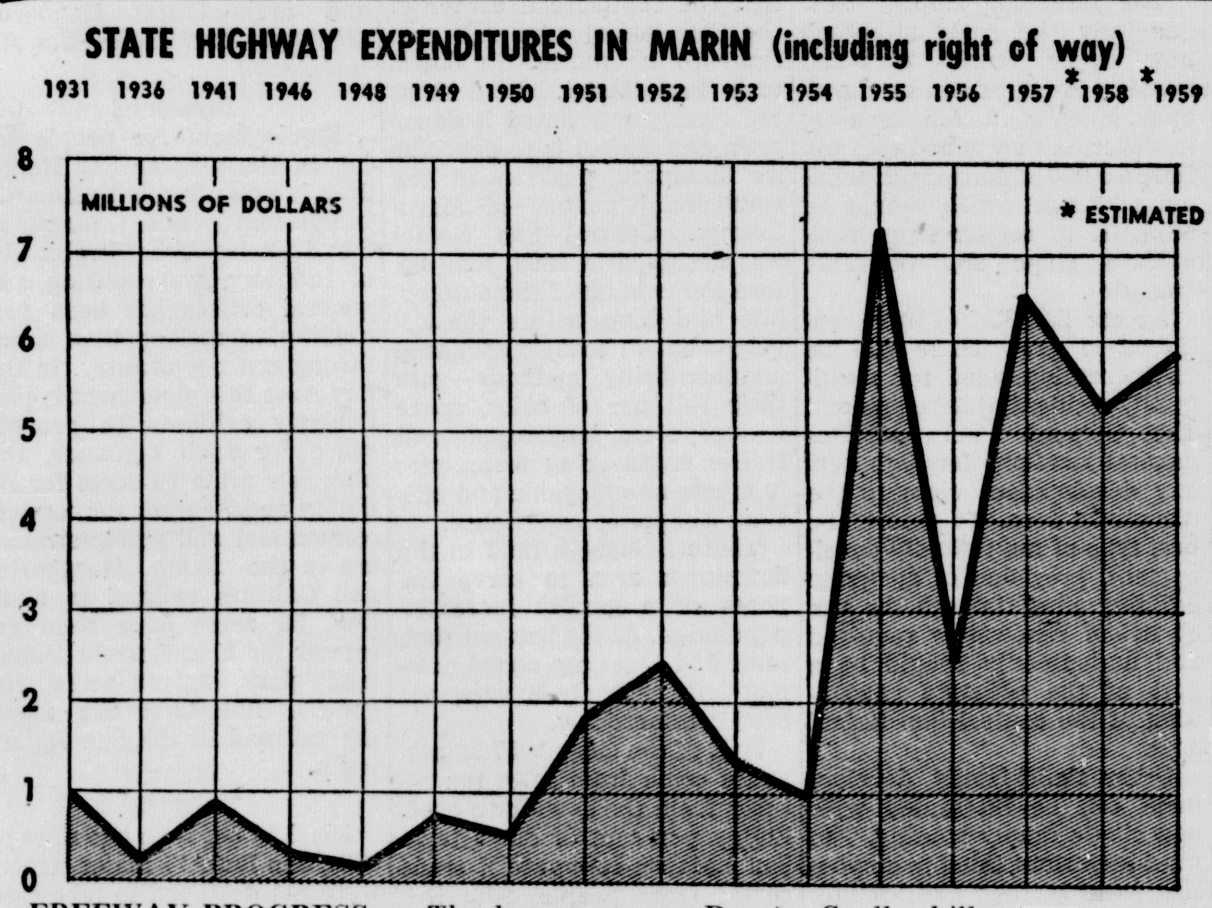
Most of that received contained inquiries about the county as a place to visit, live or work. Many letters were addressed to the Marin County Chamber of Commerce. A majority of the inquiries can be answered with prepared material, which means that almost all replies were made within 16 hours. One of the excellent informations sources is this entire annual progress report.

Telephone calls in and out this last year increased by about 200, meaning a total amounting to nearly 800 monthly. An additional telephone is being added for 1959.

Personal inquiries at the chamber office, 801 B St., amounted to about 100 a month. Many of these callers ask for maps, tourist information and statistics. Some require interview time with the manager or office manager.

The Chamber of Commerce Bldg. also houses the Marin United Crusade, Tuberculosis Association and the San Rafael Jr. Chamber of Commerce.

The Conference Room is available to many county groups on an advance reservation basis. There is no charge for non-profit associations.



FREEWAY PROGRESS — The largest projects included in the 1958-59 total of $5,968,000 were the Greenbrae interchange, a third uphill lane on Puerto Suello hill, routes connecting U.S. 101 with the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and the Black Point Road and Petaluma Creek Bridge.

CITY PLAN

the city from US 101 to destinations beyond and to the west.

Access to the city can be improved with the redesign of 101 to full freeway status. Careful attention to detail will be necesrray to be sure that interchange entrances and exits fit in with San Rafael's long range needs and plans and that local street capacities are adequate.

Downtown circulation can only be solved with the redesign of the central business district and the provision of a circumferential and bypass major arterial system. Between 1950 and 1957, traffic on Second and Fourth streets increased over 50 per cent. At peak hours these streets were operating at 110 per cent and 115 per cent capacity, respectively.

A freeway type east-west bypass of down-town has been indicated in the plan. This will be needed to take through traffic around downtown and to provide quick and easy access to downtown. It is thought that a major part of the financing of this route can be accomplished through the redevelopment of the central business area.

NEED FOR FURTHER THINKING

This is a guide plan which thinks through San Rafael's future land needs. The implications of this future land use pattern are that much work remains to be done. New schools will be needed where new development takes place. San Rafael now has some 50 acres devoted to public recreation use. At recognized standards 180 acres are needed now—80,000 people will need 800 acres. Precise plans need to be developed ot guide development of the waterfront and the tidelands as they are filled in.

First Farm-City Week Observance

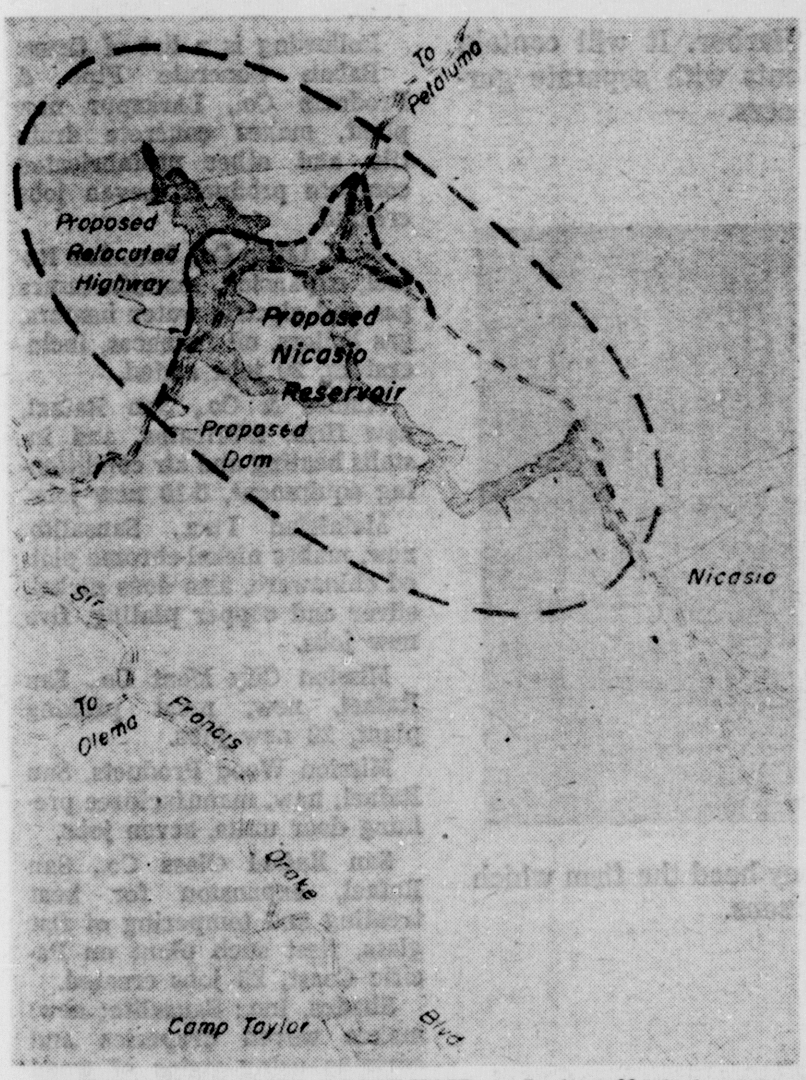
Farm-City Week was celebrated for the first time in Marin County in 1958, with the cooperation of the County Farm Commissioner, the Extension Service, 4-H'ers and the Chamber. It took place the last week in November.

The recognition program was conducted to remind Marinites that dairying is a leading industry in the county and to maintain good relations between our urban and rural areas as the community grows. The total agricultural product in the county is valued at about $14,000,000, and dairying accounts for about $12 millions.

Local radio station KTIM broadcast information about the event as did the Independent-Journal daily and various weekly newspapers. The highlight of the week was a display of dairy cows in downtown San Rafael in front of the County Court House; five leading dairies dispensed cups of free milk to children and shoppers; stores displayed banners saying "Hail, Farm-City Week."

Most of the dairy farms are located in western and northern Marin County.

ANOTHER NEW BUILDING FOR DOWNTOWN SAN RAFAEL — This spring the Marin County Savings & Loan Association will begin construction of its new home. The building and site represent a $350,000 investment, said Fred F. Enemark, the association's executive vice president, and will contain 10,800 square feet. The 72-year-old firm will also supply off-street parking spaces. This, and other new large buildings constructed within the past two years, further consolidates the centralized portion of the county's trade center, thus discouraging strip development and makes business services more convenient. It was designed by the architectural firm of Crawford-Banning.



PROPOSED NICASIO RESERVOIR — In its efforts to continue supplying a sufficient amount of water for Marin's expansion, the Marin Municipal Water District is moving ahead with its plans for this new water supply. It is anticipated this new facility in Central Marin will catch water during the rainy season of 1961-62.

FREE MILK FOR FARM-CITY WEEK — Part of the late November program for recognition of Marin's $12,000,000 dairy industry included free milk for shoppers in downtown San Rafael, the "City of Good Health." Five dairy delivery firms—shown here with several San Rafael children — dispensed nearly 70 gallons of free milk. Retail merchants carried banners on their windows honoring Farm-City Week, and a prize dairy cow was displayed in front of the county courthouse.

From 40 Gallons to 6000

In 1933, Lucas Valley Dairy opened for business with a tiny plant in San Rafael. Founded by a long-time resident of Marin, Frank Grady, the dairy was capable of pasteurizing and bottling only 40 gallons of milk a day. Today . . . still owned and operated by members of the founder's family . . . Lucas Valley Dairy has a daily capacity of 6000 gallons and is the leading supplier of fresh milk to Marin County families.

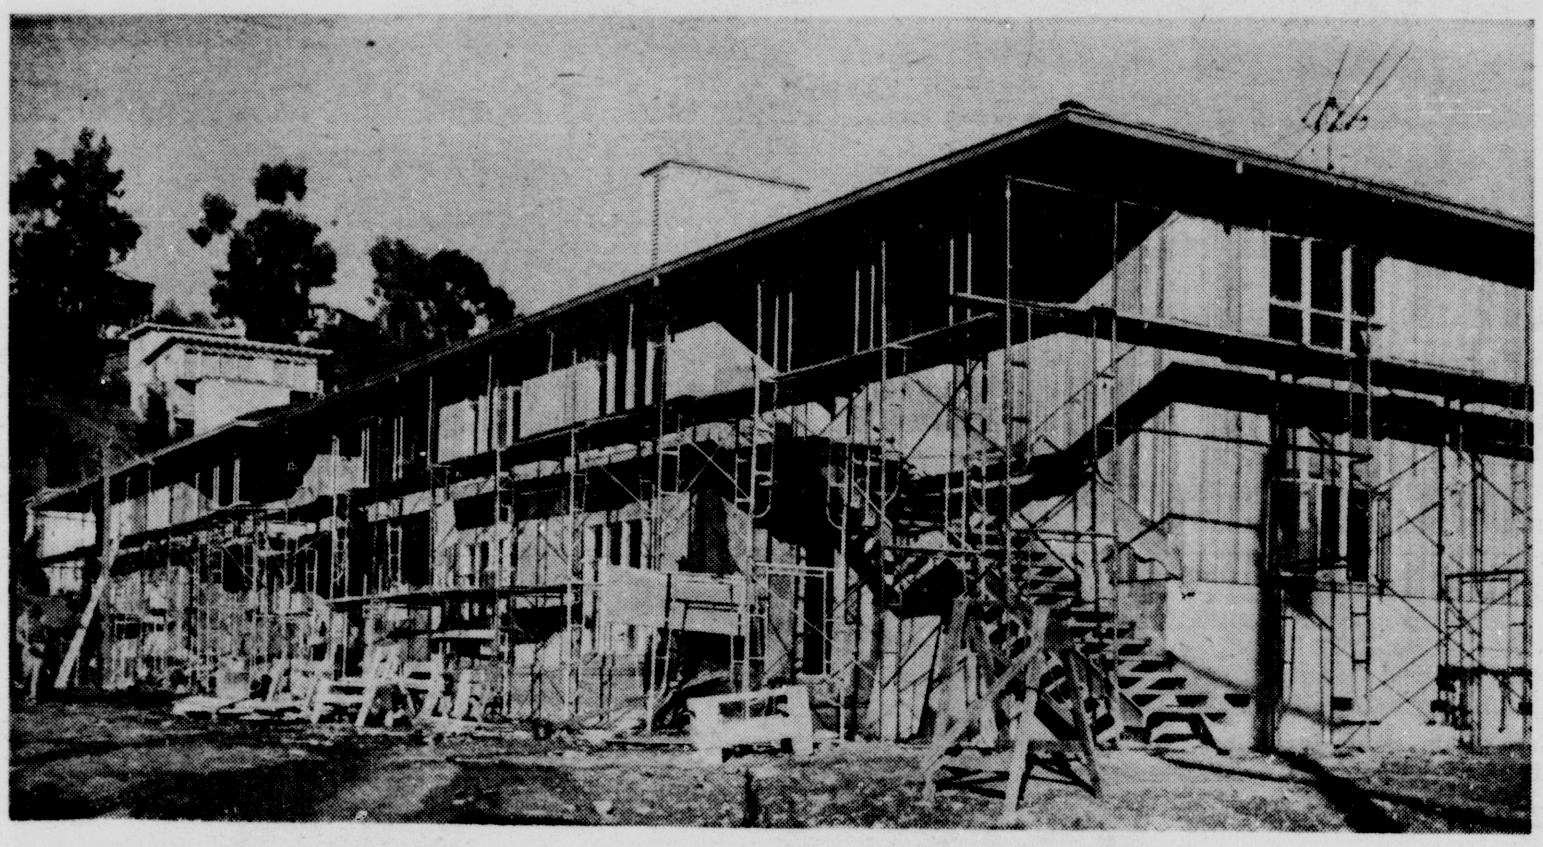
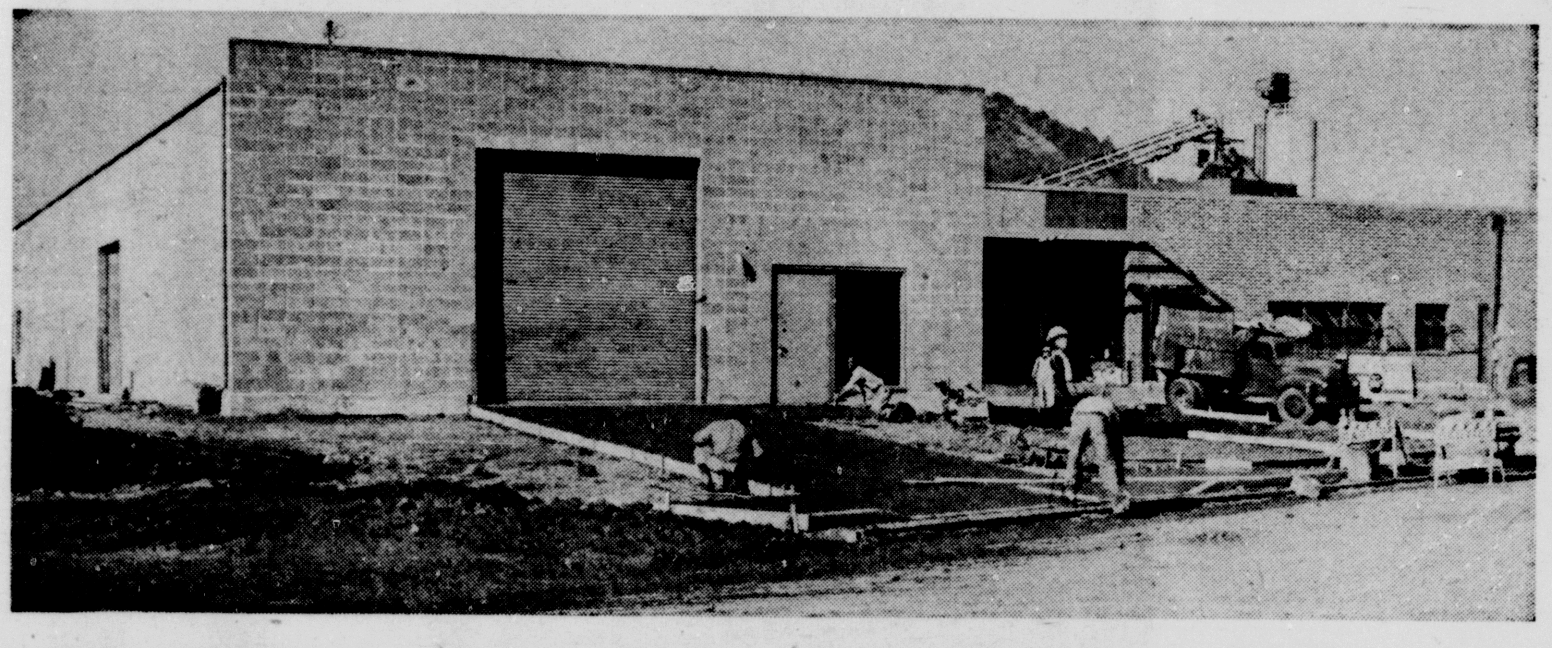
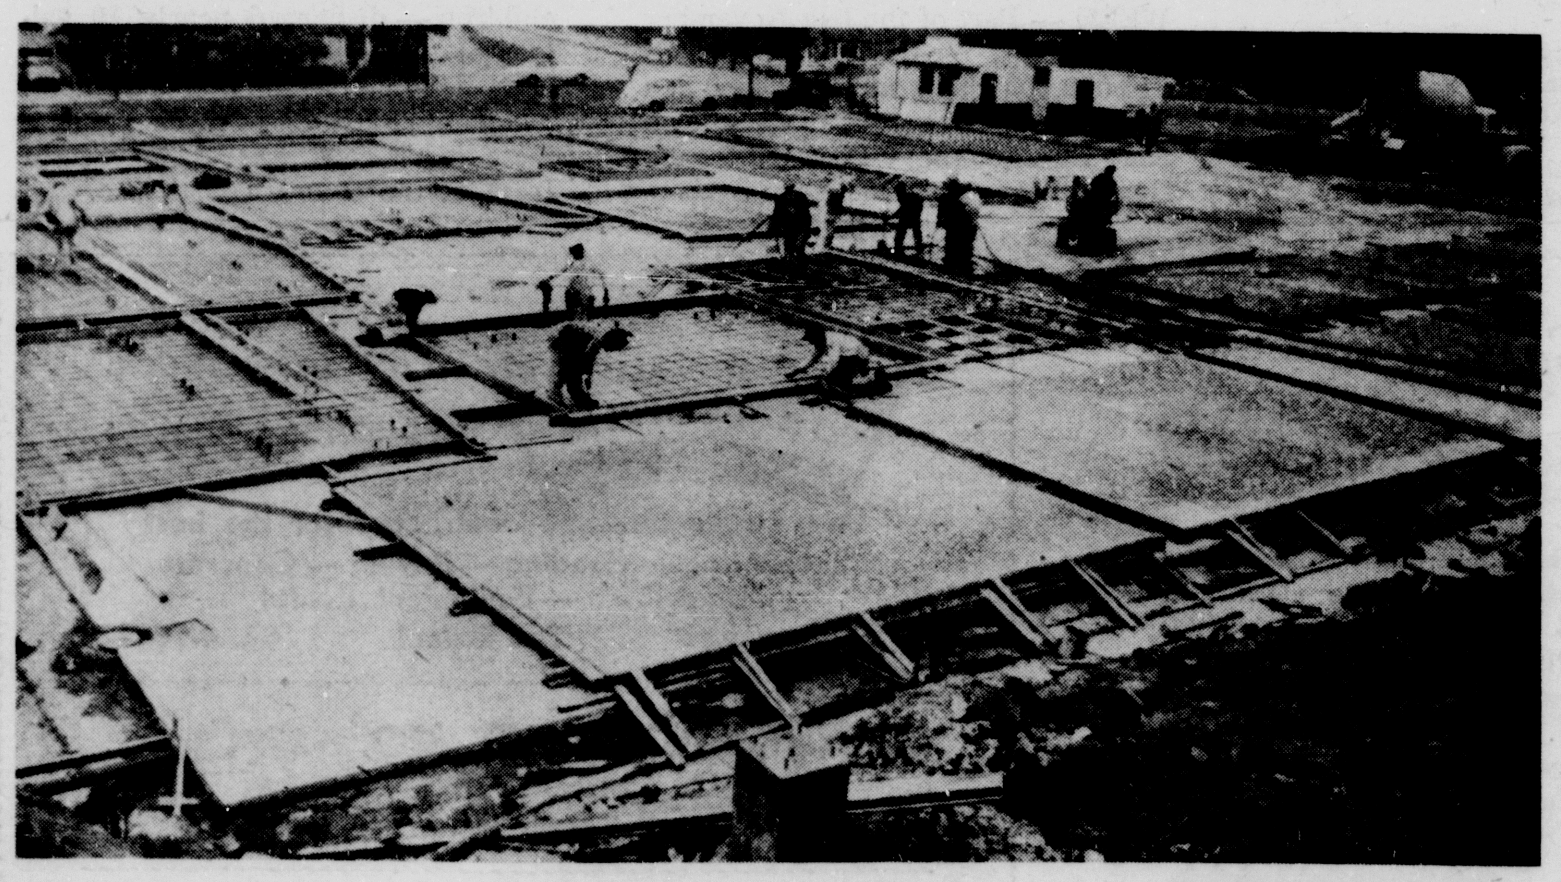
Business And Industry Expand



ANOTHER LUXURY apartment project for San Rafael is this $103,500 structure with a beautiful marine view. Owner is Herman Cohn. The building overlooks Lowrie's Yacht Harbor. It will contain eight two-bedroom apartments with separate garages, storage and laundry spaces.



ANOTHER FIRST for Marin County is the meat cutting and packaging plant erected in San Rafael by Mission City Meat Co. Mario A. Colombo, Hugo T. Lenci and Walter J. Rooney head the firm which will employ more than 20 persons.



NEW LUCKY STORE in Fairfax first took shape horizontally. Walls subsequently were raised into place, scant rain permitting work to go forward thus far with minimum delay. The half-million dollar project is rising on a portion of Marin Town and Country Club property in Fairfax, designated by owner Max Friedman for development as shopping area. Store stands between Sir Francis Drake and Center boulevards at intersection with Pastori avenue.

Investments Multiply In Marin

Industrial growth in Marin in 1958 doubled in the number of new and expanded firms, and the capital investment involved is three and one-half times greater than 1957, according to the Marin Development Foundation.

There were 14 industrial projects in 1958 and 6 the year before. Dollars invested in 1958 in land, buildings and equipment totaled $1,800,500, against the previous year of $480,000. In 1957, 43 new jobs were created, while there were 241 in 1958. Nine of the developments were new industries, five were expansions; seven located in San Rafael, four in Sausalito, one in Larkspur, one in West Marin and one in Novato.

Following is a list of firms:

Baban Concrete Pipe & Products Co., Larkspur, new plant, makes concrete drain tile and other prefabricated concrete products, seven jobs created.

H. C. Little Co., Inc., San Rafael, expansion, manufacturers gas and electric water heaters, gas boilers, oil furnaces, incinerators, 20 jobs added.

Knoles & Co., San Rafael, new firm, fabricates, and installs heating and air conditioning equipment, 5-10 new jobs.

Metalclad Inc., Sausalito, new, makes nickel-chrome plated chinaware, also does nickel, silver and copper plating, five new jobs.

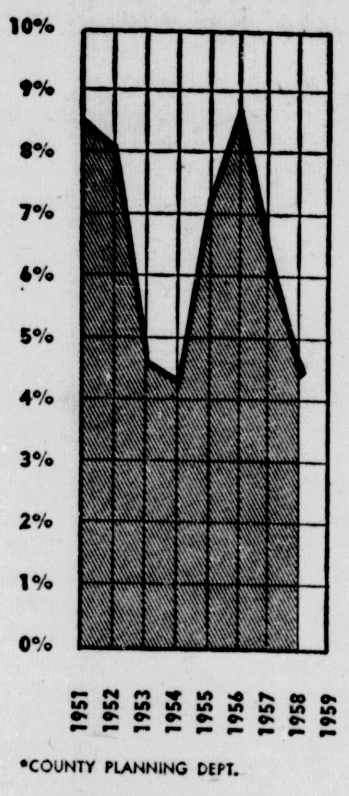
An attempt to interest the County Board of Supervisors to finance a Marin County exhibit at the Los Angeles Fair was made this year.



Building Boom In San Rafael

Total 1958 value of building construction in San Rafael was considerably higher than for 1957 and second only to the record construction year of 1956.

Last year's building permits represented a total value of $6,424,401, almost a million dollars more than the $5,584,399 posted in 1957. The record thus far is $8,266,384 in 1956.

The big month last year was October, when permits for $1,136,000 worth of construction were issued. March was next with $959,800, followed by July with $664,563.

The "lean" months last year were April with $255,000; February with $299,700, and September with $345,400.

2,348 New Homes In '58

Building permits issued for homes in both incorporated and unincorporated areas during 1958 amounted to 2,348, according to the county planning department.

This marks an increase over the previous two years. In 1956, 2,063 permits were issued and for 1957, 1,532. Included in the 1958 figure are 500 Capehart homes at Hamilton Air Force Base, yet to start.

As of this date, tentative subdivision maps for 973 homes have been submitted for intended starts in 1959. Terra Linda area accounts for 392 of these, including homes by both Eichler and Kenney; Marinwood, 70; Seadrift Lagoon at Stinson Beach, 203; Sleepy Hollow, 16; Kay Park in Tamalpais Valley, 11; Marin Golf & Country Estates, 102; Holiday Manor, 114; Miwok Estates, 17; Leafwood Terrace, 48. The last four mentioned are in the Novato-Ignacio area.

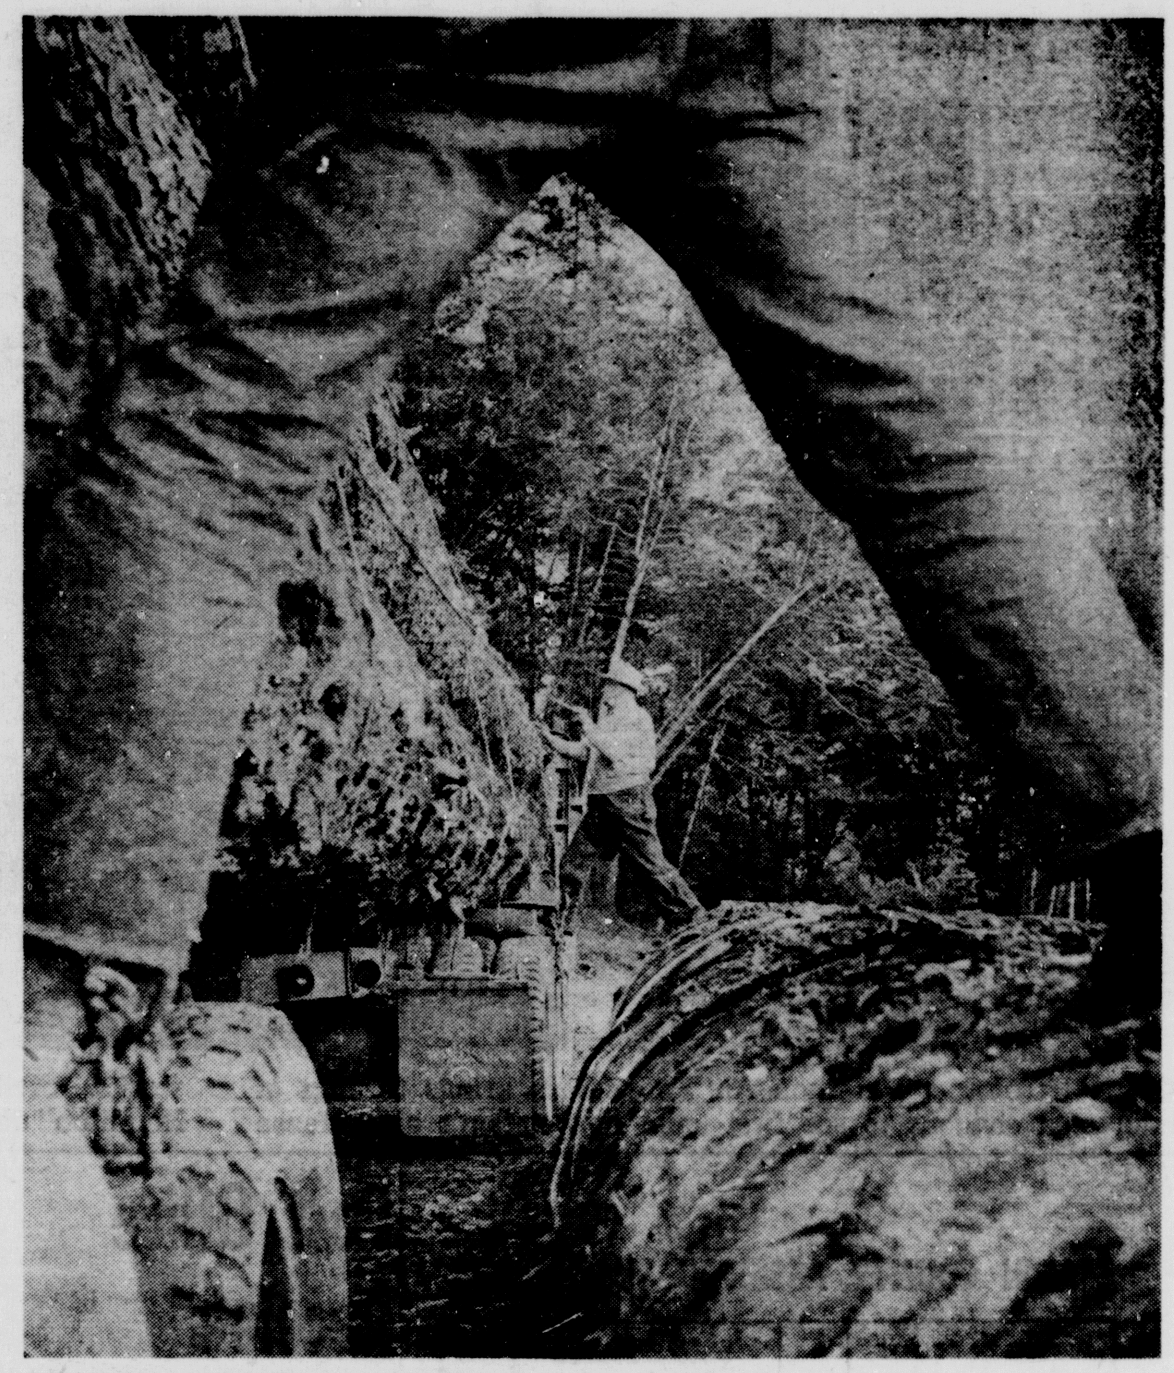
Realtors Sell 1,326 Parcels During Year

According to the Marin County Real Estate Board, 3,000 pieces of property were handled under the multiple listing system of its members during the past year.

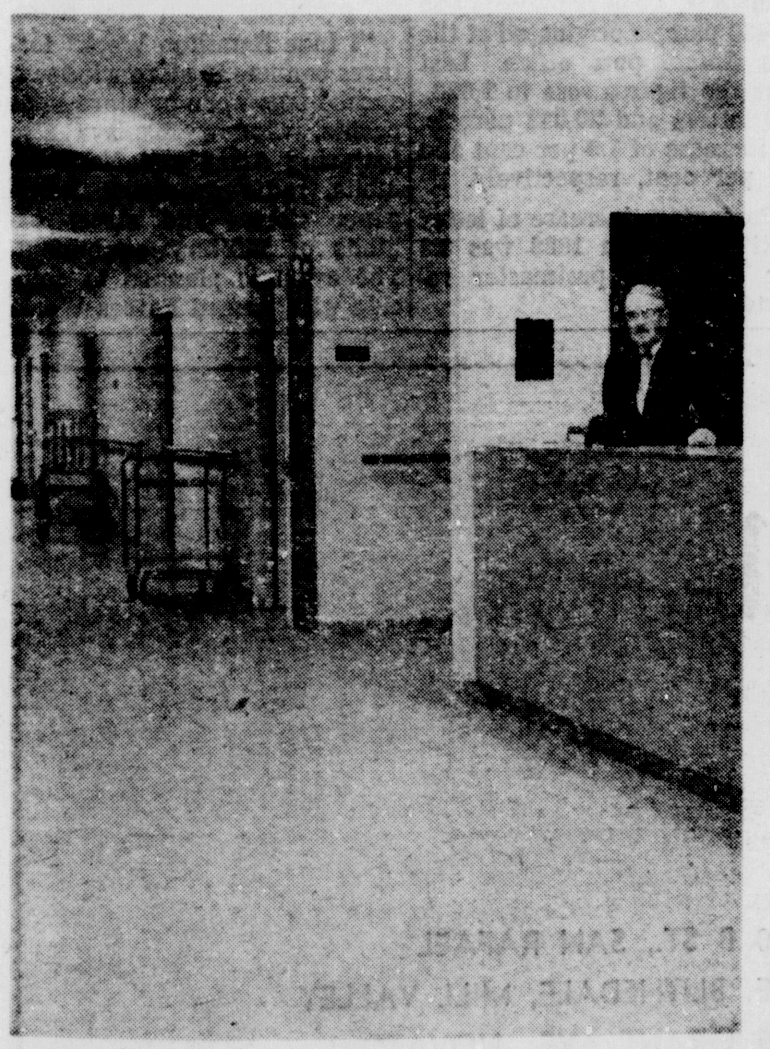
Of these pieces, 1,326 were sold for a total value of $23,500,000. The MCREB estimates this accounts for about 60 per cent of the total real estate transactions in Marin County, the balance being sales by owners and for subdivisions.

Marin auto dealers cooperated in a successful "You Auto Buy Now" campaign last year and the Chamber assisted in organizing the campaign.

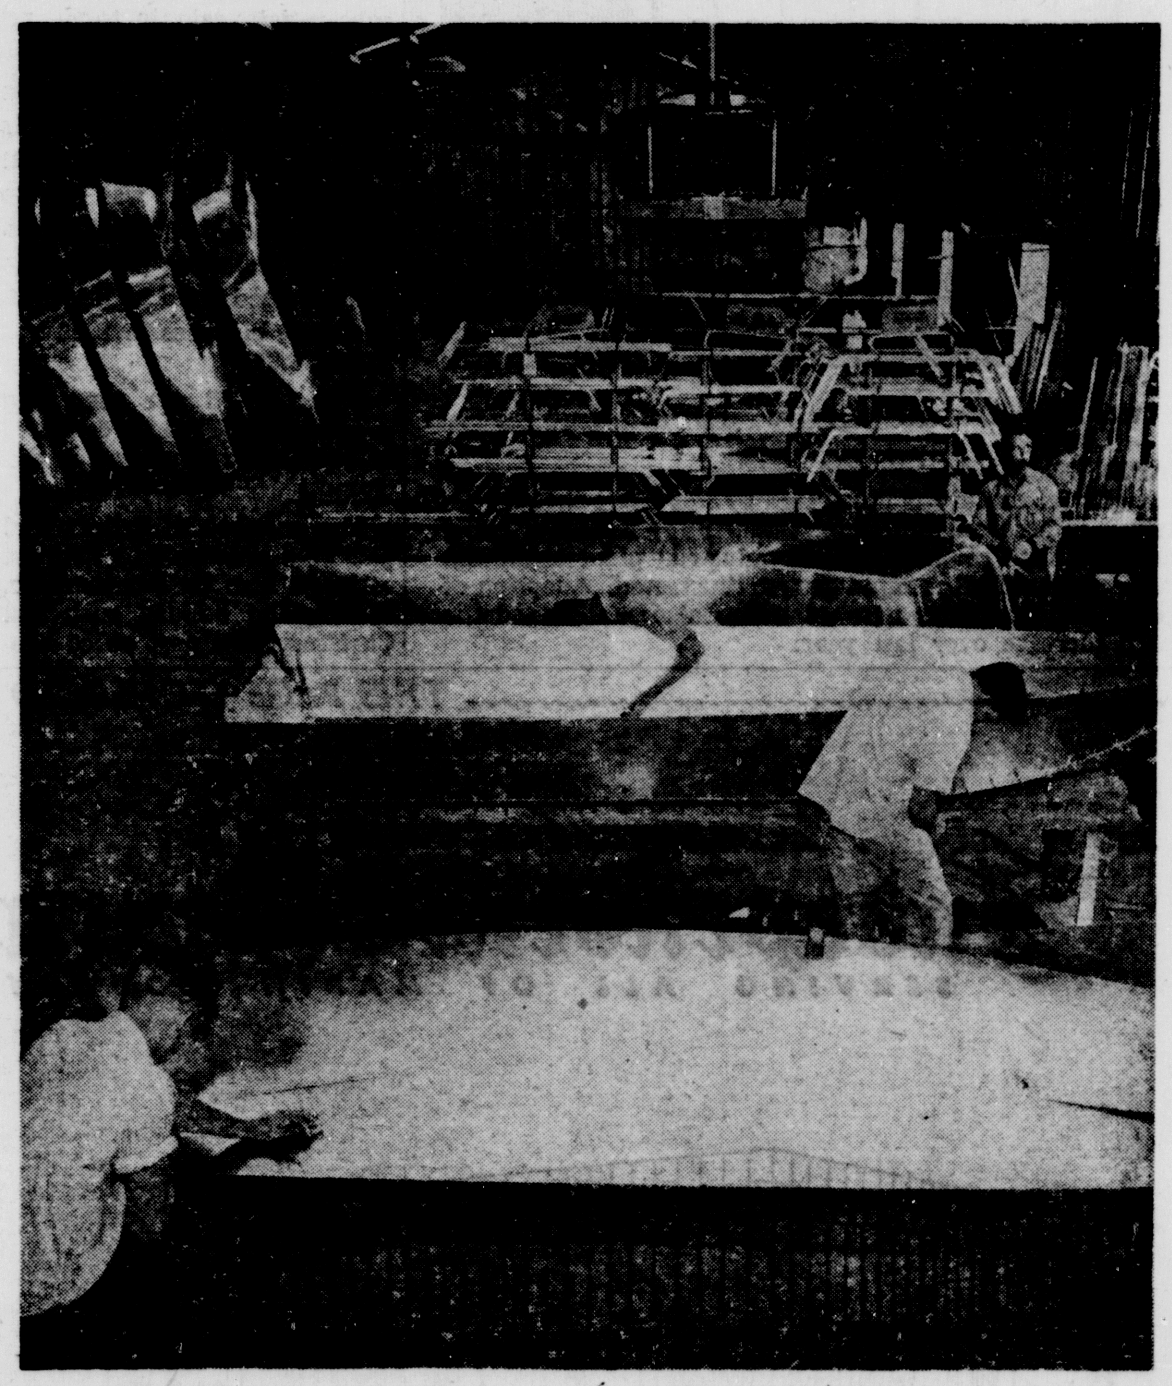
Approximately 2,700 small boats now use Marin's various waterways.



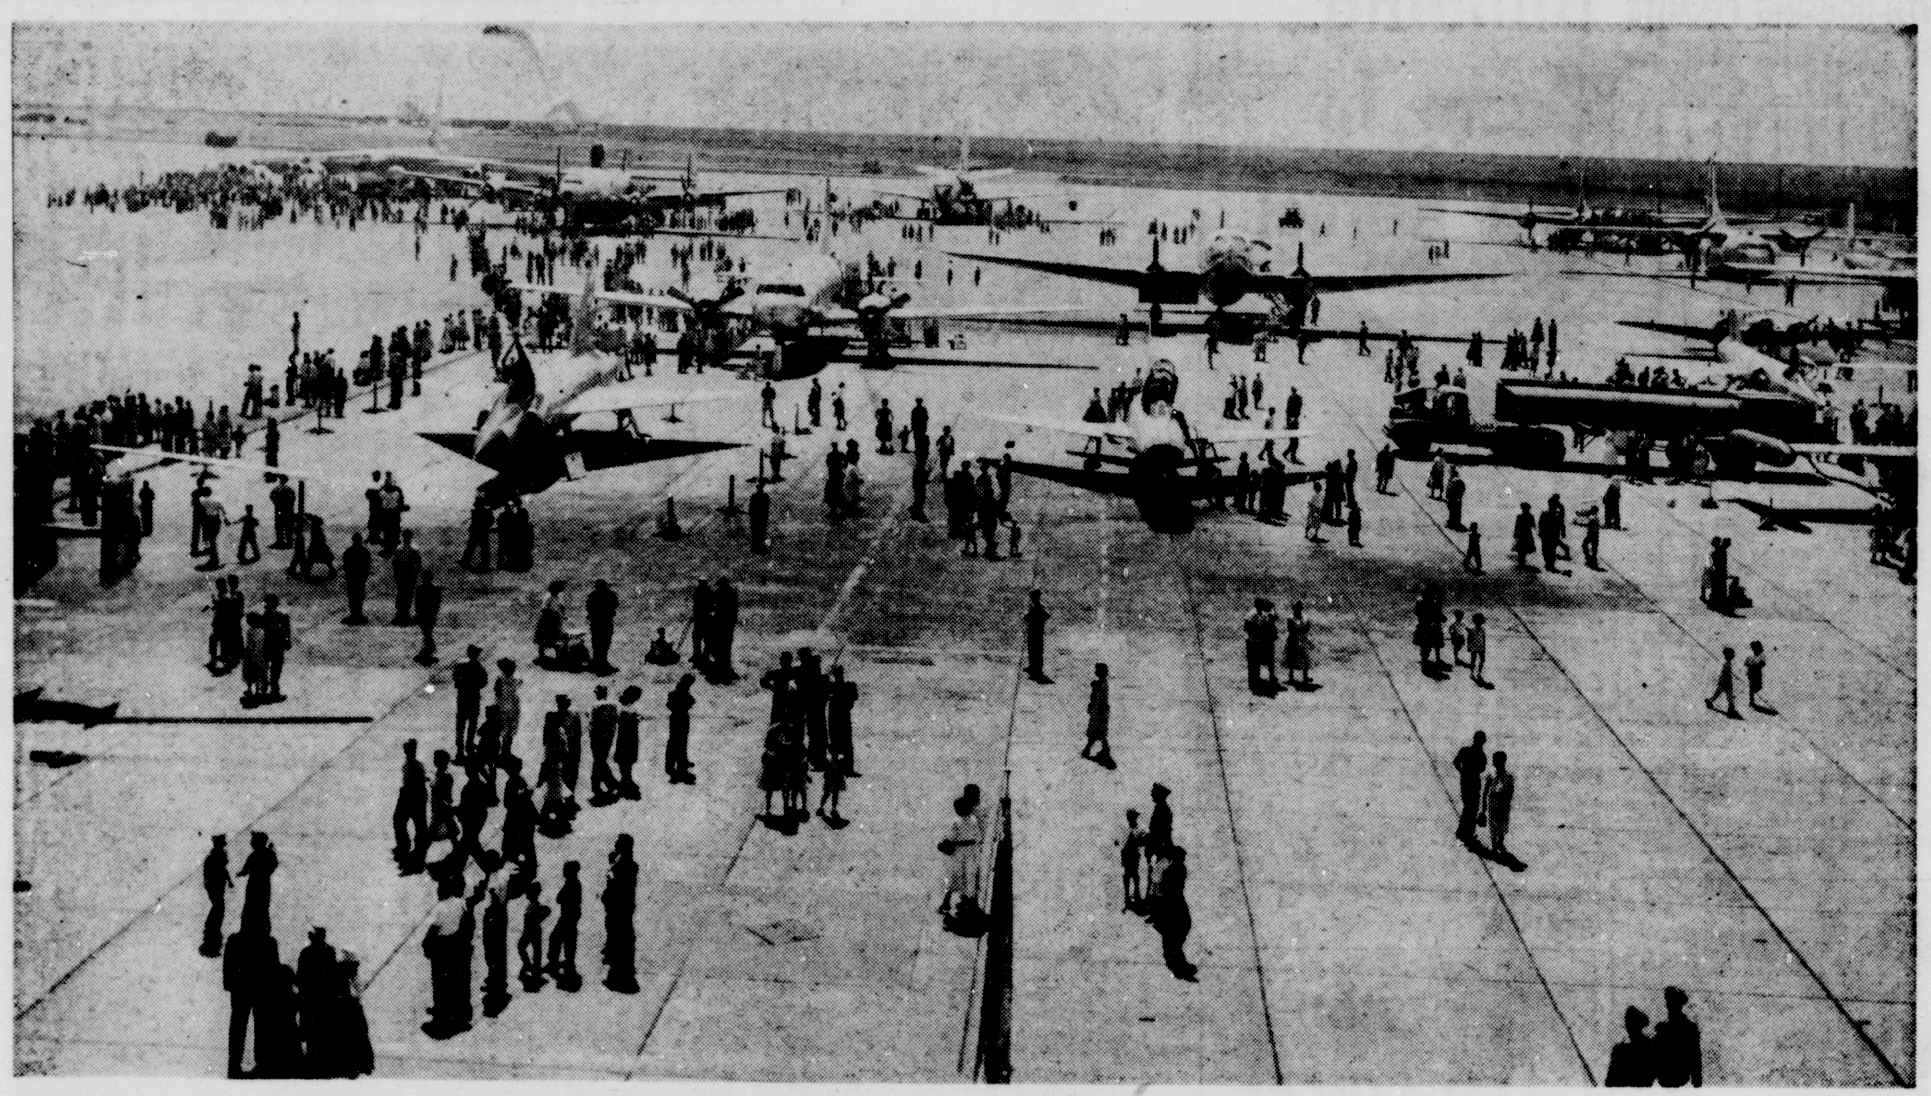
LUMBER INDUSTRY was Marin's first major commercial enterprise and led to first permanent settlement by white men before California's Gold Rush. Logging in recent years has enjoyed a "comeback" here with reestablishment of several small mills, largest of which is located near Olema in West Marin. In this picture, truck load of Douglas Fir logs is being scaled to estimate board footage before dumping into pond.



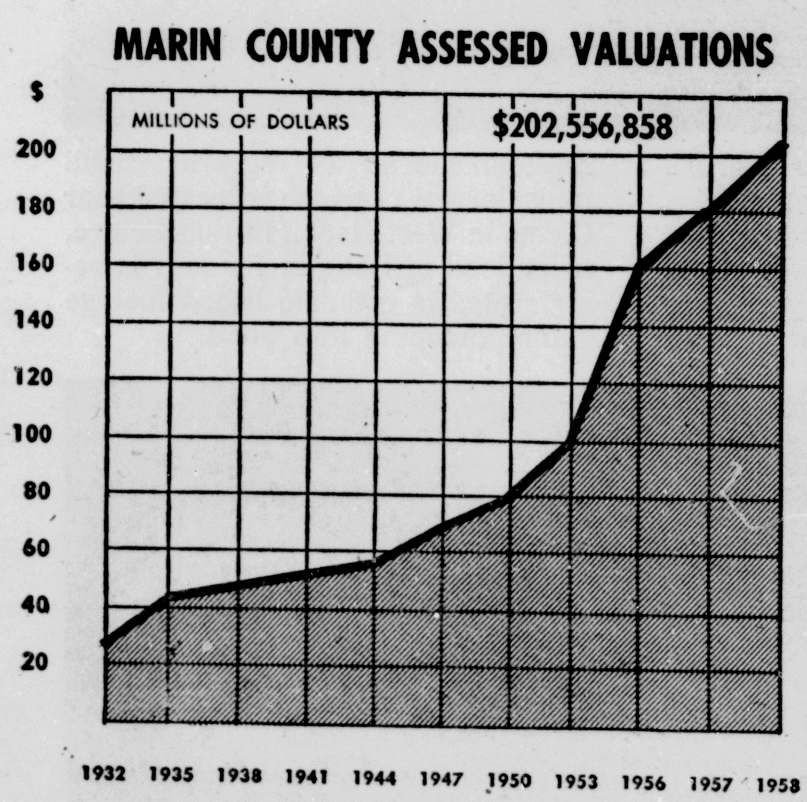
CENTER MEDICAL HOSPITAL, a new 48-bed facility providing care for convalescents, aged persons and patients with chronic diseases, opened recently in Terra Linda professional center, north of San Rafael. The $200,000 institution is well equipped with laboratory and X-ray facilities.



BOATBUILDING is expanding nationally as America "takes to the water." San Rafael and Marin County are participating in the growth. Largest local producer is Trailorboat Engineering Co., recently expanded to build fiberglass boats as well as aluminum ones. Expansion created 70 new jobs.



OPEN HOUSE at Hamilton Air Force Base brings throngs of interested civilians to see first hand how nation's air defense works. Civilian community reciprocates with annual "I Like Hamilton" observance.



RAPID GAINS—Growth and development of Marin over past quarter-century is illustrated by this chart showing increases in assessed valuation. Subdividing and developing combined with commercial and industrial plant expansion has accounted for the rapid growth illustrated. Adoption of appraisal commission's new valuations also contributed the sharp increase over last year.

Post Office Receipts Show Gain

San Rafael's post office did more than a half-million-dollars in business last year for a substantial gain in total receipts over 1957.

Postmaster Warren Williams announced that total receipts in 1958 was $579,464.48. But $44,827.57 of that was due to the increase in postal rates. Without including the receipts that resulted from higher postage, total business in 1958 was $534,636.91.

This is 7.05 per cent gain over the $499,386.13 collected in 1957, the postmaster disclosed.

The number of letters and packages processed by the post office is also on the increase. During the holiday rush last Christmas, the post office handled 398,624 letters on its peak day.

In 1957, 1,596,795 letters and 19,438 parcels originated at the San Rafael post office. Last year the figures rose to 1,628,686 letters and 20,042 parcels, an increase of 1.9 per cent and 3.1 per cent, respectively.

Percentage increase of letter mail handled in 1958 was 3.8 per cent, the postmaster reported.

Air Base Payrolls Climb To $29 Million

Once a year the Military Affairs committee reminds the community of the importance the various military establishments play in the trading area's economy.

This is traditionally accomplished through the promotion of "I Like Hamilton Week," the county's large Air Force Base, which has an annual payroll of around $29,000,000.

It was back in the late 20's that leading Marinites and chamber members worked long hours to bring the air base to the county. It has grown since that time to become one of the key air bases in the country, is headquarters for the air defense of not only the Bay Area but also for much of Northern California region including parts of adjoining states. Several different commands and squadrons are based at Hamilton.

Many of the military personnel take an active part in civilian life in the county, often working to help solve community problems when they arise.

"I Like Hamilton Week" features banners in store windows, special tags worn by store sales people, window displays also featuring Army and Navy exhibits, radio programs, newspaper stories and street exhibits of military equipment. The event is planned to coincide with Armed Forces Week.

Ballot Propositions Given Complete Study

Recommendations for voting on 18 issues on the Nov. 4 election climaxed the studies of the Legislative Affairs committee during 1958.

Three of the issues, veterans bonds, harbor development and succession of office of governor received "yes" recommendations, the balance were either "no" or "no recommendation."

Some study was made of the proposed charter for the county, but no unified opinion could be reached.

California's Washington representatives were urged to vote for the proposed changes in the Robinson-Patman Act because it was believed it would benefit small business.

* * *

Operations of the Legislative committee were improved this year by assigning specific fields of study to individual members. Thus each member became somewhat of a local "expert" on specific subjects. Information on each subject is mailed to each expert by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and by the San Rafael Chamber staff, including newspaper and magazine clippings plus broadsides sent to the Chamber by special interest groups who seek to influence legislation which affects business.

Welcome Sign To Greet Yachtsmen

A welcome sign for boaters facing the mouth of San Rafael Canal is being discussed by the Parks & Recreation committee.

It is anticipated that it will carry the names of firms along the waterfront and sporting goods stores serving boaters. The Marin Sign Co. has been asked to submit a sketch and cost estimates.

Chamber Backs Efforts To Attract College To County

Marin's efforts toward obtaining the new four-year state college in the Novato area were initiated and are still being supported by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Under the county-wide guidance of the Marin Development Foundation, and the support of many other county groups, a fine statistical survey supporting the Novato location was made.

The college, according to state legislative action, is to be located somewhere in Marin, Sonoma, Napa or Solano counties.

The site selected for Marin is on the Freitas C Ranch west of Novato on the Hicks Valley Road. This road is destined to become larger because it is part of California's new 20-year freeway expansion program.
